NEW RECORDS SET BY HAWKS IN HAVANA HOP

Round Trip and Flights South and North Pass Former Marks.

197 MILES PER HOUR IS AVERAGE FOR TRIP

Floyd Bennett Airport, N. Y., July 23 (A.P.).—Completing a round-trip speed flight from New York to Havana, Capt. Frank M. Hawks landed here tonight at 8:03 o'clock establishing new records in both directions.

His elapsed time for the northward flight was 7 hours 30 minutes and his flying time 6 hours 59 minutes.

He thus beat his own old record for the Havana-New York trip by 1 hour 14 minutes.

On the southward flight this morning he knocked 27 minutes from the time of James Goodwin Hall, flying broker, who last Saturday beat Hawks' record for the New York-Havana hop.

Left at 3 A. M.

Capt. Hawks left Floyd Bennett Field at 3 o'clock this morning and was away from New York only 17 hours and 3 minutes. He spent 14 hours and 35 minutes of that time in the air.

On the southward flight his flying time was 7 hours 36 minutes and his elapsed time 8 hours 8 minutes.

The total elapsed time on the round-trip flight, counting out the time spent in Havana, was 15 hours 38 minutes.

Hall, on his Havana-New York flight, failed to beat the old record, which Hawks broke himself tonight by 7 minutes, but he spent only 7 hours 55 minutes actually in the air, thus clipping 8 minutes from Hawks' old flying time record.

Beat Broker's Record.

By covering the 1,403 miles between Havana and New York in 6 hours 59 minutes today Hawks beat that flying time record of the broker by 56 minutes.

On his return trip Capt. Hawks made better time on each of the three hops than he had going down and even took less time to refuel.

He made the 507 miles from New York to Wilmington in 2 hours, 44 minutes going down, and in 2 hours, 18 minutes returning; the Wilmington-Miami hop of 656 miles in 3 hours, 36 minutes going down and 3 hours, 29 minutes coming back; the Miami-Havana hop of 240 miles in 1 hour, 16 minutes going down and 1 hour, 12 minutes returning.

On Ground 32 Minutes.

He remained on the ground at Wilmington and Miami a total of 32 minutes on the southward flight and a minute less on the northward flight.

The chronology of the round trip flight was as follows:

Leave New York, 3 a. m.; arrive Wilmington, 5:44; leave Wilmington, 6:01; arrive Miami, 9:37; leave Miami, 9:52; arrive Havana, 11:08; leave Havana, 12:33 p. m.; arrive Miami, 1:45; leave Miami, 2:00; arrive Wilmington, 5:29; leave Wilmington, 5:45, and arrive New York, 8:03.

Longest Trip in Day.

Today's 2,806-mile round-trip flight was the longest Capt. Hawks had ever attempted in one day, but when he stepped from his monoplane he was grinning and insisted he was not tired.

"I'm just a little deaf and awfully hot," he said.

He said he ran into severe rainstorms coming back, which tore the canvas along the entire front of his wings. Concerning his speed, he said:

"I averaged 197 miles an hour for the round-trip and 206 miles an hour for the Havana-New York flight. The fastest hop was from Wilmington to New York, when the average was 230 miles an hour."

Establishes 30 Records.

He checked Associated Press figures for the various stages of the round-trip flight and said they were correct.

A committee of city officials and his wife were among a vast crowd on the field to greet him. He left for New York by automobile after saying he had no plans for other flights.

By today's flying Capt. Hawks brought to 30 the transcontinental and intercity records he has established in the United States, Canada and Europe in two years.

Brief Pause for Lunch.

Havana, July 23 (A.P.).—Capt. Frank M. Hawks, who left for Miami at 12:33 p. m. today on a return flight to New York, had time for only a very hurried and brief luncheon with Ambassador Guggenheim during his stay.

Hawks arrived from New York at 11:08 a. m. In the hour and twenty-five minutes he was here he had time to choke down a fruit cocktail and a salad.

Ambassador Guggenheim was on hand to shake Hawks' hand as he climbed out of the plane and the light luncheon was partaken of in the company of government officials and several other aviators.

TROOPS CALLED OUT IN ROW OVER BRIDGE

Oklahoma Governor Orders Martial Law in Effect at Span Approach.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 23 (A.P.).—Gov. W. H. Murray late today declared martial law on a strip of land comprising the approach to the toll bridge over the Red River between Durant, Okla., and Denison, Tex., which has been the seat of a controversy recently.

Gov. Murray today ordered Adjt. Gen. Charles P. Barrett to "maintain military control against all interference whatsoever, except only an order otherwise by the superior executive power of the President of the United States."

"It is threatened," the governor wrote in the preamble to the proclamation, "by the bridge owners by some process, court order or otherwise, to open the obstruction placed on the highway approaching the toll bridge * * * which approach has been ordered closed by executive order."

He termed this contemplated action "an invasion of the rights of the sovereign State of Oklahoma."

The bridge toll operators assert a contract with the Texas Highway Commission for abandonment of the toll structure forbade the opening of the free span, until a large sum of money was paid to the toll span owners.

(Associated Press.)

Assistant Attorney General Sidney Benbow, of Texas, is taking steps preliminary to filing a petition in the United States Supreme Court seeking a mandamus to set aside an injunction recently issued by the Federal District judge at Houston, Tex., prohibiting the opening of the free bridge across the Red River at Denison.

Information received here indicated that Benbow would also attempt to obtain from some member of the Supreme Court an order to stay the injunction and permit the opening of the bridge pending the meeting of the court next October when action can be taken on the mandamus proceedings.

Gov. Murray, of Oklahoma, recently announced that Assistant Attorney General W. C. Lewis, of that State, had been directed to institute similar proceedings.

WORLD WHEAT CROP TO SHOW REDUCTION

(Associated Press.)

A world wheat crop 250,000,000 to 300,000,000 bushels less than last year was forecast yesterday by the Agriculture Department in its latest summary of 1931 prospects.

Surplus stocks of old wheat, however, may total 100,000,000 bushels more than remained on hand July 1, 1930, in exporting countries. On the other hand supplies in importing nations are probably smaller, the department said.

The Farm Board is considering the sale of some stabilization wheat in foreign countries. Chairman Stone said yesterday, however, no definite agreements have been made.

The board has advanced as well as received some offers, he added, and would consider sales on a reasonable credit basis.

In response to requests for a new sales policy, the board agreed to limit sales to 60,000,000 bushels this year, "exclusive of sales to foreign governments now under consideration."

Canadian wheat production, sharply reduced by drought, may be 150,000,000 bushels below 1930, while acreage reductions in Argentina and Australia together may bring about a further reduction of 100,000,000.

The department said some curtailment is to be expected in Russia through smaller yields, although acreage planted is considerable. Balkan countries also are harvesting smaller crops. Importing countries of central Europe, on the other hand, have better prospects than last year.

The department said Russia was an uncertain factor in the world wheat situation, adding that its carryover from the large 1930 crop is probably larger than that from the previous season. Russian exports, it said, might be more than last season because of the larger surplus at the beginning of the new crop year.

Topeka, July 23 (A.P.).—Burning of wheat in public school furnaces and stoves next winter is suggested by Donald Muir, member of the Kansas Legislature and extensive land owner, as a means of reducing the surplus of the grain and increasing prevailing low prices.

Representative Muir said today he would give wheat without charge on a ratio of 5 bushels to each 160 acres of his land to the school districts in which the land is located. He said wheat made a good fuel.

Arlington County May Close Highways to Military Use

Row Develops Between Government and Virginia Officials Over Maintenance of Roads in Vicinity of Fort Myer; Drastic Action Threatened

The Government will have trouble moving its artillery from Fort Myer in event of war if Arlington County can make its proposed highway regulations stick.

The county is considering efforts to rule solid tire, iron-band-tire trucks, horse-drawn vehicles and heavy military equipment from roads the Government built itself near the Fort Myer reservation.

The incipient feud between the county and military authorities arises from a letter recently sent to C. L. Kinnier, Arlington County engineer, by Maj. R. L. Foster, quartermaster at Fort Myer, announcing that in accordance with a communication from the commanding general of the Third Corps Area, the War Department will cease to maintain Government roads in Arlington County, except those in the confines of the Fort Myer reservation.

There are 22 miles of these roads in the county, but only 6 miles of them are to be found inside the area of the fort.

County Supervisor B. M. Hedrick revealed plans to pen up the troops within the fort last night. He declared that the county had no funds to maintain the Government roads and that it would be impossible to keep the roads up should heavy vehicles continue to operate over them.

"With the county receiving no revenue from the Federal Government, I consider it unfair that money of Arlington County taxpayers should be diverted to maintain roads owned and used by the Government," he declared.

Steps would be taken, he said, to prohibit trucks and heavy horse-drawn military equipment from using the roads, one of which leads

REBEL CHILEAN STUDENTS DARE SOLDIERS' FIRE

Barricade Themselves in Building and Seek New President.

TROOPS ARE PLACED AFTER ULTIMATUM

Day-Old Cabinet Resigns and New One Formed by Friend of Ibanez.

Santiago, Chile, July 23 (A.P.).—After issuing an ultimatum to demonstrating students that they would be fired upon unless they vacated buildings of the University of Chile by 10 p. m., the government tonight reconsidered and extended the ultimatum for several hours.

The extension was granted by President Ibanez, with whom it was reported a spokesman for the barricaded students talked by telephone.

Troops were lined up before the university buildings and the situation was most tense.

It was understood that over the telephone the students promised to withdraw peacefully if President Ibanez guaranteed Chile a free government and the restoration of all personal liberties.

Threats to Burn Buildings.

There were reports that the students had threatened to burn the buildings, regardless of their own lives, if troops attacked them, and that they had promised to get out peacefully if President Ibanez "restored full freedom to Chile."

Several street cars were wrecked this evening and authorities feared serious trouble.

Carlos Froedden, new premier of Chile, had ordered the students to vacate the buildings. The boulevard in front of the university was cleared preparatory to an attack and troops were on the way from barracks to take position.

Seek Ousting of President.

The cabinet change came at the end of a day which saw students, who last night barricaded themselves in the buildings of the University of Chile in protest against the Ibanez regime, forming a movement to seek the removal of President Ibanez from office.

The cabinet of Garces Gana, which resigned today, was itself the successor of another that was only eight days old. It succeeded the government of Premier Pedro Blanquier, which was formed July 13 and resigned July 21 as a result of differences over the inauguration of an economy program in Chile.

Dangers Are Seen In Customs Union

Pan-American Plan Might Divide the World in Three Groups.

Mexico City, July 23 (A.P.).—The Mexican government informed the Chilean government today that it considered the proposed Pan-American customs union would be of "grave consequences" to the nations concerned, and that therefore it did not favor the idea.

It expressed, however, in a suggestion that the Latin-American nations present their views on armaments at the Geneva conference in 1932 and willingness to join discussions of the financial crisis in Latin-American countries.

The proposals were made by the Chilean government in a note to Mexico June 23. The Mexican reply said that a Pan-American customs union might lead to division of the world into three customs groups, America, Europe and Asia.

Capital Woman Plans To Divorce Film Maker

Los Angeles, July 23 (U.P.).—A Reno divorce will end the brief marriage of the former Mrs. Janet Hamilton Gattis, of Washington, D. C., and John McCormick, film producer and former husband of Colleen Moore, screen actress, it was announced today.

A. S. Goldfiam, attorney for Mrs. McCormick, said she was preparing to establish Nevada residence.

American Attorneys Are Greeted in Paris

Paris, July 23 (A.P.).—Headed by Regis Noel, of Chicago, President of the American Bar Association, a group of American lawyers from Boston, Baltimore, Detroit, Philadelphia, Washington and New York was received at the city hall this afternoon by Vice President Paillot, of the municipal council.

DR. KELLOGG IN HENDERSON WILL CODICIL

Sanitarium Head Named Executor in 1927 Document.

RIGHT OF JAPANESE TO LAND QUESTIONED

Mrs. Mary F. Henderson named Dr. John H. Kellogg, head of the sanitarium at Battle Creek, executor, and provided that Jesse Shima, her Japanese secretary, be paid $300 every January for ten years, in a codicil to a 1927 will, filed yesterday in District Supreme Court.

The filing of the codicil was the newest court development in the expected struggle for the Henderson millions. Six wills and the codicil have been filed—most of them conflicting—and the various interests which would benefit under any one of them appear poised for a long-drawn-out battle over the wealth.

Mrs. Beatrice Henderson Wholean, disinherited adopted granddaughter of the dowager, maintained her silence yesterday as to her possible course of action. Should all of the wills be declared invalid in court, she would benefit greatly, for the estate would be divided along the lines of inheritance.

Speculation on Shima Chances.

Apparently any action on her part will be the signal for an open battle by the army of attorneys engaged by those who hope to profit under the plethora of wills.

Speculation arose in certain quarters yesterday over Shima's chances of holding his advantage under the will which bequeathed him $100,000 in cash and gave him another $100,000 in a trust fund, or to retain the $95,000 home Mrs. Henderson sold to him for $100.

There is a provision in the original District of Columbia code which prevents aliens from holding property except by inheritance, or where treaties between the United States and the nation of his birth grants special privileges.

One legal opinion held yesterday that Shima's title to any property he may have received from Mrs. Henderson would be good until contested by the United States Government. He could also sell such property and the title would be perfectly valid, provided he acted before the Government moved to contest his ownership. However, the question has never been raised under the District statute as far as could be learned last night.

Called "Member of Family."

Shima is named as "an esteemed member of my family" in the codicil filed yesterday.

The codicil canceled a $5,000 bequest to the American Humane Association, of Albany, and directed the executors, Dr. Kellogg, Adolph A. Hoehling, former associate justice of the District Supreme Court, and B. C. Kirkland, of Battle Creek, to spend $600 a year "to lessen cruelty to animals, especially the cruelty and suffering resulting from the use of the steel trap."

It canceled also a bequest of $5,000 to George W. White, president of the National Metropolitan Bank of Washington, and struck from the 1927

Ganna Walska, Diva, Decorated by Poland

New York, July 23 (A.P.).—Announcement was made here tonight that Ganna Walska, opera star, was decorated in Paris July 17 by the Polish minister to France with the Gold Cross of Merit.

Attorneys for the singer, a native of Poland and wife of Harold F. McCormick, official of the International Harvester Corporation of Chicago, said the decoration was made at the direction of the Polish government, for "services rendered in the cause of art in general and music in particular."

Boardman to Hop For Turkey Today

Boston Flier and Mechanic Set Istanbul as Goal; To Carry Letters.

New York, July 23 (A.P.).—Last-minute preparations, including a final conference with Dr. James H. Kimball, meteorologist, caused Russell Boardman and John Polando to delay the start of their projected nonstop flight to Istanbul, Turkey until several hours past midnight.

Polando unexpectedly decided to turn in for a brief nap and it was not believed they would be able to take off until some time after 1 a. m. (E.S.T.).

Dr. Kimball advised the fliers that foggy weather obtained over parts of Newfoundland and they decided to alter their course and strike across the sea from Halifax, Nova Scotia.

They will bear formal communications to the Turkish government from the Ambassador of that country at Washington, and other officials.

LONDON AGREEMENT CALLED SOUND BASIS

(Associated Press.)

Led by President Hoover, the American Capital last night hailed the results of the London ministers' conference as a foundation for German economic stability.

Secretary Stimson reported fully by both transatlantic telephone and cable the results of the conference. Acting Secretary Castle, of the State Department, who talked with the Secretary after the adjournment of the conference, laid the reports before the Chief Executive.

In a formal statement, Mr. Hoover characterized the conference's work as a contribution to the recovery from the world-wide depression.

Sound Foundation Seen.

He said the conference had laid a "sound foundation for the establishment of stability in Germany," the major banking and credit problem of which had been solved through assurances of cooperative banking action.

The combined effect of his plan for one year's moratorium on intergovernmental debts, supplemented by the accomplishments at London, he said, should enable Germany to overcome temporary difficulties and restore credit.

He paid tribute by name to the principal representatives at the conference for their work.

Cooperation Is Assured.

The President said:

"The London conference has laid sound foundations for the establishment of stability in Germany.

"The major problem is one affecting primarily the banking and credit conditions, and can best be solved by the voluntary cooperation of the bankers of the world, rather than by governments with their conflicting interests. Such a basis of cooperation is assured.

"The program supplements the suspension of intergovernmental debts already in effect. The combined effect should enable the German people, with their resources, industry and courage to overcome the temporary difficulties and restore their credit.

"The program contributes to expedite recovery from world-wide depression through the overcoming of the most important elements in the crisis affecting central Europe.

Pays Tribute to Leaders.

"The world is indebted to Premiers MacDonald, Laval and Bruening, to Messrs. Stimson, Mellon, Grandi, Francqui and other governmental representatives in this conference. The conference has demonstrated a fine spirit of conciliation and consideration among nations that will have lasting benefits in establishment of stability."

In talking with Acting Secretary Castle, Col. Stimson said he intended to proceed tomorrow to Berlin for further conferences with German statesmen. The Secretary's original plan upon leaving for Europe to discuss disarmament and other problems with European officials was interrupted by the London meeting.

After talking with Col. Stimson, Secretary Castle said the United

Hoover Congratulates Stimson and Mellon

(Associated Press.)

The congratulations of President Hoover were dispatched yesterday to America's envoys at the London conference.

To Secretary Stimson he sent the following message:

"I wish to convey to you my sincere congratulations. My appreciation is the deeper from knowing the complexity of the difficulties which confronted you over the past ten days and the able manner they have been surmounted. I hope you may now secure a real vacation."

A message to Secretary Mellon said:

"I wish again to congratulate you upon a most notable public service. I trust you may now secure a real vacation."

LAVAL SEES BERLIN, PARIS AIDING PEACE

French Premier Says Accord in London Brings World Confidence Nearer.

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

London, July 23.—In a declaration tonight defining the attitude he had adopted throughout the seven-power conference, Premier Pierre Laval, of France, said there would be no peace in the world until confidence reigned between the French and German peoples. This confidence, he declared, had been brought considerably nearer as a result of the past three days of conversations.

"I believe I have taken the proper course," he said. "The gravity of the financial and economic crisis in Germany caused President Hoover to make his recent proposals. The interested powers agreed to a year's moratorium on reparations, and France accepted it on the lines laid down at Paris with Secretary Mellon and Ambassador Edge of the United States.

"The adoption of the Hoover proposal also settled temporarily Germany's budgetary difficulties until such time as the measures proposed by Chancellor Bruening take effect.

"But during the past few weeks events served to show the sharpness of the crisis and its dangers. What could, and what ought, the French government do? It ought at the same time to safeguard the interests of our country and to observe the obligations of international solidarity.

"We have avoided no single conversation. We participated in the London conference in spite of the risks to which it could expose us. If the negotiators at this conference did not solve definitely the problem of the German crisis, they had the wisdom not to go outside the general outline for the discussion which was laid down in advance.

"Will the measures which have been adopted or recommended prove sufficient to withstand the evil? We must hope so. As to the remedies which will act more profoundly, they require precautions and preparations of a technical nature. That will be the task of the committee which will be appointed by the World Bank for International Settlements.

"These remedies demand, above everything else, an evolution of a political and moral nature. I venture to say that the conversations between the French and German min-

Smith Out, Cermak Holds; Roosevelt "Wet Enough"

Chicago Mayor, Visiting in New York, Talks With 1928 Democratic Nominee and Gives His Impressions; Sees Candidate Second to Plank.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, July 23.—That former Gov. Alfred E. Smith is not contemplating seeking a second nomination for the Presidency; that there is no conflict between "Al" and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and that the latter is "wet enough" to meet the demands of prohibition's most ardent opponents in the 1932 Democratic national convention are the three chief political conclusions reached by Anton J. Cermak, Mayor of Chicago, in less than 24 hours after his arrival in this city on a visit.

Mayor Cermak told interviewers that he had spoken with Gov. Smith in the latter's suite in the Empire State Building. He added that he regarded the 1928 nominee as the national head of the Democratic party.

"Did Gov. Smith indicate his views on a nominee for the party in 1932?" Mayor Cermak was asked.

"Yes, in a general way."

"Would you gather he had the idea of again seeking the nomination?"

"Nothing he said would indicate in any way that he entertained such an idea and it is my own opinion that he does not," the mayor replied.

"Did he indicate his views toward Gov. Roosevelt as a candidate?"

"Yes, in a general way. I would say that he certainly is not against him. He seemed to be very friendly toward the governor."

"Is Gov. Roosevelt wet enough for the wettest wets of the Middle West?"

"My judgment," Mayor Cermak answered, "based on what I have read and learned of his views, is that Gov. Roosevelt is wet enough to be acceptable to the wets of the Middle West."

Speaking of next year's convention, Mr. Cermak said:

"The whole situation will get down to this when we get into the convention; we will demand a wet plank first and will not accept it unless it is wet enough to be entirely satisfactory. The candidate will come next. We will pick the candidates to fit the wet plank and unless a candidate is wet, he will not get our support."

The mayor added that while there was some sentiment in Illinois for Roosevelt and still more for Smith, there was a predominant sentiment for Senator J. Hamilton Lewis.

Secretary of State Will Leave London Today for Meeting.

AMERICANS HONORED BY GERMAN LEADERS

London, July 23 (A.P.).—The question of further financial aid to Germany by the United States, it was learned tonight, will be taken up by Secretary of State Stimson during his week-end visit to Berlin, where conversations begun at a dinner party tonight left off.

The American delegation to the seven-power conference were guests of the German delegation at the dinner given by Chancellor Heinrich Bruening. Other guests included several men high in German financial and economic circles.

Secretary Stimson will leave London tomorrow shortly after the members of the German delegation when they return to Berlin. The significance attributed by both delegations to Secretary Stimson's hurried visit to the German capital was that America wants Germany to know that she is with her in her hour of need.

May Discuss Disarmament.

One of the subjects which Secretary Stimson is expected to discuss during his brief visit to Berlin is the coming disarmement conference at Geneva. Both the American and German delegations felt tonight that their countries would have little difficulty agreeing on policy and it was believed that both would go the limit to help, through international cooperative effort, to reduce the world's disarmament burden.

Both Secretary Stimson and Secretary Mellon were told tonight, once more, by Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius of Germany that while President Hoover's hope as it has materialized in the seven-power conference is tremendously appreciated by Germany, yet this can only be the beginning of financial and economic aid to the Reich.

As an "earnest" of the desire of the United States not to withdraw the helping hand but, on the contrary, to tell the world that the greatest republic of the Western World has faith in the young republic of central Europe and its government, Secretary Stimson, during the sessions of the conference, volunteered to go to Berlin at once, even ahead of the visit of Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson of Great Britain, who are scheduled to spend the coming week-end there.

The Americans, reaching the hotel where the Germans were staying tonight, in answer to Chancellor Bruening's invitation, found there not only the chancellor and the foreign minister, but also Undersecretary of State Von Buelow, the finance ministry's expert, Count Scherein Von Krosick, Carl Melchior, German banker, and Herr Schmitz, director of the German Dye Trust, who is considered one of Germany's best economists and men of practical affairs.

Needs Again Discussed.

In the presence of these men, Germany's needs, beyond those taken care of by the seven-power conference, were once again discussed. Chancellor Bruening and his delegation firmly believe, it was learned from good authority, that loans to Germany can only come from private sources, American and other. They also believe that the word of Secretary Stimson and Secretary Mellon is of the greatest importance to America's financiers.

The visit of the American Secretary of State will be "short, but we hope sweet," one member of the German delegation said.

"We expect him at Berlin Saturday afternoon, accompanied by his private secretary and Counselor of Embassy Gordon of the American Embassy at Berlin, who has been attached to the seven-power conference as American expert."

Tentative plans call for a dinner in Secretary Stimson's honor to be given by Ambassador F. M. Sackett Saturday night.

On Sunday Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius will take the American Secretary outside Berlin, possibly to the Gold Club near Potsdam, for a restful day. Chancellor Bruening is scheduled to give a dinner in his honor Sunday evening at the chancellor's palace in the rooms made famous by the historic personality of Bismarck.

President von Hindenburg will take occasion, at a private audience on Monday morning, to reiterate to America's distinguished Cabinet official how grateful Germany is to President Hoover for aid already extended.

By noon Monday Secretary Stimson is expected to be again on his way out of Germany.

Conference Is Concluded.

The seven-power international conference ended today after taking temporary measures to revive world confidence in Germany's financial and economic future.

As it was forecast, these palliatives were confined to a three months extension of the $100,000,000 loan from the central banks of the world powers, to concerted measures in all countries to maintain existing credits in Germany and to recommendations dealing with Germany's future needs.

The final plenary session at the foreign office in Downing street ended at noon with felicitous farewells which stressed the interdependence of nations and welcomed the participation of the United States, through Secretaries Stimson and Mellon, at the European council table.

In a formal statement expressing his satisfaction with the result of the conference, Secretary Stimson pointed out that the governments of all accredited countries have agreed to use their influence and leadership in allaying the panic which was causing withdrawal of German credit.

Mostly U. S. Money.

"Most of this money," Secretary Stimson said, "comes from America, and our banks, under the leadership of our Federal Reserve System, already have been organizing to reassure creditors against the withdrawal of these funds."

The Bank of England, he said, has been taking similar steps and action has been promised in the conference of the others of Germany's creditors.

Only at the headquarters of the German delegation was there a lack of enthusiasm over the results of the conference. While admitting that the Bruening government has secured a breathing spell in its international financial relations by the achievements of the London meeting, and also secured an internal breathing spell by the defeat today of the Nationalist and Communist efforts to convene the Reichstag, Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius are still risking their political position, according to the informed German view, unless they take back with them to Berlin some tangible assurance of new credits.

Checked Rush to Panic.

The American, French and British delegations were agreed tonight that the London meeting had accomplished its purpose as far as checking Germany's rush toward a financial panic is concerned.

Secretaries Stimson and Mellon, in formal statements, declared that they were well satisfied with the conference results. Secretary Stimson described the meeting as a fitting sequel to President Hoover's reparation holiday, announced June 20. Secretary Mellon emphasized that lack of confidence in Germany is not justified by Germany's internal economic situation, which he said, is inherently strong.

The French expressed themselves as eminently satisfied with the London meeting because it leaves them in much the same position they have held heretofore regarding the extension of new credits to Germany, either on a short or long term basis.

The British were congratulating themselves on what they considered the statesmanlike conduct of another international gathering by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald.

Americans Are Lauded.

All of the delegates paid tribute to the American representatives, Secretaries Stimson and Mellon. "They have come to the assistance of the Old World," said Premier Laval in his address at the closing of the conference. "They have remembered their origins and they have joined with us in our attempt to put an end to the instability of the economic system of Europe and to reintroduce security."

Tomorrow morning Europe's "barnstorming statesmen" will leave London for their home capitals, and Secretary Stimson will go with the German delegation to Berlin tomorrow night. Secretary Mellon will return to his Rivfera holiday, while during the week-end Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Henderson of Great Britain will pay their delayed week-end visit to Berlin, returning the Germans' recent visit to Chequers.

As far as new credits for Germany are concerned all the London meeting did was to "note with interest" the joint guarantees recently placed by hundreds of German industrial concerns. Upon these great concerns, Germany, by a recent emergency decree, could have asked for credit amounting to $500,000,000 and the German view is that unless some such deal is consummated the Bruening regime will be in danger of collapse.

Study of Needs Urged.

It was also recommended that the World Bank for International Settlements establish immediately a committee to study the whole question of Germany's credit needs, including the possibility of converting a portion of the short-term credits into long-term credits.

Thus, as Secretary Stimson pointed out this afternoon, the machinery has been provided to meet the German situation, however it may develop.

The American view is that once the present feeling of panic is eliminated, it will be easy to determine whether further capital is needed. It was considered probable that, once confidence is restored, it would be found that Germany can recover by her own resources.

With Secretary Stimson continuing his European tour to Berlin, Chancellor Bruening can proclaim that, although he failed to raise an international loan in London, he brought back to Berlin with him the American Secretary of State, whose every word was listened to at the London conference. Secretary Stimson's visit, it was believed, would give the Bruening regime still another breathing spell for building up confidence in the German government, and the question of new loans, like other pressing issues of the German crisis, can be delayed a short time at least.

Will Urge Early Action.

Although Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius planned to lay the whole financial situation before Secretary Stimson at a dinner given by the German delegation tonight in the American's honor, this discussion now probably will not take place until a later time.

The American attitude is expected to be that the London conference has created the machinery for dealing with the emergency in German finances and that this machinery, particularly the World Bank committee to study German needs, had better be put into action.

Secretaries Stimson and Mellon tonight received congratulatory messages from President Hoover on their conduct of the American case at the London meeting.

Over the teacups at a royal garden party at Buckingham palace this afternoon the French, German and other European envoys, together with the delegates from the United States, chatted with King George about the work they have done.

MARKETS UNMOVED BY CREDIT RESULTS

Wall Street Now Concerned Over Success in Keeping Germany Intact.

New York, July 23 (A.P.).—Prominent Wall street banking circles were inclined to feel that the seven-power conference concluded in London today had accomplished all that could have been expected, but financial markets were decidedly unenthused.

The stock market virtually stood still. Only 760,630 shares were traded in the Stock Exchange, the smallest turnover, barring Saturday's, since May of 1926, with the single exception of Monday's low volume of 718,440 shares. German bonds were rather heavily sold for a time, but recovered partly before the market closed. Stocks were inclined to sag in the morning, but recovered enough to end the session virtually unchanged. The price average of 90 leading shares ended the day at the same level of the previous close.

Not Particularly Disappointed.

Banking circles in the main could not be described as particularly disappointed over the results of the conference, for some of the leading bankers have been saying most of the week that there was little to be accomplished by the ministers save an agreement to keep in force the present emergency measures. Some prominent bankers, however, had hoped for distinctly more positive and tangible results.

Wall Street now is particularly concerned over the success the Bruening government will have in keeping things in hand in Germany during the next few weeks.

The regular weekly directors' meeting was held at the Federal Reserve Bank, but it broke up after a short time, and no announcements were made. So far as could be learned no new measures were discussed.

No Intention of Freezing.

Perplexity recently expressed in some banking circles over the Hoover plan, adopted by the conference, of maintaining current private credits to Germany, was largely explained away in well-informed banking circles, where it was said that Washington authorities had no intention of freezing the entire volume of credit in Germany, or of forcing bankers to follow a rigid program. It was understood that cooperation of the bankers had merely been requested, and that the gentlemen's agreement among New York banks to maintain their volume of credit, which has been in effect since last week, was regarded as adequate.

It is understood that the leading New York banks have requested the cooperation of their correspondent banks throughout the country, and have received gratifying response. Much German short-term credit is said to be held by interior as well as New York banks.

Bull and Bear Truce, Claim in Dull Market

New York, July 23 (A.P.).—The New York Evening Post said it was learned on good authority today that the secret of the recent dullness of the stock market was that the big bulls and bears had been requested to take a vacation.

The big bulls and bears who would ordinarily be kicking stocks around at a time like this are said to be peacefully sleeping in hammocks on sunny yacht decks or chasing golf balls over cool greenswards. So trading in the Stock Exchange, despite the unsettling developments abroad, has fallen off this week to the lowest levels witnessed since the spring of 1926.

About 25 big operators are said to have received letters requesting them to refrain from upsetting the market during the European crisis. The letter is believed to have been sent out either by the Stock Exchange or a group of prominent bankers.

No confirmation was available, either from the exchange or the banks.

It is understood that the movement was at first directed against the bears, but that they refused to agree to the terms unless the bulls did likewise, so it was agreed to declare a truce all around.

It is believed that in endeavoring to check bear raiding, as well as strong-arm bull tactics, important Stock Exchange quarters acted entirely on their own initiative. The Stock Exchange frowns as much on overbulling as on bull raiding.

LAVAL SEES BERLIN, PARIS AIDING PEACE

isters are leading us to a policy composed at the same time of prudence and boldness which will end in confident collaboration with Germany.

"There can be no credits without confidence. There can be no confidence in the world until harmony reigns between our two great peoples. In that lies safety. In that lies peace, and it is thus that all nations which are united with us in bonds of friendship understand the situation.

"Our task is far from being finished. We shall continue to act in the spirit which guided us in Paris and London. I have been wonderfully helped by the ministers who accompanied me here, and I owe a particular debt of gratitude to my friend, Finance Minister Flandin, who has brought his methodical mind, his cleverness and his competence to a solution of problems that have sometimes proved difficult."

Power Statistician Is Named.

Dr. Phillip G. Wright, formerly a Tariff Commission expert, yesterday was appointed special statistician to the Power Commission to assist in the study of ownership and control of hydroelectric companies.

Messenger for Lincoln, As Boy, Dies at Seattle

Seattle, Wash., July 23 (A.P.).—A man who as a boy carried messages for Abraham Lincoln, many of them from Mrs. Lincoln requesting the President to "hurry to dinner," is dead here.

Requiem mass will be held for Edward Grandsire, 83, in St. Joseph's Catholic Church tomorrow. He came to the United States from Paris when he was 11 years old. His aunt managed the legation mess in Washington, D. C., and the boy was a messenger for the French Legation.

He carried many messages to the President, who later asked him to become his personal messenger.

"Sometimes my messages were only notes from Mrs. Lincoln to 'Daddy' to 'hurry to dinner,' but you can bet he read them and obeyed," Grandsire once related.

Grandsire was a watchmaker.

HOOVER LEADS U. S. OPTIMISM ON PACT

Sees Sound Basis Reached at London Parley to Avoid Germany's Crisis.

States would not have official representation on the committee to be appointed to study the question of credit continuances, conversations and renewals. The work of the committee was essentially a banking problem, he added, indicating he believed American representation, if any, would be from banking circles.

The Secretary's decision to proceed to Berlin was received with surprise by some high administration officials, who had indicated they believed he would go to Scotland to rest after the conference.

Apparently, the Secretary did not make clear to the Washington Government the exact intention of his trip to the German capital, since Acting Secretary Castle, in response to questions by newspapermen gave only his personal speculation on the subject. Castle said he assumed Stimson wanted to secure first-hand informatoin on the German economic situation. He said there was no suggestion the Secretary would go from Berlin to Paris for further talks with the French.

The conclusion of the London meeting left disarmament as the next important diplomatic problem before the Hoover administration. The forthcoming general disarmament conference at Geneva has received the whole-hearted support of the American Government. President Hoover twice in the last month has linked the burdens of heavy armaments with the world-wide depression.

White House Explains Mix-up Over Debt Plan

(Associated Press.)

An explanation of the apparent misunderstanding between Secretary Stimson and the State Department that arose during the London conference was made yesterday at the White House.

Almost simultaneously Col. Stimson, in the English capital, said the plan for easing Germany's economic burdens was the product of both American and British thought, and Acting Secretary Castle, of the State Department, said it was originated by President Hoover without consultation with the British.

Yesterday, it was said at the White House that a memorandum setting forth a concrete proposal for the London conference was dispatched to Secretary Stimson, then in Paris. The Secretary then informally discussed the plan with French and German representatives.

On Saturday and Sunday, it was said, cabled accounts of the proposal appeared in European papers and, to a limited extent, in the press in this country.

On Monday press cables to London talked of a new plan and Secretary Stimson, it was said, denied them since he had received nothing after the plan transmitted to him in Paris.

On Tuesday the American proposals were published in full from Washington to correct inaccurate accounts which were being cabled from London.

This, it was said, is when and where the flurry started.

BERLIN HOLDS HOPE SUCCESS OF PARLEY

Confidence in Future Seen as Great Benefit by Moderate Press.

Berlin, July 23 (A.P.).—Three of the principal moderate newspapers in the morning field prominently captioned tonight a sentence from Chancellor Bruening's closing statement to German newspapermen in London today as follows:

"It has been a satisfactory conference (the London conference called to relieve Germany's financial stress), inasmuch as it holds out hope for the future."

All three, Vossische Zeitung, Tageblatt, Boersencourier, agreed, however, that whatever was the result reached, it was only in the nature of a stop-gap.

Tageblatt added: "The conference is ended, but it might be said with equal justice that it's only a beginning, and so one need not yet seek for an answer to the difficult and somewhat painful question, 'What has really been accomplished?'"

Stimson's Arrival Awaited.

From Stimson's expected arrival in Berlin, however, Tageblatt expects development of new ideas and the opening of fresh perspectives, adding, "The end of the conference marks no historic turning point—it will continue in another form."

While admtting that the chancellor "went to London with an empty purse and brings it back empty," Vossische Zeitung said much depends on what will be said and written in Germany in the next few weeks.

The suggestion is made that in return for a truce in short-term credit withdrawals, a political truce be proclaimed in Germany so that new threads spun between Berlin and Paris shall not be rudely severed. The paper referred to demonstrations "that bring Germany no profit and only serve to irritate France." Thereby, it declares, would the chances of coming negotiations for much needed long-term credit be improved.

Bruening Praise Unreserved.

Unreserved praise is given to Chancellor Bruening by the Bavarian Volkspartei Korrespondez of Munich, which says that as a result of the London conference Germany's international position is not made worse but better.

The Prussian finance minister, Walther Schreiber, in a radio broadcast tonight, said there were distinct signs of "a return to calm common sense."

The extreme of the press opinion was expressed by the official Hohenzollern organ, Der Aufrechte, which today declared:

"Only the monarchy can save us."

The newspaper appeared today with the following bulletin prominently displayed:

"What does Germany need? Many still do not dare say it openly, but the understanding grows, and already the thinking and sincere in all circles are whispering to one another, 'Only the monarchy can save us and lead us upward out of the catastrophe.'"

$7,666 Is Highest Bid on Mayflower

Naval Operations Will Pass on Sale of Presidential Yacht.

(Associated Press.)

The Mayflower, for 27 years the official presidential yacht, drew bids of $7,666 and $1,100 when estimates on the old vessel offered for sale by the Navy Department were opened yesterday. When purchased by the Government from the Ogden Goelet estate to serve in the Spanish-American war she cost $430,000.

The lower bid submitted by the Borough Metal Co. of Brooklyn, N. Y., was rejected because it did not comply with specifications for bidding. The other offer was from the Boston Iron & Metal Co., of Baltimore. This was referred to the office of naval operations for acceptance or rejection.

Since President Hoover in 1929 ordered the yacht out of commission it has been offered for sale on four occasions, all bids having been rejected each time. This was the first time, however, that an effort had been made to sell her since she was damaged by fire last January 24 at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. She sank as a result of the fire and was raised.

Cleric's Plea Is Spurned, Divorce for Wife Looming

Advisory Master to Advise Camden Court to Deny Former Rector's Petition; Minister Says He Is Not Father of Choir Girl's Child.

Camden, N. J., July 23 (A.P.).—William B. Knight, advisory master in chancery court in the divorce case of the Rev. Dr. Camille Estornelle, of this city, and his wife, Mrs. Florence Hann Estornelle, announced late today he would advise the court to deny the husband a divorce and enter a decree in favor of the wife.

When the taking of testimony ended and argument was dispensed with by counsel on each side, Mr. Knight immediately made known his finding.

Dr. Estornelle sued his wife in New Jersey on the ground of desertion, while Mrs. Estornelle filed a suit for divorce in Philadelphia, where she has been living since she separated from the clergyman, charging unfaithfulness.

The case was before the advisory master for three days. The clergyman charged that his wife deserted him and testified that all his domestic troubles were due to interference by his mother-in-law.

In denying before the master willful desertion the wife filed a counterpetition charging the husband with improper conduct with other women. Among the witnesses for the wife was Miss Anna McKenna, who testified that Dr. Estornelle was the father of her 2½-year-old boy.

Dr. Estornelle took the witness stand in rebuttal and denied improper conduct with Miss McKenna or any other woman. Other witnesses testified to Miss McKenna's alleged friendliness with certain other men.

The advisory master announced that in his opinion the wife had not wilfully deserted the husband, but on the other hand was justified by the evidence presented to him in leaving the husband. Also, he was of the opinion that Dr. Estornelle violated the marital vows.

When the advisory master made known his conclusions, Miss McKenna, who was in court, fainted, but was soon revived.

Dr. Estornelle said he was "stunned by the finding of the master."

Asked whether he would appeal, Dr. Estornelle said, "I am a poor man. A great injustice has been done and I do not know where I will obtain the funds to appeal."

Dr. Estornelle is 35 and his wife is 32. He resigned his charge in Camden after his wife had filed her countersuit in Philadelphia.

That Wild West Show Came Along Just in Time

—By JOHN J. DALY—

ABOUT time we had a little action in our own country. So we get it from a quarter least suspected: Texas, down by the Rio Grande, and Oklahoma, the old Indian Territory, where quiet and peace and prosperity have reigned, lo! these many years.

It was the Governor of North Carolina who said to the Governor of South Carolina, in words of this general effect, "It's a long time between drinks."

So, too, a long time between shots across the Texas-Oklahoma border.

They are conducting a bridge building business down on the red, Red River—a toll bridge and a free bridge spanning the stream from Denison to Durante. The Governor of Texas, "Lost Charlie Ross" Sterling, is a tolls-man. The Governor of Oklahoma, "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, is a free-bridger.

The Governor of Texas plants his rangers—that celebrated old shooting outfit—men who toy with Colt .45s—at the business end of the bridge to prevent Oklahomans crossing into the Lone Star State unless they pay tribute.

In a moment of facetiousness the Governor of Oklahoma, shifting his cud from one cheek to the other, allows as how these here rangers now are a lot of chocolate soldiers. "All the rangers can do," says "Alfalfa Bill," "is cuss and shoot craps."

* * * *

WELL, sir, that got the boys right riled. They threw a conniption fit. Right off the bat they started in to show this skeptical Governor of Oklahoma, "Alfalfa Bill," what Texas Rangers, celebrated in song and story, can do, suh! In the exhibition of their prowess they were backed by the Governor of Texas, "Lost Charlie Ross" Sterling. He, figuratively, stood at their backs while they rode down to the banks of the red, Red River. There they put on a show that would have made the old Wild West productions of Buffalo Bill look like garden parties on the lawn at Buckingham Palace.

The Rangers fired their pistols upside down, and inside out. They cracked pop bottles 50 yards away. They shot from the hip, the knee and the ankle, splitting and lighting matches thrown in the air. Tired of this infantile play, the boys got out their machine guns. They wrote the initials of "Alfalfa Bill," in bullets, on a hillside over in Oklahoma. They mowed down mesquite trees, laying them low on the land like so many blades of grass clipped by a lawnmower.

"What I'll do," said the irate Governor of Oklahoma, "is have the women of Durante, Okla., and Denison, Tex., to hold a quilting bee on the bridge and remove any obstructions that prevent their getting together." Old "Alfalfa Bill," you see, is a ladies' man.

It was the same sort of challenge that Xerxes sent to Leonidas at Thermopylae, that narrow mountain pass from Thessaly into Greece; between Mount Oeta and the Gulf of Lamia.

* * * *

LIKE the Texas Rangers, awaiting the charge of the Oklahomans, 300 Lacedamonians stood in the gap, a natural bridge—and assuredly it was no picnic party that had gathered in the mountain recesses.

Strange, too, it was just about this time of the year in 480 B. C. that all these brave deeds were done in the ancient world—a scene now about to be reenacted in Texas and Oklahoma on the banks of the red, Red River.

Xerxes sent a demand to Leonidas, the Spartan: "Open that gap. Give up your arms."

"Come and take them" was the true laconic reply.

"Alfalfa Bill" may send some such message to "Lost Charlie Ross" Sterling.

"Open that bridge!" demands the Oklahoman.

"Says which?" queries the Texan.

There is the touch-off.

The Land of Pat Hurley on the one side and of Dan Moody on the opposite, Oklahoma and Texas may be thrown against each other in deadly grapple; the first battle of States' rights since Sumter.

* * * *

IT'S high time there was action in America to draw attention away from the maelstroms of Europe, and a blessed dispensation that brings it about in the old cow and panhandle countries, in the wide open spaces where, in years agone, rangers ranged the range; where men were men women were not governors.

There is, perhaps, a trifle of truth in the Oklahoman's charge: The Rangers have been doing quite a bit of craps-shooting these past few years. But when the honor of their State calls they are capable of other kinds of shooting, as exemplified by their Sterling exhibition of marksmanship on the banks of the red, Red River.

On the other bank, what has happened to the National Guard of Oklahoma? They have had no serious skirmishes since Pat Hurley deserted the saddle for the more comfortable seat in the President's Cabinet. They had better call a rehearsal.

As the Governor of North Carolina said to the Governor of South Carolina, "It's a long time between shots"—and a shot, me hearties, doesn't always mean a drink.

ARLINGTON ASSAILS ARMY USE OF ROADS

from Highway Bridge to Arlington National Cemetery.

At the same time William C. Gloth, Commonwealth's attorney, sent a letter to Senators Swanson and Glass and Representative Howard W. Smith, protesting the action of the War Department in discontinuing its road maintenance.

The letter was written following action of the county board of supervisors on June 15, after the War Department letter to Mr. Kinnier was made known.

"The War Department has advised the directing engineer of Arlington County that it will no longer maintain roads constructed by the War Department in the County of Arlington, except those actually within the area of the military reservation; the letter reads:

"Among the roads included is the one extending from Rosslyn to Fort Myer, and the road extending from the Highway Bridge to the Arlington National Cemetery. Both of these highways are important, and are much traveled.

"The authorities of Fort Myer are constantly using the roads of Arlington County for exercise purposes, and more damage is done by the artillery at Fort Myer than any travel that goes over the roads.

"As you know, the Government does not contribute anything toward the upkeep of roads, and discontinuing the maintenance of roads in question would mean a serious financial loss to the county.

"I trust that you will use your good offices to see that the order recently passed by the War Department is revoked, and that the Government will continue, in the future, to maintain all of the roads constructed by it within the County of Arlington."

Lewis Places His Prize With Vermont Society

Montpelier, Vt., July 23 (A.P.).—Sinclair Lewis, novelist, deposited the Nobel Prize Medal in literature awarded him last year, with the Vermont Historical Society today as a permanent loan.

Man Fires in Darkness And Kills Own Mother

Memphis, Tenn., July 23 (U.P.).—Fred H. Myers, young Memphis business executive, saw a figure slipping down the dark hallway of his home early today. Taking his pistol from beneath his pillow he fired a single shot, and the bullet went into the person's heart.

Then Myers found he had fatally wounded his 66-year-old mother, Mrs. Rosa Myers. He was prostrated with grief.

Cosmopolitans Plan Picnic.

The Cosmopolitan Club, meeting at the Carlton Hotel yesterday afternoon, voted to make the next outing an al fresco affair at Edgewater Beach, Md. Each member will bring a picnic supper to be spread out-of-doors. Edward J. Gainor, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, was Cosmopolitan of the day. Robe Carl White, Assistant Secretary of Labor, was also present. Attendance prizes were won by James E. Divver and Robert W. McChesney.

versity of Chile, as minister of education.

It was understood that the new government would reapply strict censorship immediately.

The students tonight determined to ask the resignation of President Ibanez and the movement they started was finding sympathy in other quarters. Political circles, stores, offices and streets were humming with talk.

Congress was watching the situation closely and there was a sprinkling of workers, conservatives and unemployed in the students' movement.

President Ibanez was paying no attention to the requests that he resign.

Demonstrations also occurred last night in Temuco, Valparaiso and other centers.

Buenos Aires, July 23 (A.P.).—A dispatch to La Nacion from Santiago, Chile, said tonight that the physicians' association had resolved to call a city-wide medical strike in case troops fired on and injured any University of Chile students who were on strike and barricaded in university buildings.

Evidence Taking Ends In Probe of Gallinger

The District grand jury yesterday completed examination of witnesses in its investigation of charges involving Gallinger Hospital growing out of alleged ill treatment of Walter Jaffee, former service man and a Harvard graduate, who was a patient there for two days.

The jury will begin deliberations today. Witnesses heard yesterday included Dr. George C. Diamond, of the Adjutant General's Office, who produced Jaffee's war records, and Dr. Horton W. Baxley, of Mount Alto Hospital, where Jaffee was treated before he went to Gallinger.

Medical Kit Stolen From Auto.

Dr. Claude W. Mitchell, of Silver Spring, Md., reported to police yesterday that a medical kit was stolen from his automobile while parked in front of Sibley Hospital.

AUSTRIAN PLEADS FOR CUSTOM UNION

World Court Told Enemies of German Plan Would Cage Smaller Nation.

The Hague, Holland, July 23 (A.P.).—Austria, under interpretations placed on her various treaties by powers opposing her customs union with Germany, would be caged, Hans Sperl, venerable law professor of the University of Vienna, told the Permanent Court for International Justice today.

Summing up Austria's case before the World Court, Prof. Sperl concluded with a dramatic plea for permission for the customs accord to be consummated, speaking after Dr. Erich Kaufmann, of Germany.

"Her independence has been limited," he said, "by restrictions placed on her in the same treaty wherein are clauses whose interpretations are being discussed now. Some of these interpretations really violate her independence.

People Were Encouraged.

"By planning a customs union she was using her independence; people were saying that at last the government is taking steps to find outlets for our products, to do something for our industries and our agriculture. Then, suddenly, these interpretations which we claim threaten our independence.

"It is they (apparently the interpreters) who threaten us and would lead us gently but firmly back into a barred cage labeled 'independent Austria.'"

Prof. Sperl said the Italians argue that a smaller country loses by joining forces with a big country, but he could not agree. He pointed out that Austria's 6,000,000 would benefit by cohesion in the form of a customs union which Germany's 61,000,000 purchasers would assure.

Franco-American Precedent.

Dr. Kaufmann had closed his argument by asking which was right of two divergent views held by Italy and France on the matter of benefits accruing to Germany and Austria through the customs union.

Answering a charge that constitutionally Austria was without power to ratify the customs agreement, Dr. Kaufmann referred the judges to the war debt settlements of America with France and other similar agreements.

These were contrary to the constitutions of both France and America, he said, and two such countries were able to find means for reaching an accord.

Earlier in his argument, Dr. Kaufmann referred the judges to a decision written by Frank B. Kellogg, former American Secretary of State, in which the American jurist and peace advocate was reported to have said, "As a matter of customs regime the matter is within the exclusive jurisdiction of a State."

Opposition to the Austro-German project gets a hearing tomorrow, when Jules Basdevant will open for France, Paul Boncour summing up.

ECONOMIST FAVORS RAIL RATE INCREASE

Interstate Commerce Body Advances Date for Continuing Hearings.

(Associated Press.)

A substantial increase in freight rates yesterday was described as a most powerful possible stimulant to immediate business recovery by James R. Bancroft, president of the American Institute of Finance.

Bancroft wrote the Interstate Commerce Commission, sending a copy of the letter to President Hoover, that commodity price declines and demands for various moratoria must be stopped and recommended the freight rate increase to change these trends.

At the same time, the commission speeded forward by three weeks' hearings on the blanket 15 per cent increase in freight charges proposed by the railroads. Continuation of the hearings was set for August 10 instead of August 31 on a request by carriers for early completion of the case.

Bancroft wrote from the institute headquarters in Boston that in his opinion on July 14 "our present capitalistic system was closer to actual collapse than at any other time in its modern history."

With the world looking to the United States for leadership out of the current extreme depression, he said, "anything that can be done in this country to hasten reversal (of present trends) should be done."

"Exactly as the inflation which followed the world-wide easy money policy of 1927 was carried to extremes, now the ensuing deflation is being carried to extremes." Bancroft said. "For the good of the world it should be stopped now.

"If we are to have renewed business recovery in this country over the next twelve months—which I feel is a development which must precede general world recovery, and general world recovery at this juncture is most essential to the maintenance of the capitalistic system—the decline in commodity prices must be halted.

"The increasing demands for moratoria of various types must be stopped. I know of nothing that would be more potent in changing current trends than a blanket increase in railroad freight rates in this country."

The August 10 hearing announced by the commission will be held in Washington. A hearing will be held in San Francisco at the Hotel St. Francis on August 17 and one at the Sherman Hotel, Chicago, on August 31. Hearings also will be held, at dates not yet decided, in Portland, Oreg.; Kansas City, Mo.; Dallas, Salt Lake City, Atlanta and at some New England point.

Rail Debt Ratio to Capital Up From 49 to 72, Is Claim

Values Cut by Loss of Revenue, Roads Now Carry Dangerous Financial Load, Says Writer on Freight Increase Request.

(This is the fourth and last of a series of articles relating to the American railroads in connection with their plea before the Interstate Commerce Commission for a 15 per cent freight rate increase.)

By SEYMOUR BERKSON.

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

New York, July 23 (A.P.).—The present plight of the American railroads was in part precipitated by the depression which struck the United States at the end of 1929.

Until then, the railroads had managed to get along, partially compensated by an increased freight business for the steady loss of passenger traffic.

But once the thunderbolt struck Wall street and its resounding effect began to be felt throughout the Nation, freight revenues took a nose dive and the railroads found themselves balanced perilously on a financial tight rope.

Not only have falling revenues caused a sharp drop in rail stocks, but investment experts say that the stability of $5,748,500,000 worth of railroad bonds has been so impaired they are threatened with being taken off the legal lists of investments approved for insurance companies and savings banks.

And that is the picture which rail officials have been presenting before the Interstate Commerce Commission in connection with their S O S for a 15 per cent freight rate increase.

Such an increase, the railroads maintain, would provide enough additional revenue to safeguard the rate of earnings required by law before insurance companies and banks may legally invest their funds in railroad bonds.

Because these companies and banks already have some $4,700,000,000 invested in such bonds, hundreds of thousands of savings depositors and insurance policy-holders are vitally interested in the proceedings now under way before the Commerce Commission in Washington.

Efforts of the railroads to obtain a freight rate increase are expected to be vigorously opposed by organized groups of farmers and by some economists who contend that higher rates may aggravate rather than alleviate the crisis because of possible stimulation to competitive modes of transportation.

Comparative figures on railroad earnings for the first ten months of 1929 and 1930 reflect not only of the general business depression but also the growing challenge from these competitors of "the iron horse."

For the 1930 period, freight car loadings of the Class I carriers—which comprise 90 per cent of the country's total rail mileage—were 6,018,839 cars less than during the same ten-month period of 1929.

Translated into dollars and cents that shrinkage, together with the continued decrease in passenger traffic, represented a drop of $343,414,019 in net operating income of the Class I carriers. The net income decreased from $1,115,841,580 for the first ten months of 1929 to $772,427,561 for the same period of 1930—a 44 per cent shrinkage.

Dividends during 1930 were paid by some of the roads only because they dipped into the surpluses of their subsidiaries. Interest on bonds was earned by narrower margins.

To avoid making even a worse showing, many of the railroads have postponed repairs, rehabilitation work and improvements.

Fairman R. Dick, New York investment expert, who testified before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington July 18, likened the flight of capital from the railroad industry to the crisis experienced by Germany.

He declared that rail stocks which had an aggregate market value of $10,331,080,000 in 1929 had dropped to $4,094,067,000 on June 1 of this year, increasing the ratio of indebtedness to capital values from 49 per cent in 1929 to 72 per cent as compared with the legal limit of 60 per cent considered conservative for real estate loans.

To avert disaster, restoration of public confidence in railroad securities is essential, the railroads contend.

And the immediate avenue by which this can best be accomplished, they maintain, is the proposed increase of 15 per cent in freight rates which they are authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission to charge shippers.

Widow of Croker Denies Death Link

Tammany Hall Leader's Survivor Involved in Agent's Passing.

West Palm Beach, Fla., July 23 (A.P.).—The tangled legal affairs of Mrs. Bula Croker, widow of the Tammany Hall chieftain, took a new turn today with her denial that she was involved in the death of Guthridge L. Robinson, her personal agent.

The denial was made in her answer to a suit filed by Robinson's father, R. E. Robinson, her former attorney, who is seeking to establish a lien on part of the Croker Palm Beach estate to secure his claim for $125,000 on a fifth interest in the property.

Guthridge Robinson died here June 30. None of the papers in the suit say how Mrs. Croker is alleged to have been involved in his death, which local newspapers at the time described as following "a lingering illness."

Mrs. Croker's answer, however, says that R. E. Robinson asserted Mrs. Rowena D. Robinson, widow of Guthridge Robinson, threatened to sue her for killing him unless she paid Mrs. Robinson $10,000. Mrs. Croker also said that early this month R. E. Robinson demanded that she buy him an automobile.

Stockholder to Check Books of Camera Firm

Wilmington, Del., July 23 (A.P.).—Superior Court Judge Herbert L. Rice today ordered that a peremptory writ of mandamus be issued, directed to the Mitchell Camera Corporation, of Hollywood, Calif., commanding the defendant, beginning August 1, to permit William L. Fox, of Long Island, a stockholder, to examine the books of the concern.

The writ was made returnable September 21.

Former U. S. Consul Wins Divorce Action

Cleveland, July 23 (A.P.).—Don S. Haven, former member of the American Consular Service, was granted a divorce today from Mrs. Joan Haven, of Richmond Hill, Long Island, on grounds of gross neglect. Haven said that his wife left him November 1, 1929, when he retired from the consular service, taking with her their twin 3-year-old daughters.

'Drowned' Broker And Brother Held

Arkansan Charged With Forgery in Crash of His Company.

Stuttgart, Ark., July 23 (A.P.).—A. U. McGill, rice miller and broker, who recently disappeared under circumstances that led officers to believe he was drowned, but who returned several days later, and his brother, H. T. McGilll, were arrested by Federal officers today on a charge of forging a bill of lading on a carload of rice. Their company was thrown into bankruptcy while A. U. McGill was missing.

The arrests were made by W. E. Freeman, deputy United States marshal, who left immediately with the brothers for Little Rock, where they expected to furnish bond. Filing of the charge followed an investigation here by a Department of Justice agent. The offense charged is a violation of the interstate commerce laws.

A. U. McGill dropped from sight while returning to Stuttgart from Clarendon. His car was found in the White River, and the stream was dragged for his body. A few days later he returned home, saying he had joined some men in a car the night of his disappearance and did not recall what happened until a day or two later at Memphis.

Senate Clears Former High French Officials

Paris, July 23 (A.P.).—Raoul Peret and Rene Besnard, former cabinet ministers, were acquitted today by the Senate on charges of malfeasance in office, in connection with the Oustric Bank failure.

Gaston Vidal and Albert Favre, former secretaries, also were acquitted. The principal charge was trafficking in influence to help Albert Oustric, head of the bank, to obtain permission for listing of an Italian artificial silk company on the Paris Stock Exchange.

WIFE TO TEST RADIO FOR LINDBERGH TRIP

Experts Declare Set Good But Actual Operation Will Be Tried.

New York, July 23 (A.P.).—There is only one more major step to be taken in preparation for the Lindberghs' vacation flight to the Orient, due to begin next week, and that is to be taken by Mrs. Lindbergh.

The big low-wing monoplane rides at anchor at North Beach, its flight capabilities with the floats which have replaced its wheels fully tested; its compass swung, its navigation instruments checked and its radio installed.

But still the powerful radio must prove beyond all doubt that it can reach out from the vast wild places of the North and whisper that all is well.

Within the next few days the big plane will lift loudly from the waters of the East River with Col. Lindbergh at the controls and Mrs. Lindbergh seated in the rear cabin with her hand on the sender's key and ear phones clipped upon her head.

It is expected that the test will be made with the Pan-American Airways Radio Station at San Juan, Porto Rico, a strong station at sufficient distance to indicate how closely the Lindbergh ship can keep in touch with civilization once it wings its way into the barren North.

Both Col. Lindbergh and his wife recently passed the operator's examination with marks in the 90s, though the former, who already knew something of code work from his Army days, was marked a little the higher of the two.

After the long-distance radio test all will be ready for the flight and Lindbergh has announced he and his wife hope to get away next week. He said he had not yet decided on the day, but it was generally believed it would be the middle of the week.

Shortest Postmaster in U. S.

Messick, Mich., July 23 (U.P.).—Mesick has the shortest postmaster in the United States. He is Floyd B. Gates and 4 feet 4 inches in height, and he has a brother 6 feet 2 inches tall.

Lindberghs Will Fly 7,132 Miles to Tokyo

(Associated Press.)

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh will fly nearly one-third the earth's circumference to reach Tokyo. This is the computation of the Navy Hydrographic Office, which puts at 7,132.2 statute miles the New York-to-Tokyo route of the projected Lindbergh flight. The distance becomes 7,254 miles should Washington be the starting point.

The distances were given:

New York to Ottawa, 336.2 miles; to Moose Factory, 461; to Churchill on Hudson Bay, 751.5; to Baker Lake, 377; to Aklavik, 1,113; to Point Barrow, Alaska, 536.5; to Nome, 523.5; to Karaginsk, Siberia, 1,067; to Petropavlovsk, 454; to Nemuro, Japan, 897; to Tokyo, 613.5.

The distance from Washington to Ottawa is 458 miles.

Moratorium Asked On All Mortgages

Howard Forwards Plan to President; Also Urges Farm Aid.

(Associated Press.)

Representative Howard (Democrat), Nebraska, yesterday presented what he termed "the Howard plan" to President Hoover.

The plan suggested a five-year extension for the time of payment of the principal amount of all mortgages on homes.

"My plan for a moratorium on mortgages," Mr. Howard said, "is so simple that even a French diplomat could not find any German ghosts inside it."

Mr. Howard said he also had urged the President to have the Agriculture Department take quick action in an effort to eradicate grasshoppers which are now plaguing large areas in the North Middle West.

DRY AGENTS' SLAYER CAPTURED BY POLICE

Bootlegger Who Shot Down Pair in Indiana Is Taken Without Fight.

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 23 (A.P.).—Four hours after he shot and killed two Federal prohibition agents to escape a trap they laid for him, George Adams, reputed Fort Wayne bootlegger, and former convict, was captured by local police early today.

Cornered on a road at the south edge of the city with a load of liquor the agents had ordered last night, Adams shot and killed at close range John J. Wilson, 40, of Rockwell City, Iowa, ranking special agent in the Indianapolis prohibition enforcement office. Wilson was said by his companions to have been unarmed.

Then, wounded in the neck and cheek by shots from the gun of Walter M. Gilbert, 33, special agent from Cincinnati, Adams returned the fire and Gilbert fell wounded. He died an hour later in a Fort Wayne hospital.

Two Others Take Cover.

A special Federal prohibition informer, C. E. Green, of Portland, Ind., and another special agent, Oliver J. Gettle, of Indianapolis, who said Adams "seemed to be crazy," dove for cover to escape the fire from Adams' gun. Both were cut by barbed wire fencing in a culvert into which they dropped.

Adams made his escape, and a wide search was organized. Local police, tipped off by Federal agents, captured him without a shot being fired early today as he drove up to the home here of Frank V. Kenierski. He was placed in the Allen County Jail. Lloyd Krouse, to whose home, twelve miles south of here, Adams drove after the shooting, was held as a material witness. Krouse bandaged Adams' neck and then drove him in Krouse's car to Fort Wayne where they were taken into custody.

(Associated Press.)

A promise that the Federal Government would insist on a vigorous prosecution of the slayer of two prohibition agents at Fort Wayne, and would aid in such a prosecution was given yesterday by Director Woodcock, of the Prohibition Bureau.

The Federal dry chief said he had sent messages of condolence to the wives of John I. Wilson and Walter M. Gilbert, who were shot to death as they attempted to arrest a bootlegger.

The GIRL About Town

EARLY yesterday morning I took my collie Princess Pat out for a walk along upper Massachusetts avenue. It was a glorious, crisp morning and Princess Pat and I romped like two children. On our way home we cut through S street to reach the avenue of the Presidents, a few blocks away. As we approached the home of former President Wilson, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, smiling, and a perfect picture in a dainty morning dress, came out of the front door. She had returned from Poland only last Monday, but Washington called to her, as it always does, and she did not linger in New York.

With utter devotion to the memory of the war President, Mrs. Wilson has treasured every memento of his boyhood and youth. In the stately library of the Wilson home is a quaint book shelf, quite plain, yet rich in historical memories. It was bought by Woodrow Wilson with the proceeds of the first story he ever sold. The editor of the periodical, curiously enough, was the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. On this book shelf Mrs. Wilson has placed all the books written by President Wilson, together with all books concerning him, which she considers authentic and worth while.

Dropping in at my lawyer's to consult him about a little matter with legal ramifications, I met charming Count Rene de Chambrun, descendant of Lafayette, and a nephew of the late Speaker of the House, Nicholas Longworth. The young count has forsaken diplomacy and the sword for the legal arena and has become associated with a well known New York firm. Asked about the prospects of the elder de Chambrun succeeding Ambassador Claudel, he shrugged his shoulders and merely replied: "Who knows?"

SAW a novel sight on a street car yesterday—William Bowie Clark, sans his red ribbon insignia as floor chairman. Mr. Clark, who in daylight hours is a Government clerk and a very efficient one, was returning from a little run down to Kenmore, the country place of Mrs. J. Wilmer Biddle, whose faithful squire and friend he has been for years. Bowie is supposed to have confided to a friend his blasted hopes when the vivacious widow of Douglas Gordon, of Baltimore, married the Philadelphian who belonged to the sacred clan of the Biddles. At a proper time after Mr. Biddle's death, it is said that he remarked: "This time I am going to marry her"—and perhaps he will! Such devotion often meets with a proper reward.

WYOMING FOREST BLAZE UNABATED

Rain Aids in Checking Fires in Yellowstone National Park Area.

Cheyenne, Wyo., July 23 (A.P.).—Forest fires roared unabated in northeastern Wyoming and in Grand Teton National Forest today, but were checked in the heart of the Dubois Dude Ranch country and Yellowstone National Park.

Two of the largest ranches in the Black Hills of northeastern Wyoming were threatened by flames that were being fought by National Guard troops and volunteers.

Col. R. L. Esmay, who was in charge of the National Guardsmen, sent out calls for additional equipment, but said he had little hope of checking the flames until rain occurred. Approximately 3,500 acres of timber had been burned.

Losses Are Estimated.

Losses in other sections were estimated at approximately 20,000 acres in Yellowstone, 8,000 acres in the Grand Teton National Forest, 7,000 acres in the Washakie National Forest and on prairie lands near Dubois and 75 square miles of timber and prairie grass near Rocky Point, in northeastern Wyoming.

The loss at Yellowstone at first was set at 25,000 acres, but Roger W. Toll, superintendent, said when a check was made by an airplane observer yesterday it was found less timber had been burned than was at first estimated.

Rains checked the fires in Yellowstone and at Dubois, the C. M. Dude Ranch having been threatened momentarily near the latter place.

1,000 Battle Blazes.

Approximately 1,000 dude ranch guests, ranch hands, forest rangers and volunteers were still fighting the fire but it was believed under control.

The Black Hills fire was between Oil and Plumb Creeks, with the Diamond Bar Ranch on the northwest and the Lissola Ranch on the east threatened.

The flames had spread into parts of South Dakota, not far from where former President Calvin Coolidge spent a presidential vacation several years ago.

The flames near Rocky Point were under control, but several ranch buildings had been burned and about 200 head of cattle were believed destroyed. The loss was estimated at $50,000 by county officials.

Speeding Fine Breaks 20-Year Driving Record

After twenty years of flawless driving, Allen H. Potts, of Chevy Chase, Md., ran afoul of the District's traffic laws yesterdayy and was convicted of speeding before Judge Gus A Schuldt in Traffic Court.

He was fined $5 for driving 38 miles an hour in a 22-mile zone. Potts, who said he had driven a score of years without an accident or an arrest, told the court his speedometer registered 28 miles an hour, and he thought he was in a 30-mile zone.

Radio Car Is Assigned To Traffic Squad Duty

A radio-equipped traffic automobile will begin service today. Inspector E. W. Brown announced that the traffic patrol car will be on the lookout for mechanical deficiences in automobiles on the streets.

The principal duties of the men in the new patrol will be answering all traffic accident reports in the city. A skilled photographer will ride the patrol, to take pictures of serious accidents and mishaps in which there are loss of life, serious injuries or heavy property damage.

MANIAC KILLS FIVE AND WOUNDS THREE

Miner Blames Strange Drink He Asserts Fellow Workman Gave Him.

Mercer, Pa. July 23 (A.P.).—Five persons were slain and three wounded today by an insane man afflicted with an obsession that he should kill all the residents of the little mining village at Mine No. 2, of the Sharon Coal & Limestone Co., where he lived.

On a hospital bed with a bullet wound in his hip, inflicted by a resident of the town to halt his mad attacks on the townspeople, Marko Demofonti, 46, told authorities he was driven insane by a poisonous substance given him by the husband of one of his victims.

Demofonti, armed with a revolver, a shotgun and a knife, killed his wife and her sister, Mrs. Alfonso Fastetti, in their home, and then marched down the village street to kill or fatally wound three others and injure three.

Mrs. Pete Cecilian and a 10-year-old son were shot in their home. The woman died later in the Mercer Hospital. Mrs. Frank Takela and Gartano Bevilaqua were shot to death as they stood in their door yards. Mrs. Mike Bana and a 12-year-old daughter were wounded with the madman's knife.

Demofonti's attack was halted when George Masters, village storekeeper, shot him in the hip. He probably will recover from the wound.

The man told police he had been suffering from a stomach ailment which he attributed to poison he alleged Pete Cecilian, a miner, placed in a drink given him several weeks ago.

Traffic Survey To Start Monday

Study Expected to Bring Reduction in Number of Signals.

A survey of traffic conditions in the District which may result in elimination of many traffic signals and will serve as a future guide for location of traffic devices will be started Monday, it was announced yesterday by William A. Van Duzer, director of the Department of Vehicles and Traffic.

Traffic checkers will be stationed along Rhode Island avenue from North Capitol to Twelfth streets, where traffic lights are to be changed from a limited progressive to a flexible progressive timing system. The count at each intersection will determine the new timing ratios.

When the work has been completed on Rhode Island avenue the checkers will move to Pennsylvania avenue and other congested traffic ways. No additional lights or signs will be installed until the check is completed.

Capital Woman Hurt In Bethesda Accident

Miss Adele May Parker, of 410 H street northwest, was slightly injured yesterday when the car she was driving skidded and overturned on the street car tracks beside the Old Georgetown road in Bethesda, Md.

Miss Parker was treated for bruises and shock by Dr. B. C. Perry, of Bethesda. Car services was not interrupted.

AERO GROUP HOLDS ITS ANNUAL DINNER

Noted Figures in Aviation Heard at Association's Fete; Reports Made.

A distinguished group of aircraft enthusiasts attended the tenth annual dinner of the National Aeronautic Association last night at the Mayflower Hotel, although the guest of honor, Capt. Frank Hawks, was unable to attend after making a record flight to Havana, Cuba, for lunch and return to New York, because of fatigue.

Senator Hiram Bingham, from Connecticut, aviation sponsor and president of the association, acted as toastmaster, and introduced for brief addresses many of the leading aviation figures.

The speakers included Amelia Earhart Putnam, vice president of the association; Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, newly appointed chief of the Army Air Corps; Glover C. Loening, designer of aircraft; Charles L. Lawrence, designer of aircraft engines and recipient of the Collier Air Trophy; James G. Ray, autogiro pilot; Porter Adams, charter member and one of the founders of the association, and Wing Commander L. J. E. Twisleton-Wykeham Fiennes, air attache of the British Embassy.

At the dinner a trophy, accompanied by a check for $500, was presented the Harvard Flying Club, through Sumner Foster, its president, for the most flying and training of its members during the past year, and the most development of student aviation. Second award of $400 was made to the New York University Club, and third of $300 was won by students of Detroit University.

At sessions yesterday afternoon considerable discussion took place about the air races being held in Cleveland each year, when a claim was advanced by the delegation from the California association that they should have the races in their section "for a good change."

More intelligent service on the part of air transport companies was described yesterday by Senator Bingham as the need of aviation of the future. He said that progress in commercial aviation must be scentific rather than based on imaginative optimism.

The convention was given a series of resolutions for consideration and later action, among them a merchant airship act and petition for congressional appropriations to enable the Navy to continue development of high-speed aircraft.

The convention will continue today with a visit to aircraft museums in Washington this morning, and a final business session this afternoon. Tomorrow the group will go by boat to Langley Field for an inspection trip.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Methodist Church at Accotink. The Rev. W. S. Gray will conduct the services and interment will take place in the Accotink Cemetery.

BRIEF ILLNESS FATAL TO BANKER'S WIDOW

Mrs. Flora B. Thompson Dies at Capital Residence; Was Social Leader.

Mrs. Flora Beatrice Thompson, widow of the late John W. Thompson, former president of the National Metropolitan Bank and prominent business man, died yesterday at her home, 1419 I street northwest, from an attack of acute bronchitis and exhaustion from the heat.

A member of one of the most prominent families in the District, Mrs. Thompson was long an active leader in social circles in the city, where she entertained elaborately and frequently in past years. At the time of her death she had been in retirement for several years, although she did not become seriously ill until Monday.

Her husband, John W. Thompson, acted as chairman of the Garfield inaugural committee, and members of the two families were close friends. He started the Massachusetts avenue extension park, was a president of the Metropolitan Railway in Washington and an associate and close friend of Gov. Alexander Shepherd.

Mrs. Thompson was the second wife of her late husband. She was the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Markham, who also was prominent socially and in civic affairs here for many years prior to her death several years ago.

Mrs. Thompson was an active member of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church.

She has no survivors other than two nieces, Mrs. E. L. Springer, of Washington, whose husband is attorney for the United States Treasury Department, and Mrs. R. S. Dawson, of Chicago, and a nephew, George B. Markward, of this city.

Funeral services will be held this morning at 11 o'clock at the residence, followed by interment in Congressional Cemetery.

MRS. MARY LIPSCOMB DIES

Widow of Former Merchant to be Buried Tomorrow.

Mrs. Mary Ann Lipscomb, widow of the late John T. Lipscomb, retired commission merchant, and Civil War veteran died at her residence 3064 Q street northwest, yesterday noon, after a short illness, in her 76th year.

Mrs. Lipscomb was born in Georgetown, and had been a resident of Washington all her life. She is survived by three sons, John T., jr., who is art editor of the Evening Star; Walter A. and Norman J. Lipscomb, and three daughters, Josephine H., Mrs. John J. Higgins, and Mrs. Paul H. Wacker, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held at her late residence tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, followed by mass at the Holy Trinity Church. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery immediately after the church ceremonies.

TAKEN BY DEATH

MRS. ELEANOR N. BRAMMER.

Mrs. G. E. Brammer Expires at Home

Member of Prominent Capital Family Dies After Long Illness.

Mrs. Eleanor Nicholson Brammer, a member of one of Washington's oldest and best-known families, died at her home at 1851 California street northwest, yesterday morning after a lingering illness. During the long siege of ill health that gradually broke down Mrs. Brammer's resistance, she displayed a spirit worthy of such a distinguished lineage as was hers. At all times her love and devotion for her family was unwavering, her courage and fortitude remarkable.

Mrs. Brammer was the daughter of the late Col. and Mrs. Henry W. D. Nicholson, prominent residents of Capitol Hill.

Mrs. Brammer is survived by her husband, George Emmett Brammer; a son, Richard H. Tilley, and two sisters, Mrs. Helen N. Kimmell and Mrs. Lucius Q. C. Lamar.

Funeral services will be held at the home of Mrs. Lamar, 1709 Lanier place northwest, tomorrow at 2 p. m. Interment will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Hull to Run as Independent.

William C. Hull, of Livingston Heights, whose name has been presented to the county Republican convention as a candidate for membership on the county board, announced yesterday that he will not accept the Republican nomination, but that he will make the race as an independent candidate.

POLICE AID GUARDS AT ILLINOIS PRISON

Second Alarm of Outbreak in 3 Days Draws Rush to Penitentiary.

Joliet, Ill., July 23 (A.P.).—The new State penitentiary at Stateville was guarded tonight by highway police for the second time in three days as prison officials waited tensely for the breaking of a convict storm they heard was in the making.

Late this afternoon Warden Henry C. Hill broadcast an alarm which hurriedly mobilized highway policemen. They augmented a hastily assembled force of extra prison guards.

The mysterious "prison grapevine" had brought to Hill, he said, word that some of the 2,100 convicts planned to revolt at 4 p. m. (C. S. T.) and had obtained ammunition and explosives from outside. The "zero hour" came, however, and the 700 prisoners working in the yard were marched back to their cells without incident.

Tuesday a similar force of police and extra guards was rushed to the penitentiary with machine guns to prevent an expected afternoon outbreak. Warden Hill said he had heard rumors that a wholesale break had been planned. The 30-foot surrounding wall was to be blasted with explosives, the rumors said, and the convicts able to go were to dash for freedom.

Since last spring, when a series of fierce convict riots and fire took several lives and caused much damage to property, prison officials have exercised extra precaution to prevent similar outbreaks.

Only one-third of the 2,100 felons are freed at one time from cells for work, which still consists a great deal in removing marks of the ravages of the spring riots.

The warden announced tonight after the men had been locked in their cells that they would not be released from them except for meals and brief recreation periods until the entire new penitentiary had been searched. Saws, sledge hammers, hoes and other tools used in convict labor are missing, he said, and it is feared they are being hoarded for the planned insurrection.

Hill said it would take at least ten days to search methodically the institution from top to bottom.

AYLETT B. NICOL RITES.

Service for Alexandria Attorney Will Be at Home Today.

Nicol, Alexandria attorney, who died Tuesday night in the Naval Hospital, will be conducted at the family home, 316 North Washington street, in Alexandria at 11 o'clock this morning by the Rev. Pierce S. Ellis, pastor of the First Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. Percy Foster Hall, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Interment will be in Ivy Hill Cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers will be James Randall Caton, jr., Judge Robinson Moncure, F. Clinton Knight, Robert H. Cox, Norman L. Williamson, James R. Mansfield, James M. Duncan, sr., and G. N. Anderson. Active pallbearers will be Kench T. Marye, of Washington; Judge William P. Woolls, Charles Henry Smith, Thomas H. Lion, of Manassas; Charles M. Shepperson, Dew Washington, of Washington; Harvey W. Callender and William Bose Marye, of Baltimore.

MRS. ROBINSON RITES SET.

Lifelong Resident of Capital to Be Interred in Glenwood Cemetery.

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret J. Robinson, 75, of 810 Taylor street northwest, who was killed by an automobile Wednesday night when she was trying to cross Georgia avenue near Shepherd street, will be held at her late residence tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 o'clock followed by interment in Glenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Robinson, who was a lifelong resident of Washington, is survived by two sons, Walter B., and Myron A. Robinson, both of this city.

GERMANY RELIEVED.

President Hoover has scored another achievement in the successful conclusion of the London conference. The purpose of the conference, which was to relieve Germany from an impending financial crisis, has been accomplished, yet the United States has not been drawn into the labyrinth of European politics.

American leadership in meeting this emergency was hardly less striking than it was in promoting the moratorium on war debts and reparations. By that movement the German government was relieved of an oppressive burden. By the plan which emerged from the London conference the German industrial and financial structure has been reinvigorated. With aid for both the government and private enterprise the German republic should be able to get on its feet again and resume normal activity.

Some disappointment is expressed in Europe at the turn taken by the conference. European politicians were anxious to discuss reparations, war debts, political guarantees, the Versailles treaty and every other problem that afflicts the family of nations. They considered the London conference a good opportunity to shake off some of Europe's obligations upon the United States. But President Hoover's influence kept the conference on an economic basis. If the statesmen at London had tried to solve the political hangovers resulting from the World War, Germany's financial structure might have collapsed while waiting for support. The conversations at Paris, amiable as they were, demonstrated that the German and French viewpoints are widely separated, and that agitation of political controversies at this time could serve only to aggravate the situation.

Because of President Hoover's insistence that the conference be restricted to the immediate issue of saving Germany's credit, the delegates were able to complete their work in a remarkably short time. The nations cooperated to extend economic relief, although they never could have agreed upon political measures. France was not called upon to change its traditional attitude. Germany was not confronted with political demands. The United States maintained its traditional policy by keeping free of European political entanglements. On this point alone President Hoover has earned the thanks of the American people.

There seems to be no occasion for the apparent gloom of the German delegates over the outcome of the London gathering. Obviously, they had hoped for too much. The creditor nations have never intended to pour additional millions into Germany to carry that country through the crisis. It is better business to make it possible for Germany to work out its own salvation. The governments have pledged themselves to cooperate in the restoration of confidence. Short-term credits are to be renewed. Germany has already taken measures to stop the exportation of capital from the country. With returning confidence a repatriation of capital can be expected.

Complaint is also made that the solution is only temporary. But it would have been absurd to expect the London conference to prescribe a panacea that would prevent any future difficulties in Germany. Yet the conference was not unmindful of Germany's future status. It recommends that a committee of experts be chosen to investigate the further credit needs of Germany, as well as means of supplying those needs.

The important thing is that the great powers twice have united in programs calculated to save Germany from collapse. Now they undertake to study the situation with a view to meeting other emergencies should they arise. If the German people are willing to buckle down to their own problems, stability should soon be within their grasp.

Business foresight and efficiency has triumphed over political bickering and delay. History will rightfully ascribe a major portion of the credit for these achievements to President Hoover.

DOMINICAN PROGRESS.

The government of Santo Domingo is availing itself of its treaty right to issue $5,000,000 in bonds with which to rehabilitate the country. The proceeds of the bond issue are to be applied to the extinguishment of pending claims, the payment of debts incurred as a result of the hurricane of September 3, 1930, and to public works, such as drainage, agricultural assistance, schools, highways, bridges and government buildings.

Thanks to the treaty with the United States and the energetic policy of President Trujillo, the credit of Santo Domingo ranks very high. The receiver general has established a remarkable record in the amortization of the national debt, having during the first six months of this year remitted $925,833 to his fiscal agent in New York to cover the purchase and cancellation of nearly $1,000,000 of national bonds. While several South American countries have postponed payment of interest upon their debts, Santo Domingo has met its obligations. It is now undertaking works of rehabilitation and improvement which should enhance the national revenue and promote the welfare of the people.

CLAIMS AGAINST MEXICO.

After faithful efforts on the part of the American commissioner the United States faces the fact that it has failed to obtain any relief for American citizens holding claims against Mexico. The conventions providing for a general and a special commission will expire next month, and Mexico is imposing unacceptable conditions as the price of extending the life of these commissions. To make matters worse, an attempt has been made to place the blame upon the American commissioner, Fred K. Nielsen, for the unsatisfactory outcome of the proceedings. A dispatch from the City of Mexico makes the absurd statement that Mr. Nielsen is "persona non grata" to Mexico and to the neutral chairman of the commission, Dr. Horacio Alfaro, of Panama.

Mr. Nielsen was selected for his experience and loyalty in defending American interests. It would have been the height of absurdity to ask the consent of Mexico before appointing the American commissioner. Mexico named its own commissioner without consulting the United States, as it had a right to do, and the American Government exercised the same right. Together the two governments chose a neutral arbiter as chairman. The chairman in this case has destroyed his usefulness by joining with the Mexican commissioner in making decisions without consulting the American commissioner. These decisions in every instance have been adverse to American claimants.

Of the thousands of claims pending before the general and special commissioners, less than 200 have been decided by the general commission, and only two by the special commission. In spite of the vigorous efforts of the American commissioner and the American agent to push the work forward, there has been systematic delay. Not a single American suffering damages by the revolutionary disturbances in Mexico since 1910 has received a cent of indemnity. The two cases adjudicated by the special commission, which deals with revolutionary damages, were adverse to the American claimants. One of these cases dealt collectively with the Santa Isabel massacre in which seventeen Americans were murdered by the Villa gang. The families of these slaughtered citizens are left without any indemnity whatever. It is now proposed by the Mexican government that claims such as these, occurring during the Villa and Huerta disturbances, shall not be considered by the special commission if that commission should be maintained. Mexico also demands that all sessions of both commissions shall be held in the City of Mexico.

Mr. Nielsen has been successful in important arbitrational proceedings with European governments. His only offense as a member of the Mexican-American commissions is that he has insisted that decisions should not be reached behind his back. He has stood manfully for justice to American claimants, although he has concurred in rejecting some American claims. The history of the arbitration arrangements with Mexico, from 1923 to the present time, reveals only too plainly that there has been no intention on the part of Mexico to do justice to American citizens.

The State Department has made one concession after another in dealing with the Mexican government, and is now in the position of having sacrificed the rights of American citizens for the sake of maintaining a pretense of cordial relations with Mexico. This is an intolerable situation. An explosion in Congress is the inevitable consequence of further denial of justice to outraged American citizens.

DELAYING RAIL HEARINGS.

Hearings on the railroads' application for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates will be resumed on August 10 at Washington. The original program of the Interstate Commerce Commission called for adjournment until September 1. But counsel representing insurance companies and savings banks interested in the railways petitioned the commission to continue its hearings without delay. The result was a compromise.

The railroads have made every effort to expedite the hearings. Their petition is an emergency measure, which demands immediate action. It has been made clear that the 15 per cent increase asked for is not designed to be permanent. The railroads are in financial straits. When prosperity returns they may be able to operate with the previous rate structure or with minor adjustments. The commission has not been asked to determine what rates should be for a long period in the future, but only to bridge over the gap which the depression has made in railroad earnings. By all means the railroads' application should be disposed of as quickly as possible.

Evidence indicates that the commission has been dilatory. Its procedure has been severely criticized from many quarters. No doubt that criticism is responsible for the decision to reopen hearings the second week in August. But why should the commission delay its hearings for even three weeks when the decision is so vital to the welfare of the carriers and to the country at large?

The railroads have set forth their needs clearly and concisely. They have shown that their incomes have been drastically cut and that more revenue is necessary if their credit is to remain unimpaired. It is conceded that additional revenue can be raised only through higher freight rates. What the railroads may lose to competitors as a result of higher rates can be only conjecture.

It is the business of the commission to weigh all these factors and decide to what extent the petition of the carriers should be granted. The commission is already well informed on the situation of the railroads, however, and it does not need extensive testimony or exhaustive study to determine what course should be taken. Further delay will be at the expense of confidence and business recovery.

RESEARCH INTO CRIME.

The modern tendency to evaluate established practices on the basis of current ideas has led to beneficial changes in many fields. The old conception of crime and punishment is being considered in a new light. Due to the compilation of facts and figures by research bodies, it is possible to study the question in a more scientific manner. In former times the opinion of a person equipped with a wide knowledge of human nature was the best authority available on problems dealing with men. Even today such an individual can perform a service that is outside the scope of tabulated findings, but without the background of statistics and the records of intelligent research crime problems can not be dealt with adequately.

When research committees were established some years ago to examine the conditons of crime and delinquency great things were expected. Practical men of prominence lent their support to the new projects with keen anticipation of the reforms which would ensue. When, after the lapse of an extended period, crime conditions were in no way altered ardor was dampened and in many cases active support was withdrawn. When the misconception exists that research alone can effect reforms disappointment is inevitable.

Research in criminology must remain solely a quest for the general truths governing the large body of cases. It is the work of the psychologist, the physician, the probation officer, or some other specialized agent to prescribe for individual cases. The work of researchers is necessarily slow, yet the mass of material they compile has directed prison reforms and other advances that were unknown before such systematic investigations were made.

In the problem of juvenile delinquents a study made by the New York State crime commission has revealed facts which have materially affected views on correction of the young. The correlation of mental defects and youthful delinquence is but one discovery which has brought to light the necessity of treating criminals as individuals and not as a homogeneous mass.

AMERICA ON THE SEA

By FREDERICK G. FASSETT, in the Boston Transcript.

Time was when complaint was general that the traveler on the Seven Seas seldom saw the American flag if his wanderings took him away from a few main-traveled roads on the face of the waters. That time has passed. He who today makes a trip through the Red Sea may travel on an American ship and as he does so see from her decks some other vessel flying the American flag, for there are four American lines whose ships regularly pass through the Suez Canal and the waters beyond. The American multimillionaire who sails in his palatial yacht to make scientific researches in the depths of the South Seas will not be out of the range of the activities of modern American argosies carrying Yankee notions to far places. Ships of three American lines are regular visitors to the Fiji Islands and other lands of the South Pacific.

Vessels engaged in passenger and freight traffic under the American flag provide regular service to more than 700 ports in what are ordinarily known as foreign parts. That is to say, these vessels ply the oceans between the United States and foreign countries, together with the noncontiguous possessions of the United States. Traffic between the United States and Canada on the Great Lakes is not included. Neither are the wanderings of tankers and ocean tramps taken into account. The count is made from a list of ports published by the bureau of research of the United States Shipping Board. The figures are as of January 1, 1931.

In the alphabetical list of the foreign ports served take those under the letter "K." They emphasize the fact that American vessels are to be found in waters far from those of the ocean highways that lead to London, Hamburg and other great ports of Europe. The list begins with Kaanapali and ends with Kribi. Between are Kabinda, Kuhului, Karachi, Keelung, Keta, Ketchikan, Klaipeda, Kodiak, Koko, Konakri, Kosseir, Kotka, Kotonu and Kotzebue, not to mention the more familiar Kingston and Kobe, together with Kobnhavn. Those who are not able to tell from memory in what countries those different ports are situated may turn to the Gazetteer.

Supplementing the pamphlet from which this information is obtained the Shipping Board publishes a map with lines showing the ocean routes followed in reaching the 700 ports. It appears from the map that the ships which take American tourists to the North Cape are not the only ones to carry Americans there. Freighters of an American line round that promonotory on which, in summer, shines the midnight sun. They are on voyages to ports in the union of Soviet republics, the Russia that was. As they pass the North Cape, mecca of the tourists, they reach the farthest north of these regular American services. Other ships reach the farthest south when they round Cape Horn. Between they are to be found along the equatorial routes. Some of them are known in Rangoon, where begins the road to Mandalay. Had the King of Siam, coming to this country to have his eyesight restored, wished to do so, he could have boarded an American ship in Bangkok.

In all 82 routes are drawn upon the map and enumerated in the pamphlet. It is of interest to note that at the beginning of the year lines controlled by the Shipping Board served only 14 of the routes. Routes disposed of by the Shipping Board numbered 21. On 23 of the other routes, each line employed one or more vessels acquired from the Shipping Board. The remaining 24 routes were operated by lines which had bought no Shipping Board vessels. It would seem that the Shipping Board had been making progress in transferring its operations to private hands. Whether or not it will take back the Leviathan and some other great ships is just now one of the questions which the falling of patronage on the North Atlantic ferry has raised.

As If It Matters Now.

POST HASTE.

You may be hot, but think how Mr. Stimson's ears are burning.

Atlantic City is out for the Republican national convention and may use as bait the very objection offered by her rival, Philadelphia; that at the beach city delegates would be "swimming all day and carousing all night."

Hurrah for Sol Bloom! He refuses to surrender the surrender.

An American missionary doctor in China, following a series of robberies, shot an employe who entered his room at night with a skeleton key. The Chinese idea of thorough unextraterritorial justice is seen in the demand that Dr. Tucker be executed, the mission closed, that the American Minister apologize and that an indemnity be paid.

Taxi fares now make it questionable as to whether we can afford to wear our soles any closer to the uppers.

Much comment is heard about the falling off of export trade a billion or so, variously ascribed to depression, tariffs and lower prices, but don't forget that American wholesale business still amounts to $70,000,000,000 a year.

Taking the roll out of the new crusiers will dent the roll in Uncle Sam's pocket, but for the faulty sterns there are to be no analogous kicks.

Chilean students are on strike "until Chile gets the type of government we favor." Give the dears longer recesses—and a spanking.

Roumanians are funny. A Bucharest man claims Al Capone as his son. But, then, they took Carol back.

Merchants will tell you that application of the moratorium system to charge accounts is not new.

There still remains a slight margin for argument with the oil embargoists between "flooding" the country with $1 foreign oil and 10 cent Texas oil.

The fate of a lone American outvoted two to one on the Mexican claims commission conjures up visions of a 'steen-to-one League of Nations ballot.

Four bystanders were wounded by a volley intended for the Chinese minister of finance, who was also left unscathed by two bombs. No wonder the fighting in China doesn't end!

If the French nondisarmament announcement is the result of the Stimson visit we tremble to think of what Germany may decide to do after he goes to Berlin.

Is it possible that our Secretary of State at times relapses into a feeling that he is still in his former position of Secretary of War? P. H.

If Lies Are Necessary to Support a Business, the Truth Will Destroy It.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MOST of the stories that come out of Russia concern the industrial and mechanical development of a backward land.

They are misleading stories, no matter how true they are, for they present only one side of the picture. They reveal the character of the new Russia no more than the photograph of a factory reveals the moral standards of its owner.

The true significance of the Russian experiment is revealed in other stories told by diplomats, travelers, newspaper investigators, and engineers who have completed their contracts and returned home to America.

They repudiated the debts of their country.

They murdered the well-born, the rich and the cultured.

They stole the lands, houses, money and personal property of the upper class.

They stole the personal property of foreigners and even went so far as to steal the table silver of the British embassy.

They deny the existence of a God; burn or tear down churches; and teach children to scorn and ridicule religion.

They require women, by the hundred thousand, to do the heavy labor that America leaves to the toughest roustabouts.

They "dump" the land's products—that is, sell abroad below the world market—to get the gold necessary to buy machinery, while their own people live on black bread, salt fish and horse meat and suffer privations and hardships that break their health.

They teach the people to spy on one another in search of "disloyalty," so that every man lives in dread of punishment and fears to express an opinion.

They use the schools, the cinema and the drama to teach children class prejudice and poison their minds with falsehood.

They use the newspapers and the radio to broadcast fake news. Item: America has accepted Communism, and the red flag now flies in Washington.

They violate contracts made with American engineers as lightly as they violate America's standards of sex morality.

That, in brief, is the character of the new Russia. It is an institution built and supported by murder, theft, dishonor, deceit, tyranny and a deliberate policy of falsehood.

Its great public works built by American brains and the fact that its ill-fed serfs never are jobless may impress the unthinking, but its ultimate destiny will be determined by its character.

Cultivate it as you will, you can't make a thistle bear figs.

PRO AND CON

President Hoover's Telegram.

Topeka Capital.

President Hoover's confidence of the effect of the year of suspension of payments by Germany and of all other European intergovernment payments, which led him to telegraph Senator Capper that "the major problem has been solved" of the temporary paralysis of the American export market, and that the farmer will benefit by an improving and revived export market, is the most cheering item of the news of the day. The moratorium in debt payments has already gone into operation. No one is in better position than Mr. Hoover to appraise its effects. He has been in immediate touch for a month, during the negotiations, with the highest financial, political and business authorities of the United States and Europe and may be supposed better than any other individual to know the immediate moral effect of the moratorium. His telegram to Senator Capper may be said to have come out of a clear sky, the President's spontaneous action, and a striking evidence of his own confident belief.

Short Selling.

Christian Science Monitor.

President Hoover's strictures against short sellers in the wheat market have brought to the fore a question which not only puzzles the layman, but has been a bone of contention among legislative and business circles for a great many years. The public has for the most part associated selling short with operations on the security exchanges, though it is equally prevalent in the commodity markets and in many businesses. Feeling against the practice has often resulted in laws forbidding it.

The first instance of such legislation was in 1733 in England, but it was wiped off the statute books in 1860. France and Germany have both tried abolishing short selling, but with harmful results, so that the practice was reinstated legally. The State of New York legislated against short sales in 1812, but rescinded its action in 1858, after it was found that the interference with trade outweighed its disadvantages. Periodically there is a hue and cry against the short seller, particularly after heavy deflation or some spectacular crash.

Helping Europe.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

The silence of the erstwhile irreconcilables over America's full participation in the conference on Germany's financial plight is notable. Borah, Johnson, Moses and their followers have not even chirped. There has been no mention of foreign entanglements. Not the slightest reference has been made to "the traditional policy" of American isolation. The United States is discussing a European question and not a warning has been made of the "dire" consequences of such procedure.

But it is not a "purely" European question. The solvency of Germany touches closely the United States. If Germany suffers collapse American investments to the extent of some $3,000,000,000 will be affected and private bondholders from one end of the Nation to the other will lose. It is a business proposition to get Germany out of the hole and from altruistic and other reasons the people are applauding the efforts of the Hoover administration.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Would Aid Silver by Having Treasury Replace Greenbacks With Silver Certificates.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: With your permission I submit herewith a plan whereby the United States may make a contribution to the stabilization of silver without waiting for an international conference and without raising the questions of bimetallism, free coinage or the sixteen-to-one theory.

Every month the Treasury publishes a statement showing the various kinds of money in circulation. I have followed this statement for many years and have noted the ever-recurring item of $346,000,000 of United States notes. These notes are the residue of our Civil War greenbacks, purely fiat money, except there is now a trust fund of $156,039,088 in gold to keep them at par, not to mention the entire enormous gold reserve, for all our money is kept at par with gold and has been since January 1, 1879, when John Sherman resumed specie payments.

My suggestion is to take this gold fund of $156,039,088 and purchase enough silver in the market to issue $346,000,000 silver certificates to replace these greenbacks, which for some mysterious reason are issued and reissued. Readers will recall that some years ago they became an endless chain whereby banks replenished their gold reserves at the United States Treasury. With some of the anachronisms removed from our money system we have a model for the other nations to copy. It would be unnecessary to coin the new silver. It and a portion of the silver dollars now stored in the Treasury could be melted into large bullion bars of such size as could not easily be stolen and displayed in a room known as the "silver room" as a witness to all the world that the United States stands by silver, the hard money of the plain people for thousands of years. JEREMIAH JOHNSON.

Los Angeles' Population Growth Due Only in Small Part to Annexation.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In the editorial in your paper on July 21, under the heading of "Metropolitan Areas," you stated:

"Los Angeles, for example, has become the largest city in the world—in area. By including all the suburbs for miles around the southern California metropolis makes a remarkable showing."

As you are usually exceptionally fair in your statements, I apprehend that you do not have exact information concerning the annexation facts in the Los Angeles district.

Only 17 per cent of the 1930 census population of Los Angeles was due to annexation and consolidation; during the census decade Los Angeles City increased 113 per cent in population, while the county outside of the city of Los Angeles increased 169 per cent, or 53 per cent faster than the city.

Moratorium on Antiliquor Law Is Suggested as Test of Prohibition.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I consider the moratorium on war debts the most constructive policy formulated since the armistice was signed in 1918.

Congress should pass an act granting for one year a moratorium on the national prohibition laws, which I consider would be the greatest constructive policy formulated since the great Magna Charta was granted by King John of England in 1215. Then we could have an election at the end of the year to prove whether prohibition is a blessing or a curse, as the voice of the people is the voice of God, "vox populi vox Dei."

JUST FOLKS

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Oh, the good old days, the good old days before the markets fell,
When all that you had to do was buy and the next week phone to sell.
Do you remember, brother o' mine, how the chap who cut your hair
Had only another year to go to be known as a millionaire?
And the women folks at a rubber of bridge, as the cards were being played,
Chattered of stocks they had bought and sold and the thousands they had made.
In those good old days when the boom was on the prices skyward soared,
Nobody muttered: "We can't buy that, it's a thing we can't afford."
And the butcher's boy and the lady's maid were doing what others did,
By dabbling in stocks on margins wide and watching them pyramid.
Then a forty thousand loss or gain seemed nothing at all to take,
For what was lost on Monday noon by Tuesday night we'd make.
And do you recall, oh, brother o' mine, the arrogant jeers we cast
At the fogies old who shook their heads and said that it couldn't last?
How smart we were in those good old days when even the fools seemed wise.
Now we've had our splurge and we've had our fun and sadly we realize
We must set our hands to the plow once more and our minds to the work of men,
And walk the saner and surer path which we should have traveled then.

TREADWAY BELIEVES IN SPECIAL SESSION

Urges President to Summon Congress to Make Sure of Debt Action.

(Associated Press.)

An administration Republican yesterday added his voice to the cry for a special session of Congress that has arisen from the ranks of the Democrats and the politically independent.

Representative Treadway, of Massachusetts, ranking member of the ways and means committee, urged President Hoover to call such a session so that the Chief Executive's debt moratorium plan may be assured of congressional approval before December 15, when the next war debt payments to the United States are due.

He laid his proposal before Mr. Hoover at a luncheon conference attended by Representative Davenport of New York, also a Republican member of the ways and means committee. Legislation in connection with the moratorium must originate in this committee.

The President has repeatedly declined to yield to such suggestions. When he announced his moratorium plan it was made known he felt that with Congress meeting December 7, and sufficient support assured, the moratorium legislation could certainly be approved within a week.

Pleas for a special session have been heard from several Democrats of the House and Senate and from the Republican independents of the Middle West. They have been based upon a demand for legislation dealing with a number of domestic problems, but principally that of unemployment.

Treadway yesterday suggested a special session be called "not too far in advance" of the regular meeting.

"The moratorium plan must be approved December 15, the date on which big payments are due," Treadway said. "While there is no doubt in the world that approval will be voted overwhelmingly, Congress does not convene until December 7 and that would leave only seven working days before the date of the debt payments. We do not know how long it will take to organize the House, but in my opinion it will take longer than seven days."

Treadway said the President gave no indication of his reaction to the suggested special session, nor was there any indication whether Davenport joined in the request.

Match Dividend Declared.

New York, July 23 (A.P.).—The new common stock of Diamond Match Co. was put on a $1 annual dividend basis today by the declaration of an initial quarterly payment of 25 cents a share, payable September 1 to stock of record August 15. The company was reorganized last year.

Norman H. Davis to Leave America to Attend Credit Parley.

New York, July 23 (A.P.).—Norman H. Davis, New York banker, today cabled his acceptance of the post offered him by the League of Nations on its finance committee.

He said he will sail for Europe in time to attend a conference on European credits August 20 and a subsequent meeting of the league's finance committee in September.

Mr. Davis, who has served both as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Undersecretary of State, began his business career in Cuba where he organized the Trust Co. of Cuba. He has held a number of important special appointments such as finance commissioner of the United States to Europe and financial advisor to the late President Wilson and the American commission to negotiate peace. The committee of which Mr. Davis now becomes a member is collaborating with other committees of the league to plan the financial reconstruction of Europe.

U. S. Alcohol Reports Loss.

New York, July 23 (A.P.).—U. S. Industrial Alcohol Co. reports net loss of $527,286 for the first half year, compared with net profit of $552,485 for the same 1930 period.

MILITIA CALLED OUT IN ELECTION BATTLE

Gov. Bilbo's Action Stirs Up Mississippi's Interest in Slow Campaign.

Jackson, Miss., July 23 (A.P.).—Calling out of the militia today to keep order at the checking of the voters' rolls in Issaquena County added spice to Mississippi's political campaign that has lumbered along for weeks in listless fashion.

With only a scant dozen days remaining before the ballots will be cast in the Democratic primary, the political fervor has been confined mainly to the 7,000 candidates who have stepped on each other's heels in their race to get their voices heard above the din

Candidate to Each 35 Votes.

But the approximately 250,000 qualified voters refuse to be blasted out of their lethargy by stump oratory. They feel that one candidate per 35 qualified voters is spreading it on a little thick. The usual whooping of the candidate that once brought the voters to their feet with wild cheers now produces only mild handclaps and even the annual rally of the Patrons Union, where guns frequently have been drawn after partisan disputes, had difficulty in drawing a yell.

Now that bayonets have been mixed with the issues, some of the candidates' managers believe that public interest will be aroused to the delight of the old-timers at the crossroads.

State militiamen were sent to Issaquena today by Gov. Theodore G. Bilbo after a delegation of women had told him there was danger of bloodshed when the election commission began checking the rolls of voters and pointed out that at the last meeting a gun was drawn when the commission could not agree on striking off some names.

Governor Takes Hand.

The governor sent 30 soldiers to guard the county's 275 ballots, making one soldier for less than ten votes. Some citizens of the county objected vigorously against bringing in the troops, saying the situation had not produced any smoke, let alone fire.

The troop move came quickly behind the sudden active participation of Gov. Bilbo into the campaign. Until yesterday the governor had been on the sidelines, chafing at the bit, estopped by two of his friends being in the lists of governor's candidates and each demanding his support.

His rein was released yesterday when he mounted the platform of the Patrons Union and announced that his friend, Lester Franklin, had withdrawn from the race and called on the populace to vote for George T. Mitchel.

Special Consistory Is Held in Vatican

Pope Tells 20 Cardinals of Trouble in Four Countries.

Vatican City, July 23 (A.P.).—The troubles of the church in Italy, Spain, Mexico and Lithuania were understood to have been discussed today by Pope Pius with 20 cardinals of the Curia whom he summoned hastily into a special consistory this morning.

There was no statement after the meeting ended, but it was believed that the situation in Spain was discussed on the basis of a report by the Cardinal Archbishop of Tarragona who flew here from Barcelona and went back by airplane yesterday.

It was assumed also that the Pontiff took occasion to lay before the cardinals the difficulties which the church has encountered in Italy, Mexico and Lithuania.

Downed Marine Fliers Walking Back to Base

Managua, Nicaragua, July 23 (A.P.) Two United States Marines, who came down to a forced landing in the swamps along the Coco River while they were on flight patrol yesterday were beating their way through the jungle to Logtown today, while other planes circled above them to protect them from attack by insurgents.

Sergt. Gordon W. Heritage was piloting, with Corpl. Orville B. Simmons as mechanic and observer, when he had to bring the ship down. Another member of the patrol signaled them to burn the disabled plane and strike for Logtown, about 40 miles away.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Fair American Shopkeeper of Havana Rests

Jane Kendall Mason Is Enjoying Holiday at Tuxedo Park.

FOR the first time in the life of pretty Jane Kendall Mason (Mrs. George Grant Mason, jr.) a vacation means a respite from work. With Mr. Mason she is visiting in Tuxedo Park and presumably will spend some time in this country from their home in Havana, although early spring plans for the Masons included a trip to London this summer for a visit with Mrs. Mason's mother, Mrs. Ormond Lawson-Johnston. Both formerly lived in Washington.

Although very much engaged in following the course of society in the Cuban capital, Mrs. Mason opened a shop there last winter, exercising not only her discriminating taste in the selection of salable treasures, but putting to use her skill in design. For a great many of the lovely things in the shop are the fruit of her own penchant for artistic invention, and, in addition, the decidedly modernistic background of the shop itself owes its design to Mrs. Mason's originality. She seems to have gone into business in earnest and is now enjoying a holiday.

With an artistic little shop as a setting and its owner conceded one of the beauties of the western hemisphere, the success of the undertaking has been one of the themes for gossip over the tea cups this year. Every one recalls the compliment paid Mr. and Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Lawson-Johnston some months ago in Havana when the royal princess of Great Britain invited the trio of Americans to tea on the ship resting in the harbor en route to South America, whither the Prince of Wales and his brother were bound on a good-will mission.

Attracted by the charm and beauty of lovely Jane Mason the Prince of Wales played host in regal manner. Furthermore when he decided upon the purchase of two airplanes for immediate delivery the Prince placed his order with Mr. Mason, whose business scope runs in the field of aviation.

That the mode of travel by air is favored by the Prince is, of course, definitely recognized and only last week was further evidence of his hobby expressed in the order in London for a new streamlined automobile of unconventional design and incorporating airship principles. The automobile was designed by the builder of the airship R-100 and the decoration will be in the Prince's colors, red and black.

British Ambassador To Sail Next Week.

The British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, will sail July 29 to pass some time in England. Lady Lindsay will remain in Bar Harbor until his return.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann was the guest in whose honor Mrs. Nathaniel B. Dial, wife of former Senator Dial, entertained at luncheon yesterday in her home on Kalorama road. The other guests were Mrs. Porter H. Dale, wife of Senator Dale; Mrs. Henry C. Landson, Mrs. Peyton Gordon and Mrs. Herbert George Sparrow.

Countess Szechenyi, wife of the Hungarian Minister, has gone to New York for a few days from Newport, where she is spending the summer. Count Szechenyi recently sailed for Europe to pay his annual visit to his estates in Hungary.

The Acting Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Ogden L. Mills will go to Saratoga Springs early in August and occupy the cottage there which they have leased for the racing season.

Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss is spending several days in New York at the Madison.

Mrs. Bernard L. Eberts entertained a party at dinner on the Shoreham terrace last evening in compliment to her sisters-in-law, Miss Mary Eberts and Miss Cecelia Eberts, of Columbus, Ohio, who are her house guests. Those present included Miss May Waggaman, Miss Irene Boyce, Miss Ruth Miskelly, Miss Mildred Olfin, Miss Agatha Waldron and Miss Eloise Giles.

Gov. La Follette Visits His Mother Here.

Gov. Philip F. La Follette, of Wisconsin, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, widow of Senator La Follette.

Senator and Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, jr., are spending the summer in their home in Madison, Wis.

The subject for informal discussion at the garden entertainment following the chafing dish supper at the Arts Club on Sunday evening will be "Beauty." The leader will be Mrs. Emma Prall Knorr, who will review the volume "Beauty," by Helen Huss Parkhurst. Among others taking a leading part in the discussion will be Miss Alice Hutchins Drake, who will outline the beauties of modern verse; Miss Bess Davis Schreiner, who will present her views on beauty as she recognizes it in pageantry and the drama, and Miss Genevieve Wimsatt, who will give a talk on the beauties of Japanese art, illustrating her subject with an exhibition of small Japanese carvings.

The Naval Attache of the Spanish Embassy, Capt. Federico Monreal, entertained at dinner in his apartment in the Shoreham last night in honor of the former Minister of Finance of Bolivia and Mme. Abelli. Guests were the Charge d'Affaires of the Spanish Embassy, Senor Don Jose Gomez-Acebo, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Rennert, the Second Secretary of the Spanish Embassy, Senor Ramon Padilla; Miss Norvell Munford, Dr. Don Highland and Miss Maria Diez de Medina.

Korea Women To Be Subject Of Mrs. Hull

National Woman's Party Will Hear Former Teacher There.

Mrs. Harry E. Hull, wife of the Commissioner of Immigration, who has spent many years in Korea, will speak on Korean women and on her educational work among them, at the National Woman's Party garden party at Alva Belmont House at 5 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Other speakers will be Miss Emma Wold and Miss Muna Lee, director of national activities of the Woman's Party, who will report on feminist progress at home and abroad during the summer.

Mrs. Hull's residence in the Orient and her journeyings in the Far East, with particular study given while there to the status of women of those far-off lands gives her an excellent background of information. Setting out when a young woman to "see the world," Miss Anne Gittins, whose home was in Williamsburg, Iowa, found the end of the trail in Korea where she lived for three years as a member of a college staff.

Continuing her trip around the world the traveler, who later became Mrs. Hull, visited practically every outstanding college in China and studied the slow progress of the modernization of women in India and many other lands. With Mr. Hull she has made her home for some years in Washington, retaining always her interest in the advancement of women of the East.

At the tea Sunday afternoon Mrs. Paul Lieberger, district chairman, will be the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Lucia Hanna Hadley, Mrs. Burnita Shelton Matthews, Mrs. Rose Conway Stetson, and officers of the Young Women's Council. Mrs. Charles J. Williamson and Mrs. Edwin S. Puller will pour.

The marriage of Miss Hortense E. Santman, of Beaver, Pa., and Mr. Reginald G. Hoagland, of Washington, took place Friday evening in Beaver at 8 o'clock at the home of the Rev. Dr. H. A. Gearhart, pastor of the Beaver Presbyterian Church.

The bride had as her attendants, her sister, Mrs. Joseph H. Flaherty, of Beaver, and Miss Alma Lee Williams, of Washington. Mr. Joseph H. Flaherty was best man.

Mrs. Hoagland wore a delicate shade of pink chiffon with slippers, hat and gloves of blue. She carried a bouquet of rosebuds and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. W. W. Milar, president of the Akron, first woman's chapter of the National Aeronautical Association, is stopping at the Mayflower. She is a delegate to the National Aeronautical Association convention. Mrs. Ward T. Van Orman, wife of the widely known balloon pilot, is also a member of the party.

Mrs. E. Rust Smith and Mrs. Wentworth Willis Peirce are motoring through New England and Canada. They are accompanied by Miss Eleanor Rust Peirce and Miss Elizabeth Rose Peirce.

Maj. and Mrs. R. E. M. Goolrick, of Fort Riley, Kans., are the guests of Col. and Mrs. C. F. Craig, 4721 Blagden terrace. They will leave soon for Dayton, Ohio, where Maj. Goolrick will be in command of Wright Field.

Mrs. Morrow Writes Tale of Mexican Life

Wife of Former Envoy Charmingly Depicts Home There.

The story of a sunlit street in Cuernavaca, Mexico, adopted as their "very own" by former Ambassador to Mexico and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, is told in a current magazine by the latter, who has signed her article Elizabeth Morrow. With a facile pen the wife of the present senator from New Jersey depicts all the color and enchantment of a sleepy lane that winds through the town captured four centuries ago by Cortes.

From the day of their first glimpse of the little town flooded in golden sunshine to the last sight of its beautiful church which hangs over the houses on "our street," Mrs. Morrow writes of the strange and alluring life in Cuernavaca. She tells of the house they evolved in easy stages, adding wings about a series of patios which, before they finished, numbered a baker's half dozen, each connected with arched entrances that were guarded by oleanders and palms.

Full of little incidents relating to the people of the town, of their joys and ttragedies, their life about the market place and the small church, Mrs. Morrow's story rises to the climaxes of an interesting tale decidedly well told.

No mention is made of the romance which unfolded in the gardens of their rambling home in Cuernavaca. But all the world knows of the visits there of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who won Anne Morrow during her residence in Mexico while her father was American envoy there. For Mrs. Morrow is no newcomer to the stage of writing and keeps well to the subject in hand.

She is the author of several charming books, "The Painted Pig," relating also to experiences in Mexico, having attained a degree of great popularity among American readers.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Allen and their children are passing some time at the Ambassador Hotel in Atlantic City. Mr. Allen is the president of the National Education Association.

Mrs. Grace Hall Brosseau, former president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will leave her home in Greenwich, Conn., on Monday with a party of friends for a six weeks' trip to Alaska.

Mrs. Hannah E. Overstreet and Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Lord, with their small son, David, have returned after passing some time in Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Warwick E. Montgomery are in New York, where they are passing a short time at the Vanderbilt. They will go to New London, Conn., to visit the former's aunt, Mrs. Edward Douglas White, widow of Chief Justice White. They will not return to Washington until the early fall. Mrs. Montgomery was formerly Miss Rose Saul, daughter of Mrs. B. F. Saul and the late Mr. Saul.

Mrs. Saul and her younger daughter, Miss Theresa Saul, have closed their home on Wyoming avenue and have gone to their country home near Kensington, Md.

Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr will sail August 1 on the S. S. Minnewaska for Europe. Going first to Paris they will visit the French colonial exposition.

Later they will go to Montreaux and St. Moritz, in Switzerland, and then to the Italian lakes, where they will remain until the early autumn, sailing for home from Genoa.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Bennett, who went to Boston on the S. S. Fairfax, passed a week in that city and have now returned to their home on Thirty-sixth street.

Mrs. Esther Sonneborn will leave Monday for Atlantic City to pass two weeks.

Mr. Francis Whitten is now at the Shoreham, where he has taken an apartment for the remainder of the summer.

Mr. Edgar Hamilton Funk and Mr. W. L. Hughes will return tomorrow after passing several days at Laurel Grove, Va., the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Henry Garnett Reamy.

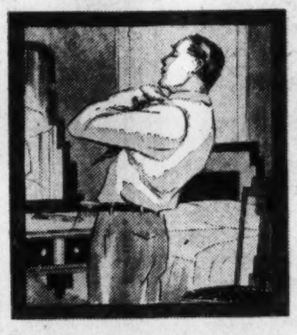
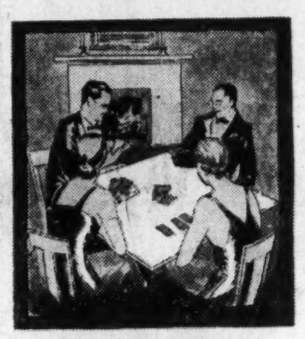
ALL FOR 75c A WEEK



A warm house to dress in, and a half hour's extra sleep every morning.

A house so steadily warm and cozy that you have to look outdoors to know it's winter.

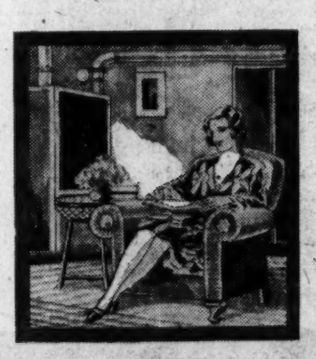


Evenings free for pleasure or ease—no need to run downstairs to fix the fire or take out ashes.

Less housework because no dust or soot or oily vapors are being generated in the basement.

Always constant temperature all through the house—and that means fewer colds and better general health, as well as infinitely greater comfort.

A usable basement because it is clean and quiet, with a neat attractive heating plant and no bulky, dirty coal bin or oil tanks.



YES ALL THIS FOR 75c A WEEK

—that is the only added cost of automatic gas heating for the average Washington home. For about 75c a week more than your present troublesome method of heating, you can have all these and many more joys that gas alone can give you. Isn't it worth investigating, now? Just phone NAtional 8280, and get ready to enjoy the coming winter.

HIGH-SPEED STUDIES DEVELOP NEW PLANE

Month-Old Program Gains Early Results With Patrol Ships.

(Associated Press.)

The Navy's high-speed airplane development program already has borne fruit although the funds became available less than a month ago.

Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, said yesterday that "preliminary studies have created a new design for patrol planes which will improve their performance."

"Already," he declared, "returns are being received from the stimulating effects of the high speed project.

"The results from a high speed development program are directly applicable to service aircraft. Now the service is in need of an engine of about 1,000 horsepower for patrol planes and airships lighter than air. If the development program produces, say, an engine of 2,500 horsepower, it will, with minor modifications, make a most reliable 1,000-horsepower service engine."

Admiral Moffett predicted it will take "several years to reach the status existing abroad" in high speed development, because congressional appropriations for this purpose were lacking until the last Congress allowed $220,000, which became available July 1.

Policemen Confiscate Liquor.

Policemen A. E. Fredette and H. H. Hodge yesterday confiscated 6 gallons of white whisky found in a vacant garage in the rear of an address on Seventh street near N street northwest. The liquor was taken to the Second Precinct Station.

document a provision for the Federation of Women's Clubs to participate in distributing Mrs. Henderson's book, "The Aristocracy of Health," in connection with a "general world-wide campaign" through lectures, health drives, "fittest family contests" and "such other legitimate means as my executors may deem profitable and expedient."

Under the will of July 13, 1927, the residue of the estate, valued at between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000, would go to Dr. Kellogg to promote campaigns against "race degeneracy" and to encourage "race betterment through a popular knowledge concerning biologic living and eugenics."

Legal counsel engaged by Dr. Kellogg, who were asked to telephone him concerning the wills, said yesterday that he was simply "inquiring into the situation."

5 DIE AS SPAIN ACTS TO HALT DISORDERS

Tavern, Communists' Mecca, Destroyed by Artillery in Macarena Suburb.

Seville, Spain, July 23 (A.P.).—Artillery surrounding a tavern frequented by Communists in the suburb of Macarena reduced it to wreckage with 22 rounds of rapid fire today in the government's effort to put down syndicalist disorders.

Soldiers tonight manned machine gun and artillery units, ready for instant use should the disorders which today cost five lives be repeated.

Dwellers in the tavern's neighborhood, all outside the danger zone during the bombardment, were registered and searched for arms. Inmates of the tavern had vacated the building prior to the attack.

The authorities said the tavern, a mecca for Communists, contained a store of arms which was destroyed. The ruins were guarded by troops, while residents gathered to view the wreckage.

Workers concentrated in a strike at a hat factory had insisted on remaining, but refusing to work, they were ordered to vacate the factory immediately.

Authorities believed the use of artillery probably would pacify the extremists' spirits. Seville tonight was quiet. Cigarette girls and stenographers had resumed work, and street cars and taxicabs were in operation again, under protection of soldiers.

The fatalities today occurred at Alcala de Guadaira and in Seville. Here civil guards and troops killed four members of a mob who attempted to rescue three truckloads of prisoners. One person was killed at Alcala de Guadaira when civil guards fired on assailants of a guardsman, who had been thrown from his horse.

Woman Flashing Knife Held for Observation

Rushing to the corner of Georgia avenue and Newton street northwest late yesterday after receiving the report that a woman had slashed her throat, police found Evelyn Johnson sitting in an automobile with a hunting knife in her hand. She was weeping and moaning.

The woman was taken to the Tenth Precinct Station, where she said that she had driven to Washington from Roanoke, Va., arriving today, to look for a "Mr. Reed." She is 28 years old. A driving permit on her person was issued to Evelyn Johnson, 813 Mount Vernon place northwest. She was booked for investigation and transferred to the House of Detention.

Too Old for Romance, Says "Ma" Kennedy, Free Again

Mother of Aimee McPherson Granted Annulment in Proceedings Lasting Only 10 Minutes; Cries on Shoulder of Hudson's Wife.

Los Angeles, July 23 (A.P.).—The same swift tempo that characterized the wedding of Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy and G. Edward Hudson on the banks of a moonlit Washington lake entered her successful annulment proceedings in Superior Court today.

The entire proceedings lasted about ten minutes and came to an end with the suddenness with which the mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, married Hudson in Cowlitz County, Wash., June 28.

Hudson faces a bigamy charge, a divorce suit filed by Mrs. Newton-Hudson and a breach of promise suit by Mrs. Ethel Harbert.

Hudson was absent from the jammed courtroom. His attorneys announced previously he would remain in seclusion until the arrival of a warrant from Longview, Wash., charging him with committing bigamy in marrying Mrs. Kennedy.

The proceedings brought Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Newton-Hudson together for the first time. They were the only witnesses, Mrs. Kennedy testify she married Hudson innocent of any knowledge he still had a wife.

Mrs. Newton-Hudson, who followed Mrs. Kennedy to the stand, told of her marriage to Hudson in Las Vegas and testified they had not been divorced.

As the judge severed the marital knot, Mrs. Kennedy sobbed aloud and sought comfort on Mrs. Newton-Hudson's shoulder. Mrs. Kennedy was led from the courtroom to a corner drug store, where between sips of an ice cream soda she discussed the hectic past.

"It'll be Mrs. Kennedy only—forever," she said. "I thought I had found romance but I see I'm too old."

Mrs. Newton-Hudson expressed sorrow that "it all had to happen."

A copy of the complaint filed against Hudson and a warrant ordering his arrest were received today by the sheriff's office. Capt. J. B. Fox, of the fugitive detail, said two deputies had hunted unsuccessfully for twelve hours for Hudson, and that if he was not found or did not appear within a short time that a fugitive warrant would be asked from the district attorney's office.

Enough Canada Dry in three months to float a battle cruiser

3,830,835 gallons of ginger ale. Each gallon weighs 8.6 lbs., making a total weight of 32,945,181 pounds of Canada Dry, which reduced to tons equals 16,472 tons. The displacement of the U. S. S. Concord, one of our finest cruisers, is 10,000 tons. The amount of Canada Dry sold would float the U. S. S. Concord with plenty to spare.

EVERYWHERE almost every one is drinking The Champagne of Ginger Ales. In three months enough Canada Dry has been sold to lift the U. S. S. Concord off her keel, and still have some left.

The reasons are simple. First. At its new low price, Canada Dry is the outstanding value in ginger ales today. It didn't take people long to find that out.

Second. Canada Dry is more convenient. Because now there are two sizes—the familiar twelve-ounce size for individual use, and the new large size containing five full glasses for family enjoyment and parties.

And last but not least—because Canada Dry is The Champagne of Ginger Ales . . . as fine a beverage as human skill can make. Its wonderful flavor, its keen delight and lasting carbonation are all extra values.

Remember Canada Dry in hot weather. Order the handy Hostess Packages for your pantry.

NEW LOW PRICE FOR TWELVE-OUNCE SIZE 16¢
Slightly higher in some stores because of icing, delivery, and other special services.

THE CHAMPAGNE OF GINGER ALES

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

CANTERBURY BELLS.

NOW that we are experiencing the hot, dry weather of midsummer, you must give some definite attention to your Canterbury bells if you would have them continue to bedeck your walks and borders with their winsome bells.

Each day you must give them a thorough soaking and mulch them. There is a choice of two materials for mulching. You may use well-rotted cow manure or leafmold, and should these be unavailable you may use the rakings of grass from the lawn. Any of these will prove a great aid in retaining moisture, which is so necessary to the welfare of all the members of the bellflower family.

At all times keep the dead flowers and yellow leaves removed. This will not only add to the attractiveness of your border, but will encourage the development of other flowers.

Never leave the work of staking and tying until the shoots are top-heavy and begin to droop about, or have become broken by high winds or dashing rains. Damage done by storms to neglected plants often cripples them for the rest of the season.

Always avoid tying Canterbury bells in shapeless bundles. It is much more natural to have them laced up neatly, or a stake given to each strong stem and placed in the ground at angles which will keep the plant open and thus permit air and light to penetrate.

For the last few years the Canterbury bells have been irresistible. The Campanula family can not have too much said in its favor, and the plants are very easy to raise.

A rock garden is never complete without some bell-flowers. Here it is better to plant dwarf varieties. But for general planting in a border, Canterbury bells are the variety you will want. It is hard to decide which lovely color you will want, the white the pink or the blue. My advice is always to have a few each, since they never clash with their neighbors or each other. These plants are just the thing for the back of the border, because healthy plants attain a height of three feet and, being compact growers, form a background of green for the lower growers of the front row.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

DEAR Miss McDonald: I am a business woman, 30 years of age, and am considered attractive. For sometime I have been keeping company with a man almost 30 years my senior. He is a business man with a fine home, a widower, and able to support me in comfort if I marry him.

There is no question of his affection for me. I know he cares for me, and I for him. My people, however, do not know I am keeping company with him and I dare not tell them, as there would be a scene, which would probably end in my family never speaking to me again if I went ahead and was married.

I don't want anything like this to happen, still I think I am entitled to some happiness. I do not know what to do. The only reason my people would oppose such a marriage would be on account of our ages.

Did you ever know of a marriage such as this that was a success? I will appreciate your advice or the advice of any of the readers.

BUSINESS GIRL.

No woman of 30 should live in such fear of the opinion and the wrath of others. If ever a woman needed marriage, you are that one. And dominated as you have been by your elders it is natural that your choice should be a man much older than yourself. In no other attachment would you ever find the sense of security that every woman craves in her marriage.

The marriage would be successful considering your type. Your one danger will be your natural inclination to submit too completely to authority and thus begin fearing instead of enjoying your husband! If you start out to merely exchange one boss for another, your marriage will be little improvement upon your present existence which is one of spiritual servitude. Accept the fact that you are a person in your own right, with opinions, rights, and intelligence all your own. Accept the responsibility of your own acts and your ability to stand or fall by your own decisions. Accept the fact that you are a woman, not a child, that you are old enough to have children in high school and therefore certainly beyond entertaining the childish fears that the average modern high school miss would scorn.

You are a mature woman. You have met your man. Nothing stands between you and your future except an abnormal and childish fear of people who have dominated you and all but stamped out your individuality. Take the man and the consequences—if for no other reason than to sever the tie of servility that in your life has replaced the bond of family affection normally expressed. The birds have the right idea when they push the young out of the nest. Parents like yours belong in some ancient woodcut. And they know it and probably wonder what is the matter with you that you meekly submit to their commands.

As to the matter of my personal acquaintance with such marriages, I certainly can attest their success—and from personal experience. If more women married elderly men there would be less unrest in marriage, and a far better average of marital happiness. Most women need fathering quite as much as men need mothering. And sheiks make poor fathers—especially for their wives! Let the wedding bells ring. And let the family learn to like it!

Dare Interprets the Mode

New York, July 23.

WHO said prints were stealing quietly out on the summer breeze? Whose opinion was it that solid colors would reign in unprotested sovereignty for all the late summer and autumn days and nights? Wel-l-l, whoever said or thought that was wrong! If they had said all "ordinary" prints and "unlovely" prints and "glaring" prints, they might have been right!

The prints that are still with us, and coming to us in increasing numbers are exquisite examples of a fine art, and are made up in ways that accentuate their own inherent loveliness. There's a sort of rightness or fitness about these prints, too—gay flowers and leaves in garden tints for afternoons, crisp plaids for mornings, and exotic conventionalized or romantic flowers for evening. There are printed organdies for youth and printed chiffons for maturity. There are amusing teddy-bear-and-dolly prints for our smart wee daughters and lavender-and-old-lacy prints for her chic grandmamma! But, as I say, there's not one that is ordinary, or ugly or glaring—and that's more than we can honestly say of prints in the past.

Cute ideas show in these prints. For instance, I recently saw a set of traveling pyjamas and kimona, made of flat crepe with a dark blue ground and a design of tiny, rushing trains, and another for boat travel of lighter blue, printed with ships and sloops and steamers to bear the traveler on gay trips. 'N' the way our beach attire gains much of its nauticality is in the prints used for blouses and jerseys, of boats and waves, clouds and sands, starfish and anchors!

• • • •

Try and draw a trousered tennis dress, and make it look anything like trousers without having your lovely lady either standing in an awkward position or a downright ungraceful one! I did the best I could, and I defy any one to do much better, in sketching for you an ideal tennis dress of my own design today.

The blouse doesn't tuck in, as you see, but hangs loosely like a bolero. The skirt with its pleats which conceal trousers, is on a separate band that fastens at the waist—if you've ever played tennis you can immediately see the comfort point in this skirt. You can wear the belt which is separate, or not wear it, just as you please. But here's the real wallop! For underwear you have under that bolero blouse one of our marvelous crocheted brassieres with elastic shoulder straps, and attached right to this brassiere a chemise and pantie step-in all-in-one, which is every stitch of underwear that you would have to wear with this dress! If you try to follow the dotted lines closely you'll see just about where this undergarment goes—and there you are inside and out for chic and tennis, or chic in tennis, if you prefer.

• • • •

And a hat to wear to and from the tennis court, which makes of your outfit just a chic summer resort dress, tennis or no. It has the newest in your very shallow crowns, and a several-colored wide band put on in a chic way.

• • • •

It isn't what you pay for your dress that counts—it's how you keep it! 'N' it isn't how long your evening gloves are, but how fresh, that makes all the difference. Every single one of us can keep our things always brand-new if we only know how—and you can know how if you send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for this week's helpful hints leaflet! Helpful hints—my deahs, they're just as good as having a personal French maid with you constantly, and much cheaper.

Au revoir!

What Today Means to You

"LEO."

IF July 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m., from noon to 2 p. m. and from 8:30 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 10:05 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Those who are ambitious of starting their own business, will find the planetary aspects in their favor on July 24. The venture could be made with less than the usual risk. It is a fertile mental period for individuals of an inventive turn of mind, and they will do extraordinarily good work.

Children born on this July 24 will possess an abundance of vitality. They will have attractive individualities and will always be decided characters. Possessing a very strong love nature, they will be both ardent and sincere in their affections. They will be kind and warm-hearted.

Born on July 24, you are moderate in all things and well balanced mentally. Although you do not proclaim your good qualities from the house tops, you appear to be a cut above your fellowmen. You are not a fiend, a crank, or a "fan." You never pose in anyway, or do things simply to create an effect. You are a normal, red-blooded, decent-living human being, with live emotions, natural desires and legitimate ambitions. You are not satisfied to see or know about one side of life, but are anxious for first-hand knowledge about sordid conditions as well as rosier nues of existence. You are brave enough to look real facts in the face, perhaps not always without blushing, but always without flinching.

As a friend you are tolerant, understanding and true. A complete absence of snobbery, a wide outlook and much sympathy, help to make you attractive to others. You never preach or take a "holier-than-thou" attitude. If a fellow-being needs help, and you can give it, you are ready to do so. Your generosity is extended to the unworthy as well as the worthy, from the usual standpoint of the world.

As a stuay, history probably takes the lead, and you may delve into philosophy and religion. You revere the sanctity of the home, and you fight to maintain your high ideals.

Successful people born July 24:

Henry Shaw, philanthropist.

O. Barton Hepburn, banker.

Culbertson on Contract

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

THE OPENING LEAD OF A SINGLETON.

"AND so you led a singleton." The reproach, pity and loathing sometimes heard in the voice of an opponent at the Bridge table, when this lead is made and results happily for the leader, is hard to describe and hard indeed to understand. I confess that sometimes when accused of this crime, to which I admit my guilt, I feel somewhat as though I were confessing a great fondness for opium or a taste for second-story work. The "sneak" lead gained its unpopularity from the name, which dates back to Whist days. This term is, of course, based on a false premise, so the conclusion also is faulty.

A singleton, it might be said, is a term used in Contract to describe the holding when there is only one of a suit in the hand.

The idea that still seems to persist with certain players, that a singleton lead is unworthy of a game of the high standard of Bridge, should be dispelled once and for all. The fact that its use at times may not be consistent with good Bridge is another matter entirely.

To lead at random a singleton in an attempt to gain an extra trick is not good Bridge. The weight of responsibility which rests upon leader in deciding upon an Opening or subsequent lead of a singleton is equally as great as that involved in deciding upon any other Opening or subsequent lead.

Before deciding upon the lead of a singleton, leader should consider carefully, not only the advantages and disadvantages of such lead, but what interpretation partner may place upon it if led. If singleton held is in some suit other than one bid by partner, its lead, when logical lead would be a card either of own or partner's declared suit, makes its reading as a probable singleton almost obligatory.

Also, the conventional manner of number showing—fourth best from four or more, top card from three or less, to show the number of cards of suit led held by leader—is an additional aid to interpretative skill in card reading. Frequently the denomination of the card led will mark it positively as a singleton, unless Declarer by false-carding, i. e., by playing an unnecessarily high card to trick, makes such identification more or less doubtful.

As heretofore stated, the question of whether or not to lead a singleton, either in partner's or some unbid suit, is not a matter of generalization, but of sound judgment in each individual instance, taking into consideration the bidding, the score and the cards and particular type of hand held.

This hand, taken from actual play, may prove interesting and instructive in illustrating the use of the singleton lead with types of hands which arise in everyday play. It forcibly shows that this lead, when combined with alertness of mind and proper card reading by partner, will frequently bring about successful results.

In the first example, the symmetry of suit division is observable in the two singletons, one each held by West and East. Under these conditions the opportunity for effective use of the singleton lead is much greater than it would be otherwise.

	♠ 7 5 2 ♥ A Q ♦ Q 10 5 4 3 ♣ A Q J
♠ 8 6 ♥ 6 5 3 ♦ 6 ♣ K 9 7 6 5 4 2	N W E S	♠ A 4 3 ♥ 9 8 4 2 ♦ A K J 8 2 ♣ 8
	♠ K Q J 10 9 ♥ K J 10 7 ♦ 9 ♣ 10 3

South finally secured the contract at four spades after North had made a Forcing Takeout on the basis of his 3-½ honor-tricks. A Forcing Takeout requires both partners to keep the bidding open until a game contract is reached. West opened his singleton diamond, a lead which would have been of little moment had it not been for the wise use which his partner made of his right to make the second lead.

East won the first trick with the Knave of diamonds and returned the 8 of clubs; a plainly indicated singleton, which Declarer won in Dummy, and led a small spade. East jumped up with the Ace and led a small diamond, which West trumped and returned a club, which East trumped, thus saving the game.

This defense, quite simple when explained, depended for its success upon East's recognition not only of the 8 of diamonds as a singleton but its relation as a singleton to reentry possibilities in West's hand to give East the desired ruff in clubs. Many players in East's position would not grasp this possibility or stop to think it out, but would blindly return either a low diamond for West to trump, or return the Ace and then a low diamond, hoping if South trumped third round that West might be able to overtrump.

A moment's thought on East part should show the folly of this defense. With the high cards in sight, South's spade holding to conform to the requirements for an Opening bid, should enable him to shut out West, not only once but twice, and still retain a sufficient number of high trumps to enable him to drop opponent's remaining trumps and go game. Hence, East's return of his singleton club, instead of a diamond, was good play.

Today's Pointer.

When partner has not made a bid, a Double of not more than one no-trump nor more than two in a suit is a Takeout Double.

Likewise it is a Takeout Double when Opening Hand bids a suit (but not notrump) and doubles on next round after a pass by partner.

It is also a Double for a Takeout: When Doubler, having failed to get a response from his partner (who was released from bidding by an intervening suit or notrump bid, doubles again on next round.

10,000 Persons Attend British Rulers' Party

London, July 23 (A.P.).—Ten thousand persons thronged the gardens of Buckingham Palace today for one of the rare garden parties given by King George and Queen Mary. Among the guests were some of the statesmen who have been conferring on the crisis in Germany.

Raspberries and cream were served in accordance with a custom which has almost become a garden party ritual.

Yachts Arrive to Take Second, Third Places

Plymouth, England, July 23 (A.P.).—The transatlantic racing yachts Landfall and Highland Light raced up Plymouth Harbor today to finish second and third in the 3,000-mile voyage from Newport, R. I., the English boat, Landfall, finishing ten minutes ahead of her smaller rival.

The unofficial times were 4:20 and 4:30 p. m. (11:20 and 11:30 a. m., Eastern standard time).

Action Challenges Control Over Radio

Constitutionality of the radio act of 1927 was challenged yesterday by Norman Baker, of Muscatine, Iowa, owner of Station KTNT, which was ruled off the air last month by the Radio Commission for alleged indecent broadcasting, in a suit filed in the District Supreme Court.

The suit seeks to compel the commission to revoke the order. An appeal to the Court of Appeals already had been taken by Baker. In the suit he claimed the radio act's requirement that operators of broadcasting stations in use before passage of the act waive claims to particular wave lengths was unconstitutional.

He declared the provision in violation of the constitutional guarantee of free speech.

PRESIDENT CAN NOT PLACE OIL EMBARGO

Mitchell Rules That Hoover Has No Authority for Such Action.

(Associated Press.)

Attorney General Mitchell yesterday ruled that under existing laws President Hoover has no authority to place an embargo on oil merely because of domestic overproduction.

The ruling was a result of President Hoover referring to the Attorney General several hundred telegrams and letters from the West and the Southwest asking the Chief Executive to invoke such an embargo.

Michtell said in a lengthy ruling the question for decision was whether unfair methods of competition and unfair acts in the importation of articles in the United States had been disclosed.

"In other words," he said, "the question is whether the mere importation of oil into the United States in the ordinary course of business is an unfair method of competition or an unfair act within the meaning of the tariff law merely because the importation may have the effect of depressing an already glutted market.

"I find no basis," he added, "for the conclusion that the importation of oil under these conditions constitutes an unfair method of competition or an unfair act within the meaning of the tariff act."

The phrase "unfair methods of competition," which is used in the tariff act, the Attorney General said, has a well-defined legal meaning, and there is no suggestion that the importation of articles into the United States constitutes competition or unfair trade merely because there is already an oversupply within the United States.

Topeka, July 23 (A.P.).—Informed United States Attorney General Mitchell had ruled President Hoover has no authority to declare an embargo on importation of oil, Thurman Hill, member of the Kansas Public Service Commission, said today, "It's now up to Congress to take the action."

Commissioner Hill has joined with the group advocating an embargo on the ground foreign oil imports have contributed in a large measure to unstabilized conditions in the industry in the United States and to the prevailing low prices for crude.

Desk, Chair Deal Held Up by McCarl

Comptroller Says That Bid to Government Was Not Lowest.

(Associated Press.)

Contracts between the W. D. Campbell Co. and the Government for wooden desks and chairs to be purchased for Government departments in the coming year are being held up by a disagreement between Comptroller General McCarl and the Treasury.

The contract was awarded to the Campbell Co. over the bid of the Commercial Furniture Co., which was lower. McCarl ruled that no payments could be made to the Campbell Co. because it was not the low bidder.

The Treasury, however, awarded the contract to Campbell Co. on the grounds that the Commercial Furniture Co. had not made its bids according to specifications outlined in the invitation to submit proposals. The Treasury is contesting McCarl's decision. It declined to say how much money was involved in the contract.

Cash Register Reports $864,884 Net Profits

Dayton, Ohio, July 23 (A.P.).—Net profit of $864,884.30 was earned by the National Cash Register Co. for the second quarter of 1931, F. B. Patterson, president, announced today.

This is equivalent to 54 cents a share on combined "A" and "B" stocks, or 72 cents a share on the Class "A" stock. Earnings for the second quarter of 1930 were $773,464.58, equivalent to 48 cents a share on the combined stocks, or 65 cents on the Class "A" stock.

Loan Repayments By Farmers Begun

Way Drought Sufferers Meet Obligations Wins Approval.

(Associated Press.)

The Government is well satisfied with the way farmers who received drought loans after last year's withering dry spell are living up to their obligations.

Inspectors of the Agriculture Department's seed loan office have found that practically every one has kept his agreement to plant and cultivate carefully the crops upon which the Government took a lien for security.

Many repayments already have been made, G. L. Hoffman, the director, said yesterday. Mostly, however, they are small amounts. One farmer paid 1 cent to the Memphis regional office as his first installment. Larger payments will be made later when the major crops are harvested.

One hundred and ten loans have been made in North Dakota and Montana, where the loans were recently reopened to enable drought sufferers to buy feed for live stock.

District Clerk Sets Preaching Record

Veteran Employe to Visit 150 Colored Pulpits; Two Each Night.

For the majority of District government employes 4:30 p. m. is the end of the day's work and time for rest and play, but for Francis Wells, veteran colored clerk in the office of Daniel E. Garges, secretary of the Board of District Commissioners, it's just the beginning.

While not announcing it as such, Wells is out for the endurance preaching contest record of the District of Columbia and perhaps the United States.

All this week he has been appearing at two colored churches nightly, and he plans to preach at every one of the 150 before he stops. As a final gesture, he intends to gather four or five thousand of his followers behind the White House and lead them to President Hoover, before whom they will take a pledge of allegiance to their country.

Parents of Dare-Devil Doubt Trip Over Falls

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 23 (A.P.). Although more than 100,000 persons saw Jean Lussier, hardy French Canadian, go over the Horseshoe Falls in a specially constructed rubber ball on July 4, 1928, and can affirm that Lussier successfully made the trip, it took the combined arguments of Jean and William (Red) Hill, noted falls rivermen, to convince Lussier's parents that their son really performed the stunt.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lussier, of Magog, Quebec, today saw the cataracts for the first time. But when they looked at the tumbling waters, surging rapids and clouds of mist they declared flatly that they did not believe it possible for a human to make the plunge and live.

Surgeon Leaves Estate Valued at $6,798,754

New York, July 23 (A.P.).—Dr. Eugene Fuller, retired surgeon, who died in Seattle, June 4, 1930, left an estate valued at $6,798,754 net, according to a transfer tax appraisal filed today by Deputy State Tax Commissioner Maurice A. Stephenson. The bulk of the estate, virtually all of which was in securities, goes to the widow and two children.

KING CAROL ATTENDS PRE-MARITAL RITES

Bucharest, Roumania, July 23 (A. P.).—King Carol, Crown Prince Michael and Dowager Queen Marie headed a list of royalty, which attended a special church mass at Sinaia today, the first of the ceremonies connected with the coming wedding of Princess Ileana and Archduke Anton of Hapsburg.

The ceremony, which is the only one of the wedding events to be performed under the rites of the Greek Catholic Church, was conducted by the Roumanian Patriarch Miron Christea.

Others among the attendants were Prince Nicholas of Roumania, Archduke Leopold Salvator, Archduke Anton's father, and Archduchess Marguerite, his sister.

Other ceremonies in connection with the wedding will be performed according to rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

The decision of King Alexander of Jugoslavia, brother-in-law of Princess Ileana, not to attend the wedding was attributed in Roumanian court circles partly to the attitude of King Carol toward former Queen Helen, between whom King Alexander is said to have atempted to effect a reconciliation. The Jugoslavian king's decision was said also to be partly diplomatic, however. It was asserted that he did not wish to give color to reports that his attendance at the wedding of a Hapsburg prince implied encouragement of the rumored intention of Archduke Otto to make a bid for the Hungarian throne.

Mercury Drops Into Sixties As Downpour Cools Capital

A steady downpour, interspersed with thunder and lightning, gave Washington a final impetus toward heat relief last night and today is expected to be one of the coolest since the first warm days arrived. Continued showers are probable.

Breezes, with an almost springlike snap, cooled by the drenching rain, floated through the open windows of Washington homes throughout the night, causing hasty hunts for blankets that had long been stored away and sending the thermometer down the scale into the sixties.

There were no heat prostrations reported yesterday for the first time in several days. A maximum temperature of 90 degrees was registered at the United States Weather Bureau at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The official low temperature was 71 at 6 o'clock in the morning. The maximum temperature on the preceding day was 90 at 6 o'clock in the afternoon. The humidity reached a high mark of 70 per cent at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, but was unusually low most of the day.

The highest temperature at the kiosk on Pennsylvania avenue was 94 at 4 o'clock. The lowest was 76 at 8 o'clock in the morning. The humidity maximum was 80 per cent at 4 o'clock. The temperature will be about the same today, according to the forecast.

Titans of Business Receive Coal Bids

Harriman, Mellon, Insull and Rockefeller Get Parley Letters.

(Associated Press.)

A report on the possibilities of a general conference of labor and capital on the ills of the bituminous coal industry is to be submitted soon to President Hoover.

Secretaries Doak and Lamont yesterday made public the names of 125 operators who were being asked if they were willing to attend such a gathering and if they thought it could produce any beneficial accomplishments.

Among the operators to whom the inquiry was addressed were John D. Rockefeller, jr., R. B. Mellon, F. E. Harriman and Samuel Insull, jr.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Ray Senusky

PAYING THE PIPER

THIS EXPRESSION COMES FROM THE OLD GERMAN LEGEND ABOUT THE PIED PIPER WHO WAS HIRED BY THE TOWN OF HAMELIN TO RID IT OF RATS. WHEN THE CITY OFFICIALS REFUSED TO PAY HIM, HE LURED ALL THE CHILDREN OF HAMELIN INTO A HOLE IN THE SIDE OF A HILL WHICH CLOSED AFTER THEM, AND THUS MADE THEM PAY THE PIPER.

YEOMAN SERVICE

THROUGH MANY CENTURIES OF ENGLISH HISTORY THE BRAVEST SOLDIERS WERE CALLED YEOMEN. THEIR RENOWN HAS CAUSED US TO USE THE EXPRESSION "YEOMAN SERVICE" IN REFERRING TO ANY GREAT AND LOYAL SERVICE.

JACKANAPES

THIS NAME FOR IMPERTINENT OR CONCEITED BOYS WAS FIRST APPLIED TO PET APES IN THE 15TH CENTURY. MONKEYS WERE FIRST BROUGHT INTO ENGLAND FROM NAPLES AND WERE HUMOROUSLY CALLED "JACK O' NAPLES," LATER CORRUPTED TO JACKANAPES.

TOMORROW—"Kismet" or Fate; "High Stepper;" Origin of "Calaboose."

SOME HOT WEATHER HINTS.

DR. FRANK MARSH holds that sunstroke, heat stroke and heat cramps are nothing more than different symptoms and disorders growing out of the same cause. It is his opinion that sunstroke is due to heat and not to electric rays or parts of light rays that can not be detected. The variation in salt content of the body and blood is a very important factor. Acidosis is the outstanding cause. His experiments showed that there was a great increase in body acids, particularly in lactic acid, in sunstroke.

When the atmosphere air is at 50 degrees and the human body is at rest, the excess heat made by the life processes is easily given off by conduction. The moister the air the better the conduction works. When the air reaches 70 degrees conduction is not equal to the task of keeping down bodily heat and evaporation of perspiration helps out. For this latter process dry air is much superior to wet. At first perspiration is insensible.

As the temperature rises the perspiration accumulates in beads and runs in streams. When the temperature of the atmosphere reaches blood heat conduction goes out of business and perspiration carries on as the agency for cooling. The drier the atmosphere the more effective is perspiration.

When the atmosphere is saturated with water and the temperature reaches 90, the body begins to go into a fever. Bodily temperature goes out of control.

The skin and the kidneys throw off much salt in solution. If the atmospheric temperature rises high perspiration rolls off the skin and the kidneys, in order to conserve salt and water, slow down to almost nothing. If an insufficient amount of salt and water is consumed presently the blood becomes deficient in both.

When the kidneys slow down the blood supply of salt and water is conserved. Salty fluids drain out of the tissues into the blood, causing some increase in its saltiness and its volume. But there is a limit beyond which these processes can not go. Presently, perspiration slows down. But, meanwhile, temperature is going down, salt content is falling and acidity is accumulating. The man develops heat cramps or heat stroke. If he is a whisky drinker, or is infected with malaria, he will go into this condition more quickly than he otherwise would.

It has been proposed that plenty of slightly salt water be consumed as a preventive measure. Dr. Frank Marsh, who has practiced on the employes of the Anglo-Persian Oil Co. on the hot plains of Persia, says:

"Prophylactic treatment is effective. He advocates putting persons overcome by heat in the cold storage room of an ice plant until they can be removed to certain refrigerated hospitals, where such cases are almost certainly and completely cured.

Several physicians discussed Dr. Marsh's paper. All were agreed as to the advantage of the refrigeration treatment, but there was disagreement as to the unity of sunstroke and heat stroke. Some advocated injections of soda solution to overcome the acidity.

ANEMIA.

G. L. W. writes: 1. Is it true that women who are anemic can not bear children. 2. When is anemia dangerous?

REPLY.

1. No.

2. When it is of the kind known as pernicious. Other forms of anemia are hardly serious of themselves.

SYMPTOMS OF CIRRHOSIS.

REPLY.

Among the symptoms are dropsy of the abdomen. Later on the dropsy may extend to the legs. On examination the liver is found to be small and the abdomen full of fluid. Secondary symptoms are indigestion, great weakness, enlargement of the veins of the abdominal walls, intestinal and gastric hemorrhage and jaundice. Death results.

HAVING ACCUSED PROF. PRESTON OF THE MURDER OF DR. CLYMER, INSPECTOR KEENE CONTINUED TO EXPLAIN THE TELLTALE CLUES
ANOTHER THING, PROFESSOR, THAT MADE ME SUSPICIOUS OF YOU FROM THE START, WAS THE FACT THAT YOU IMMEDIATELY CALLED THE POLICE INSTEAD OF A DOCTOR. A DOCTOR MIGHT HAVE REVIVED THE MAN AND ALSO SAVED YOU ANY UNPLEASANT PUBLICITY
BAH!
TO COVER YOUR CRIME YOU PLANTED THOSE BLOW-GUN DARTS IN STANFIELD'S OVERCOAT POCKETS AND YOU THOUGHT THAT HE WOULD BE SUSPECTED BECAUSE OF HIS HATRED FOR CLYMER AND CONVICTED BY THE DARTS! RIDICULOUS!! THE MOMENT THE DARTS WERE DISCOVERED I KNEW STANFIELD WAS INNOCENT!!
THEN, TOO, YOU WERE SO CERTAIN THAT A FUSE HAD BLOWN OUT, WHEN IT MIGHT EASILY HAVE BEEN TROUBLE AT THE POWER HOUSE, CAUSED BY THE TERRIFIC STORM. LATER ON I FOUND THAT YOU HAD FIXED THE BUZZER UNDER THE TABLE SO THAT WHEN YOU PRESSED IT AS DR. CLYMER STOOD UP, IT SHORT-CIRCUITED THE LIGHTS LEAVING HIM SILHOUETTED AGAINST THE WINDOW, AN EASY TARGET IN THE DARK!!
AND NO
YOU USED A POISONED ARROW IN YOUR BLOW-GUN AND CLYMER EVIDENTLY KNEW WHAT HAD STRUCK HIM. HE GROPED HIS WAY TO THE PHONE IN THE LIBRARY BUT WAS UNABLE TO DO MORE THAN WHISPER "POLICE" BEFORE DROPPING!!
YOU WENT OUT TO THE KITCHEN AND EVIDENTLY SUCCEEDED IN SHOVING YOUR BLOW-GUN IN THE STOVE WHEN THE CHEF TURNED TO GET YOU A SPOON TO TASTE THE SOUP. I FOUND THE ASHES, PROFESSOR!!
AND NOW, WHY DID YOU KILL CLYMER? BECAUSE YOU FELT SURE THAT HE WAS GOING TO MARRY YOUR NIECE AND WARD AND, HAVING SPECULATED WITH HER FORTUNE IN THE MARKET HOPING TO RETRIEVE YOUR OWN GREAT LOSSES YOU KNEW THAT YOU WOULD BE UNABLE TO TURN OVER HER FORTUNE TO HER THE DAY SHE MARRIED, ACCORDING TO HER FATHER'S WILL!! DATE OF DEDICATION FOR TEMPLE IS SET

Alexandria Masonic Structure to Be in Readiness by Next May.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

May 13, 1932, has been set as the date for the dedication of the new $5,000,000 George Washington Masonic National Memorial Temple, J. Claude Keiper, secretary of the memorial association, told the Alexandria Kiwanis Club at its weekly luncheon yesterday in the George Mason Hotel. Masons from all sections of the United States, according to Mr. Keiper, will come to Alexandria for the dedicatory exercises, and during the second week in May of next year gatherings will be held of the Grand Masters' Conference, the Grand Secretaries' Conference, the Masonic Service Association, and the National League of Masonic Clubs, all in the new temple.

The movement for the building of the memorial temple was launched 21 years ago, the original idea being to erect a building for the safe keeping of the priceless relics of George Washington, now the property of Alexandria-Washington Lodge. The movement soon grew to national proportions, however, and aid was pledged by every grand jurisdiction in the United States, and a national association was formed, with Mr. Keiper as secretary, which position he has held since.

Plans were prepared and the project was enlarged from time to time, until about eight years ago when actual construction was commenced. The exterior work has now been completed, and one auditorium has been in use for more than a year. Construction work has been suspended each year during the winter months, so that the work might be done under the most favorable weather conditions, and thus assure permanency.

Charles H. Callahan, who introduced the project originally, and Percy Cranford, the builder of the temple, were introduced to yesterday's meeting.

Mr. Keiper was introduced by H. E. Gentry. The entertainment program included Scotch selections by Duncan Thompson. D. C. Book, vice president of the club, presided.

Several amendments to the proposed new zoning ordinance were made by the city council at a conference Wednesday night between that body and the zoning commission. It was then decided that a special meeting of the city council would be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, which will be open to the public, at which final action on the ordinance as amended will be taken. The informal meeting of the council scheduled for yesterday was omitted. The council will shortly adjourn for the summer, as is customary, and will not convene until September.

The question of compensation for members of the zoning commission was brought up by Mayor Edmund F. Ticer, and the members of the commission were asked to agree on what they consider a fair compensation. In the meantime the city will obtain figures from other Virginia cities as to the amount paid for similar work. The work of the commission is practically completed, but it was stated the judge of the Corporation Court will be called upon later to appoint a board of appeals which will function on all appeal cases, as prescribed by law. The zoning commission is composed of George E. Garrett, chairman; John U. Reardon, secretary; Nicholas J. Lawler, Louis Kane and Ben B. Ezrine.

Attorneys J. Randall Caton, jr., and John Barton Phillips have been named trustees for the purpose of arranging for the liquidation of the affairs of the Snyder-Kane-Boothe Corporation, realtors, and at 3 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon the trustees will make a report to the creditors with the proposed assignment.

More than 50 persons attended the meeting of creditors at which this action was taken. Carroll Pierce, president of the Citizens National Bank, presided, and Richard L. Ruffner acted as secretary. Gardner L. Boothe 2d, a member of the firm, gave an outline of the affairs of the company.

The Alexandria Ministerial Association has announced the schedule for the union services to begin on Sunday next, as follows:

Sunday, July 26, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, the Rev. Dr. William J. Mirton, preaching; August 2, in Christ Episcopal Church, the Rev. Pierce S. Ellis; August 9, Methodist Episcopal Church South, the Rev. William McDougal; August 16, in Trinity Methodist Church, the Rev. William McDougal; August 23, in the First Baptist Church, the Rev. Dr. D. L. Snyder, and August 30 in the Methodist Episcopal Church South, the Rev. N. A. Lineweaver. Members of the various church choirs are expected to sing at these services.

George Nelson Proctor, aged 59 years, of Alexandria and Washington, died at noon yesterday in a hospital at Hampton, Va., as a result of a compound fracture at the base of the skull, from a fall on the floor of the Chamberlin-Vanderbilt Hotel, at Old Point Comfort on Wednesday. He was taken to the hospital at Hampton and an operation was performed that night in the hopes of saving his life. George F. Birrell, of this city, a nephew, left on Wednesday night for Hampton and will bring the body to this city today, when funeral arrangements will be made.

The deceased was a brother of Mrs. J. Fred Birrell, of this city and has a sister, Mrs. Rose Proctor Hartman, living in Washington.

Charles E. Redmond, aged 77 years, died Wednesday at the home of his niece, Mrs. Beartine Entwisle, 535 North Columbus street. The funeral will be held today in Baltimore, Md.

Roosevelt Bowles, Negro, died in the Alexandria Hospital as a result of having both arms almost completely severed by a threshing machine on the farm of Eugene Makeley, at Fairfax, Va., on Wednesday evening. Dr. S. B. Moore amputated both arms just above the elbow. Dr. T. Marshall Jones, coroner, gave a verdict of accidental death.

Pastors Will Be Honored.

The members of the Crossman Methodist Church at Falls Church will hold a reception this evening in the home of Guy N. Church on Washington street in honor of the retiring pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. George Connor, and the new pastor and his bride, the Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Wilcox. The Rev. Mr. Connor will go to a pastorate at Congress Heights, D. C.

Barn Blaze Costing $2,000 Is Believed Set by Child, 3

Boy Urges, "Don't Spank Me, Mamma," as Flames Are Noticed; Hay, Two Horses and Bird Dog Lost; Falls Church Firemen Called.

Fire, believed to have been set by a 3-year-old son of Arthur E. Duffin, living on the Mount Olivet road near Franklin Park, on the Arlington-Fairfax County lines, completely destroyed a large barn, several tons of hay, two horses and a valuable bird-dog, owned by Mr. Duffin.

The blaze was discovered shortly before 7 o'clock yesterday evening when Charles came running to the house crying "Don't spank me mamma." The family seated around the dinner table looked out the door and saw the barn completely enveloped in flames. Mr. Duffin rushed to the barn in an attempt to save his team, but was unsuccessful in his efforts as the flames had made rapid headway fanned by a brisk wind.

About the same time Mr. Duffin's niece, Helen Payne, living next door, saw the flames and called the telephone operator, asking for the Falls Church Fire Department, about a mile from the scene. According to Miss Payne, when she told the operator she wished to report a fire, she was told to "wait a minute and I will give you the supervisor." When she got the supervisor and told her about the fire, she stated that the operator said: "Never mind, we will take care of the call." Miss Payne and other members of the family stated that it was about 20 minutes before the first fire engine arrived.

Firemen last night criticized the telephone operator for not immediately notifying the department. The firemen plan to protest to the Arlington County officials the action of the operator in an effort to correct what they termed a "blunder."

When the firemen arrived they were hampered by the lack of water, and the five companies confined their efforts to keeping the flames from spreading to the house. Loss was estimated to be $2,000.

BIDS ON FURNITURE FOR COURTHOUSE IN Montgomery Officials Plan to Inspect Samples and Make Awards.

Bids for furniture for the new Montgomery County courthouse were opened by the commissioners at their meeting yesterday, but the contract will not be awarded until after the board has inspected the samples offered. This will be done next Tuesday, with a possibility that the winning bidders will be selected on July 30.

The lowest bid for the steel furniture was received from Lucas Brothers, with a figure of $29,263.12, while the General Fireproofing Co. was next, with a price of $29,738.43. There are 409 pieces of steel furniture named in the specifications.

Optional Classifications.

Another classification of the specifications calls for some of the furniture to be wood and some steel. For the steel portion, the lowest price was offered by the General Fireproofing Co., which quoted a sum of $23,437.06. Next to this firm was the Art Metal Construction Co., which quoted $26,684.72. The wood portion brought a low bid of $9,836.65 from the Macey Co., with the Shaw Walker Co. next, its figure being $11,587.13.

The preceding schedules did not include chairs, which may be either of wood or aluminum. Low bidder on wood chairs was the Art Metal Construction Co., which quoted $5,738.88. Next was the Shaw Walker Co., with a price of $6,241.15. The General Fireproofing Co. was low bidder on the aluminum chair item, quoting $8,027.33. The Art Metal Construction Co. was next, with $8,038.24.

The figures shown by the bids opened yesterday prove that the lowest price for which the courthouse can be furnished is $36,002. This would mean the purchase of all-steel furniture and wood chairs from the lowest bidder in each class.

At their meeting yesterday the commissioners also authorized the Suburban Sanitary Commission to buy $20,000 worth of bonds of the State of Louisiana for their sinking fund. Before the purchase can be made, however, a similar authorization must be made by the Prince Georges County Commissioners, who exercise joint supervision over the commission.

The board yesterday appointed Frank Lane, town officer of Takoma Park, as a constable for that district.

Bible School Ends At Idylwood Today

22 Children Have Been Taking Course at Presbyterian Church.

The daily vacation Bible school at the Presbyterian Church at Idylwood will close this morning. Enrollment of the school has been 22 children under 14 years of age. Mrs. George Cook, wife of the pastor, has had charge of the school assisted by Miss Louise Owens, in charge of the girls' handiwork classes, and Herbert Taylor and Paul Hallman, the boys' carpentry classes.

The daily Bible school in the Wesley Methodist Church at Vienna will close Sunday. It has been conducted by the Rev. Ralph Wott, pastor, and Miss Dorothy Hudson, of the National Methodist Educational Board of New York, assisted by Mrs. Gilbert Winslow, Mrs. Samuel Scrivener and Mrs. Augusta Hibbs. Formal graduation will take place Sunday evening in the Vienna church when pupils will present a biblical pageant and receive their diplomas.

Lee District Grays Will Meet.

The Lee District Improvement Association will meet this evening in the Sydenstricker School House. This meeting will take the place of the July meeting of the local school league. Problems concerning the improvement of the roads and highways in Lee district will be discussed.

HYATTSVILLE WINS WIDER BOULEVARD

Baltimore Road to Be Made 36 Feet Within Town, Mayor Announces.

Baltimore boulevard will be widened to 36 feet within the boundaries of Hyattsville, it has been decided by the Maryland State Roads Commission. Original plan was to widen the highway to 32 feet from the railroad bridge to the Bladensburg town line.

Mayor L. L. Gray of Hyattsville announced the change of plan. He was one of those who was working for a wider road. He also announced that the State will build sidewalks on each side of the boulevard when the other work is completed. J. Spence Howard, town engineer, was directed to look after the town's interests in the widening and to see that all poles erected on new streets are put inside the sidewalks next to property lines.

Seventy-five cases of liquor, 450 gallons, spoils of the Prince Georges police war on liquor in the last month, were destroyed yesterday while crowds looked on. Three men worked two hours to break up the half-gallon jars which contained the contraband.

The liquor, which was worth about $10 a case, was destroyed on Rhode Island avenue at the Eastern Branch. Police engaged in the work said that cars of spectators lined the road for a quarter of a mile in each direction.

Funeral service will be today at the home of George N. Palmer in Seat Pleasant for his mother, Mrs. Mary Palmer, who died Wednesday at the age of 86. She had been ill for some time. Burial will be in Congressional Cemetery.

Although a native of Alexandria, Mrs. Palmer had lived in Seat Pleasant 25 years. Her son, George N. Palmer, with whom she lived, is chairman of the Democratic central committee for the county. Mrs. Palmer was an active worker in the Seat Pleasant Methodist Episcopal Church.

Beside the son with whom she lived she is survived by another son, Joseph W. Palmer, and two daughters, Mrs. Adelaide Barnes and Mrs. Frank Duvall. Her husband, Joseph M. Palmer, died several years ago.

Thomas Mohler, jr., has been elected captain of the Tuxedo Volunteer Fire Company, in place of George Whitehouse, who resigned because of business.

The Seat Pleasant company has elected delegates to annual convention of the County Firemens Association, in Upper Marlboro August 8. They are Clarence Mace, Edward Hayes, J. Theodore Crown, Walter Maloney and Ralph White. Alternates are Paul Fowler, Lucian Duffy, Edward Dudley, Wilmer Greenwell and Wilfred Phelps.

Annual convention of the Prince Georges County Women's Christian Temperance Union will be at the Methodist Church in Brentwood September 2, members of the Mount Rainier-Brentwood union acting as hostesses. Sessions will be held in the afternoon and evening, with supper served in the church.

The convention committee is headed by Mrs. Herbert Roby and includes Mrs. J. R. Allen, Mrs. H. E. Longley, Mrs. W. N. Mahaffey, Mrs. J. S. Severe, Mrs. O. N. Eaton, Mrs. E. C. Helm and Mrs. E. W. Cawthorne.

Republican Convention Will Open Tonight

The Arlington County Republican convention for the nomination of five candidates for the county board will be held in the Odd Fellows' Hall at Clarendon tonight at 8 o'clock.

Menalcus Langford, of Norfolk, Republican member of Congress, is announced as the principal speaker. Candidates for the nomination for county board, as announced, are the following: Thomas D. Baille, Fred A. Gosnell, Louis C. Carl, W. R. Rose, William E. Wolfe and C. Herbert Bowbeer.

Antibear Ordinance Urged On Council of Falls Church

The Falls Church, Va., town council was asked to pass on an antibear ordinance by Harry Fellows, of East Falls Church, a former mayor of the town, at its meeting Wednesday evening. The request is an outgrowth of the excitement last Monday, when two bears belonging to R. L. Makeley escaped from their cage, injuring several persons and endangering others. One of the bears was killed by Deputy Sheriff Paul Herrman, of Fairfax County, after it had been at large several hours. The other was captured and restored to its cage. Mayor L. P. Daniel stated that Mr. Makeley, the owner of the bear, who is out of town at the present time, has been notified to remove the surviving bear outside of the town's jurisdiction.

The council altered the position it took at a previous meeting in regard to the connecting link of the Lee boulevard at Fort Buffalo. The council voted to sustain the plea of the residents of the town living on Broad street who have stated they believe the street entirely too narrow and inadequate for an arterial highway. Another resolution was adopted addressed to the State Highway Commission indorsing the original plan to construct the new road south of Broad street to connect with the Lee highway west of the junction of the Falls Church-Annandale road on the Lee highway.

The council approved the recommendation of the town water committee to extend a main west along the Lee highway to the McGrath property.

BIG DROP REVEALED IN FAIRFAX FARMS

1,244 Listed for 1930, as Compared With 2,253 Ten Years Ago.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

Proof that Fairfax County is rapidly becoming a suburban section instead of agricultural is shown in figures recently made public by the United States Census Bureau which were taken from the 1930 census tables.

Comparative figures with the 1920 statistics show that the number of farms in the county has been cut almost in half. In 1920 there were 2,253 farms which increased to 2,367 in 1925. Last year, however, only 1,244 farms were listed. Of this number 1,159 were operated by white persons and 85 by colored, while in 1920 there were 2,033 white farmers and 220 colored.

The census table shows that 1,793 persons in 1920 owned their farms in full as compared with 965 persons last year. The land owned in full in 1920 comprised 121,675 acres as compared with 86,923 acres in 1930; 113 persons were part owners in 1930, controlling 9,871 acres as compared with 109 part owners in 1920. At present 9,080 acres are in the hands of managers and 17,752 acres controlled by tenant farmers. Tenant farmers ten years ago numbered 304, while last year only 140 persons rented farms.

Last year's statistics show that there were eight farms of less than 3 acres each reporting, with total of 14 acres, as against seven farms and 13 acres in 1920. There were 129 farms from 3 to 9 acres covering a total of 757 acres, as compared with 277 farms and 1,615 acres in 1920. Farms from 10 to 20 acres numbered 146, controlling 1,984 acres in 1930, decreasing from 369 farms controlling 5,566 acres 10 years ago. There were 285 farms up to 50 acres, covering 9,439 acres, last year, compared with 557 farms covering 17,745 acres in 1920. During the 10-year period farms averaging between 50 and 100 acres decreased from 487 with 33,790 acres to 276, with 19,097, last year. In 1930 there were 227 farms between 100 and 175 acres, controlling 29,253 acres, a decrease from 311 farms controlling 39,722 acres in 1930.

The number of larger farms also shows a decrease. There were 91 farms from 175 to 260 acres in 1930, as against 136 farms of a like acreage in 1920. There were 59 farms having between 260 and 500 acres, controlling 19,693 acres, as compared with 89 farms, controlling 30,238 acres, in 1920. The farms from 500 to 1,000 acres were practically unchanged during the 10-year period. In 1930 16 farms contained 10,462 acres and the 17 farms in 1920 contained 10,636 acres. Only 7 farms contained more than 1,000 acres, totaling 14,257 acres in 1930, as compared with 3 farms totaling 6,700 acres in 1920.

In 1920 farm land and buildings were valued at $16,632,280 and in 1930, although a portion of Fairfax County had been annexed by the City of Alexandria to withdraw more than 50,000 acres from farming, the farm land and buildings were valued at $16,897,827. This indicates a raise in values because of suburban growth. The average value of land and buildings per farm increased from $7,382 in 1920 to $13,583 in 1930. The average value of land and buildings per acre increased from $95.49 to $136.69 during the ten-year period. During the same time the value of farm implements and machinery dropped from $839,059 in 1920 to $589,830 in 1930. The value of white holdings increased from $15,999,149 to $16,535,947 and that of colored persons decreased from $6,033,131 to $361,880 during the ten-year term.

Jury Gives Woman $5,000 Bus Damages

After hearing testimony in the case of Louie Etta Cheyney, of Livingstone Heights, Arlington County, against the Washington-Maryland-Virginia Coach Co for $20,000 damages for four days, the jury yesterday evening, deliberating less than two hours, returned a $5,000 verdict for the plaintiff.

Action was based on injuries claimed to have been suffered on the morning of December 29, 1930, when an Army truck is said to have crashed into the bus at the intersection of K and Twenty-first streets northwest. Attorneys Amos C. Crounse, of Arlington County; Harry Kennedy and H. Mason Welch, of Washington, represented the defendant, while State Senator Frank L. Ball appeared for the plaintiff.

Eustace J. Hill Seeks Divorce in Montgomery

Alleging that his wife, Mrs. Emma L. Hill, was unfaithful to him, Eustace J. Hill yesterday filed suit for absolute divorce in Montgomery County Circuit Court. They were married in 1918, the petition says, and lived together until last year, when he was forced, by her actions, to leave her.

The bill, which gives Mrs. Hill's address as Lay Hill, Md., also states that they have no children.

ASSASSINS KILL AID TO SOONG IN CHINA

Shanghai, July 23 (A.P.).—Two bombs and a fusillade of bullets directed at T. V. Soong, finance minister and vice chairman of the Nationalist government, missed their mark here today, but fatally injured Soong's secretary, Tang Yu-Loh.

Six other Chinese were injured, some of them apparently by Soong's bodyguard in answering the fire of the unidentified assassins.

Tang died at a hospital shortly afterward. He was 32 years old, a graduate of Yale University, and was recently married.

The attack was launched just after Soong and his party arrived by train from Nanking. The bombs failed to explode when thrown, but one of them later was discharged when picked up by a soldier. He was possibly fatally wounded. A Cantonese student was arrested in connection with the incident.

New Haven, Conn., July 23 (A.P.). Tang Yu-Loh, secretary to T. V. Soong, finance minister of the National government, who was fatally wounded today in an attack by other Chinese at Shanghai, was a graduate of Yale College, class of 1920.

After graduation, Tang taught in the English department of Southeastern University, Shanghai, for a time, and then became subeditor of the Chinese Press, of the same city. His father graduated from Edinburg University in 1899.

Festival Program Is Set for Tonight

Fort Humphreys Band Will Play; Folk Dances Are to Be Given.

Opening at 7:30 o'clock tonight with a concert by the Thirteenth U. S. Engineers Band, from Fort Humphreys, Va., to be led by Warrant Officer Ludwig Seitz, the third festival program in the 1931 summer series, at the Sylvan Theater will present a varied arrangement of folk dances, by boys and girls of Neighborhood House, to be followed by the two-act Chinese operetta, "The Feast of Si Ling Chi."

The folk dances, to be repeated by request, are those which Neighborhood House groups gave on the lawn of the White House on Easter Monday.

Capital Man Denied Plea in Hotel Case

Stockholders Who Have Not Given Par Value Must Pay in Wilmington.

Wilmington, Del., July 23 (A.P.).—Chancellor J. O. Wolcott in the suit of Leslie M. Shaw and Alice C. Shaw against the Lincoln Hotel Corporation, has granted a petition of the receiver that an assessment be levied on stockholders who have not paid the par value of their stock, to raise funds to pay creditors of the company.

The chancellor denied application of Joseph H. Himes, of Washington, to appear specially to protest against entering a decree against him. The chancellor ruled the petitioner would have to pay what is due to make good the assessment notwithstanding his absence from this jurisdiction.

The petition of the receivers said that the claims against the company amounted to $80,230, and that there were practically no assets available except unpaid stock subscriptions.

Boy Who Lost Feet In Mower Survives

Hospital Says Condition of Maryland Lad Is Unchanged.

The condition of Francis Ricketts, 9 years old, whose feet were cut off in a mowing machine near Rockville, Md., Wednesday, was reported unchanged last night at Georgetown Hospital.

The boy was injured when he fell from the machine into the path of the blades. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Ricketts, he had been watching the machine at work when the operator, William O. Watkins, left it. Watkins, on whose farm the accident happened, said he heard the mower start and ran back to the find the child with one foot entirely severed and the other nearly off.

The boy is thought to have climbed to the seat and fallen when the horses started. He was first treated by Dr. C. E. Hawks and then brought to the hospital.

About The Showshops

With NELSON B. BELL

WITHOUT pretense to any particular perspicacity, this column ventures the guess that it could lay its finger on a considerable covey of celluloid entrepreneurs who would wish with all their hearts, if they knew about them, that the figures set forth in the August issue of the business magazine, Fortune, might turn out to be true.

From the advance clip sheet that has come to this desk, presumably from the publication itself, I gather that Fortune is of the opinion that the motion picture industry is the greatest bonanza since Comstock! It seems to be the point of the article in question that any producer, by spending $370,000 to make a film for commercial exhibition in the motion picture theaters of this and other lands, can insure himself a gross income of $4,000,000 on that particular film. You can figure the profit at that rate for yourself, and why wear out my pencil?

The resume of the article in question bulwarks its extravagant declarations by saying that "detailed figures to back up this statement are given in the August Fortune in the first authoritative analysis of a motion picture balance sheet ever made available to the general public. * * * The complete story of the shooting at Hollywood is reconstructed from the account books, and the balance sheet is itemized to show the tremendous spread between production costs and box office receipts."

The items of cost involved are interesting. A specific picture of comparatively recent release is used as typical—and I have no intention whatever of disclosing what one it was for obvious reasons.

The highest single item of the cost of this "typical, hence mediocre," picture, according to Fortune, was director Alfred Santell's $50,000 salary for making it. The male and female costars divided $40,000 between them for five weeks' work. Two supporting players received another $8,000 at the rate of $1,500 a week for about half the total time it took to shoot the picture. Twelve other actors received a total of $9,000, while 714 extras were paid $7,500 at from $5 to $12.50 per day each.

Screen rights for a play that is declared never to have reached Broadway—although it seems to me that it did—cost $15,000 and another $15,000 was necessary to whip it into movie form and prepare suitable dialogue. Other charges connected with the five-week production period included $7,500 for cameramen, $9,000 for electricians, $5,000 for wardrobe, $25,000 for film, $4,000 for lights, $50,000 for sets, $12,000 for the director's staff and $87,000 for this picture's share of the producing company's annual overhead of $4,000,000. (That seems to be their magic figure, $4,000,000.)

There are a few entries here that one familiar with the production of pictures might question, and I am by no means certain that the average sum spent on the production of "typical, hence mediocre" pictures runs as high as $370,000, but that is aside from the point that it is ridiculous to assume that every average picture made extracts $4,000,000 from the public pocket, regardless.

I very much fear me somebody has been stringing the good editor of this credulous publication—as is apt to happen to any editor when he sets out to have his Fortune told! Especially about somebody else's business.

It just goes to show what can happen on a "Dude Ranch." It is in this picture, opening at the Columbia tomorrow, you will recall, that both June Collyer and Stuart Erwin appear in support of Jack Oakie, and THEY are the ones who surprised all of their friends Wednesday by sneaking over to Yuma and jumping off the deep end.

The phone has just jingled to say that the American Legion junior water events announced for next Monday night in the Crystal Pool at Glen Echo Park have been postponed until Thursday, July 30, same hour, same place.

Monday, however, will not be barren of excitement at Glen Echo. On that day, July 27, District of Columbia Council, Boy Scouts of America, under the leadership of Col. E. L. Mattice, assistant to the scout master, will journey to the park 2,800 strong to take in everything the resort has to offer on land and water. From 10 a. m. until 1 p. m. they will endeavor to splash all of the water out of the pool and from 1 to 6 p. m., win, lose or draw, they will take possession of everything else in the place that is rideable, eatable or otherwise enjoyable.

Twenty-eight hundred in one day, come to think of it, is a lot of good deeds!

The boys in the temples of the titillating tintypes are hitching up their dog-days teams for the annual drive against the August doldrums.

In the Loew houses, presided over by Mr. M. J. "Mike" to you, Cullen, they are calling it, if I remember correctly—and wouldn't that be aump'in? —"The Big Parade of August Hits."

At RKO-Keith's, Hardie Meakin hasn't as yet dug up any Greek who has a word for it, but, nevertheless, is getting positively stentorian in his enthusiasm over August bookings that include Barbara Stanwyck in "The Miracle Woman," "Dirigible" and Richard Dix in "The Public Defender."

Harry Lohmeyer, at the Earle, is more modest about it and is taking one week at a time. Beginning August 1, he is proclaiming the manifold blessings of Warner Bros.' "family week," when every item on the bill has been selected with a particular view to its suitability for family consumption, from grandpappy down to a little junior who, you can see for yourself, can hardly walk yet!

The winner will be awarded a month's tour of, er, ah—duty, I believe they call it, just as usual!

I note from the foreign press that according to a few of the caustic reviewers who seem to have failed to get the idea of the production and its major purpose, Heywood Broun's cooperative revue, "Shoot the Works," which opened Tuesday night in the George M. Cohan Theater, New York, should be rechristened "Shoot the Workers."

Mr. Jim Lundy, chief tocsin socker for the Loew interests in this city, hasn't been feeling so well these past few days from having cranked a stalled automobile, in gear, which spanked him in almost the same place!

And weren't the showers refreshing, too, after the rain?

WOODLAND ANSWERS SUMMER FUN QUERY

Why spend a lot of money for a few weeks at an expensive resort, many miles from Washington, when for a very small cost you may have your own summer place just 32 miles away amid surroundings ideal in which to spend the warm months?

That is a question The Washington Post is asking every resident of the Capital and, in addition to asking the question, The Post is furnishing the answer if these residents are interested.

The answer is Woodland Beach, a summer home development on South River in Maryland, where conditions are ideal and the price of property is right.

You may obtain a lot at Woodland Beach for $93. You need pay only $9 of this amount, plus the cost of a subscription to The Washington Post, before making your selection. Payments of $3.50 per month will take care of the balance. There is no interest charge.

When you have bought at Woodland Beach you have become part of a rapidly growing summer colony which offers 4½ miles of waterfront, bathing, boating and fishing, amusements for the children and a perfect spot for rest and relaxation.

Hundreds have taken advantage of the offer to buy at the Beach, while scores of others not only have purchased property, but are building homes there. You, too, may still obtain an excellent location by calling at The Post within the next few days. It is an offer not to be overlooked.

North Beach Air Line Will Open Tomorrow

Regular airplane service between Washington-Hoover Airport and North Beach, Md., will be inaugurated tomorrow, M. J. Lane, mayor of North Beach, announced last night. There will be two planes each day in both directions.

Mr. Lane said that a contract was signed yesterday by the airport and John W. Hayes to use the latter's field on the edge of town as a terminal.

British Embassy Reception to Famous Auther Has Dramatic Moment as Appeals Are Made to Soviet Chiefs; Details of Plight Secret.

Moscow, July 23 (A.P.).—A sensation was caused at a British embassy reception in honor of George Bernard Shaw late today when Lady Astor and Shaw were delivered identical cables signed by Dmitri Krynin, New Haven, Conn., who identified himself as a Yale University professor, reading as follows:

"In the name of humanitarian principles please help my wife in Moscow."

Lady Astor, who received her message first, in the midst of the festivities which were participated in by the diplomatic corps and high Soviet officials, went to Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, who was on a terrace, surrounded by a knot of people, and presented the message to him in dramatic fashion.

Kneeling, as if in obeisance, she said:

"I come to you as a peasant before a czar," and tendered the cablegram.

Litvinoff read it as the circle of persons around them grew thicker. Then, addressing Lady Astor, he said:

"Such a matter is not in my province."

Some one suggested it should be taken up by the political police, whereupon Lady Astor, Mr. Shaw, who had received the same cable; Lord Astor and an attache of the embassy left immediately in an automobile with the avowed intention of referring the matter to that organization.

Stopping at their hotel en route, they made an unsuccessful attempt to reach high Soviet officials by telephone. The matter was then put aside so the party could attend to packing their luggage preparatory to their departure to Leningrad tonight.

Lady Astor expressed the keenest interest in the message, but did not reveal whether she intends to pursue the matter further on her return from Leningrad two days hence.

Mrs. Slade, of Capital, In Suit for Separation

New York, July 23 (A.P.).—A recommendation that Mrs. Elena de Arostegui Slade, of New York and Washington, be granted a separation and $7,500 yearly alimony from Henry Lewis Slade, civil engineer and real estate expert, was filed today in the Supreme Court by George Z. Medalie, referee appointed to examine her charges.

Maryland Youth Held In Holdup Inquiry

William Collier, 18 years old, of Milestown, Md., was brought here yesterday from Leonardtown, Md., for investigation in connection with the holdup and robbery of William Saunders, near Georgia avenue and Roxboro place northwest, on May 4. The holdup netted $1.

Sharkey and Walker May Sign for Second Battle To Be Staged in August

Match Was Financial Success; Gate of $223,356.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, July 23 (A.P.).—It seems more than just a probability that Jack Sharkey, the big Boston fellow, and little Mickey Walker, the game one, will attempt to settle a question of superiority again before the present summer season finally rolls into the record books.

Fighters had to be paid, receipts checked, and a maze of postwar details attended to, but there was still time enough today for Jack Kearns, manager of the surprising Irishman, and Johnny Buckley, pilot of Sharkey, to discuss with Promoter Jimmy Johnston a resumption of the hostilities that ended in a fifteen-round draw in their first match at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, last night.

Walker Prefers 10 Rounds.

Sharkey insists that the return bout be fought over another fifteen-round route late in August, while Walker prefers ten rounds. If the warriors will compromise on twelve rounds and split half the gate for their efforts, the bout may be signed for Ebbets Field again within a few days.

The complete financial statistics revealed today that the match was a genuine success from all but the standpoint of Sharkey, who entered the ring a 3-to-1 favorite and struggled with small results against the stout-hearted, left-hooking former king of the welterweights and middleweights. The gross receipts were $223,356, the net receipts minus tax, $212,720, and Sharkey's 30 per cent amounted to $63,628, Walker's 20 per cent to $42,418. The total paid attendance was 30,588.

Sharkey to Keep Active.

Through his manager, Sharkey pledged himself to an active campaign in the future, promising that none of the rustiness that showed through his ordinary work last night would be apparent in his next major battle. Sharkey wants to fight Walker again in August, Tommy Loughran if the Walker match can not be made, and Primo Carnera in September.

Four stitches in the flesh of Walker's left eyelid were necessary to close the wound Sharkey inflicted and the Irish bulldog will be forced to rest a few weeks. He has an offer for a match next month with Max Baer in Los Angeles, and is willing to fight Sharkey or Carnera if the terms are right. Mickey also wants the title chance Max Schmeling will give some one in June next year. Sharkey will be forced to rest an injured left hand at least three weeks before starting training again.

A deep degree of glumness was attained today by Buckley, the disappointed manager of Sharkey, when he woke to find a thief had been at work among the belongings in his hotel room and that he had lost $1,200 in cash and some jewelry.

73 Sports Writers Gave Sharkey Bout on Points

New York, July 23 (U.P.).—With the fifteen-round draw decision in the "American heavyweight championship" fight taking its place in boxing history along with other such controversial subjects as the Dempsey-Tunney "long count" and the Sharkey-Schmeling and Dempsey-Sharkey foul claims, boxing writers are agreed tonight on only three points:

1. That Jack Sharkey is not a "good big man" and has forfeited all claims to ranking as a world's heavyweight championship contender.

2. That Mickey Walker, although he won all the glory in last night's

MRS. MOODY GAINS NET FINALS

Tennis Queen Defeats California Miss by 6-2, 6-3.

By BILL KING.

MANCHESTER, Mass., July 23 (A.P.).—The speed and superior strokings of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody today gave that abdicated tennis queen a 6—2, 6—3 victory over little Dorothy Weisel, of Sacramento, Calif., and a place in the finals of the Essex County Club's invitation for the fourth time since 1925.

Mrs. Moody must mark time for another day before learning who will attempt the seemingly hopeless task of withholding the title from her, for the other semifinal, to be waged by Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, last year's winner, and Mrs Lawrence A Harper, of Oakland, Calif, who ranks first nationally, was put over until tomorrow to prevent a gallery slump.

Mrs. Moody Given Stern Opposition.

Although Mrs. Moody was never forced into a defensive position, her match with the tiny Sacramento girl was not one of her usual walkaways In fact, her opponent was able to give her just the kind of opposition she needed to sharpen her game.

Dorothy, who appears undersized for the regulation racquet, had only a moderate repertory of strokes, but her rare steadiness, speedy foot work and tireless court courage gave her five winning games, one more than any of Mrs. Moody's five previous opponents was able to set up. Her string would have had six but for an inattentive linesman who called a game point against her on a drive that ended in the alley by inches.

The match was crowded with sparkling rallies and Miss Weisel was not always second best in them. Many times Mrs. Moody saw her fast forehand drives returned, and so were

French Meet Britons for Davis Cup

Defenders Held 4-1 Favorites in Challenge Round.

Cochet Plays Austin Today; Borotra to Face Perry.

PARIS, July 23 (A.P.).—For the first time since 1919, England tomorrow will challenge for the Davis Cup, international tennis trophy held by France.

In 1919 England went down to defeat before Australia at Sydney in the challenge round and since that time has failed to reach the final round until this year.

Victorious over the United States, three matches to two in the interzone finals, the young English team will enter a flower-banked Roland Garros Stadium to engage a polished but illness-handicapped French team which has held the cup for four years.

Despite the bear stories on the staleness of Jean Borotra and the ailing shoulder of Henri Cochet, the English team is conceded no better than a 1-to-4 chance to defeat France with many rabid partisans conceding England not a single match of the five in the series.

The draw, made today, favored France in pitting Cochet, king of the world's courts, against H. W. (Bunny) Austin, England's strangest player, and Borotra against Fred Perry.

French Confident Of Cochet.

French tennis fans can't see Cochet losing and they rate Borotra better than an even chance against the youthful Perry. Under the mental stimulus of a winning start they say France will flatten England without a struggle.

Roper Barrett, nonplaying captain of the English side, is not in agreement. The English team showed its courage in coming back against the United States with the score two matches to one against it, and he believes they have an even chance of stopping France.

Mangan Is Eliminated In New Jersey Tennis

Ocean City, N. J., July 23 (A.P.).—Bruce Barnes, of the University of Texas, gained his semifinal bracket in the Atlantic Coast tennis championships on the courts of the Ocean City Tennis Club today. He eliminated John Dillard, of the University of North Carolina, 6—3, 6—2, and then defeated his own teammate, Karel Kamrath, 3—6, 6—1, 6—4, to enter the penultimate round.

Ted Burwell, seeded No. 2 behind Barnes, along with Martin Ruxby, of Texas; Joe Olhausen, of Philadelphia; Lucien Lacoste, of Texas; Harold MacGuffin, of Philadelphia, and Eddie Green, of the University of Pennsylvania, reached the quarter final round.

Lacoste eliminated Tom Mangin, the veteran Washington, D. C., star, who was seeded No. 7, 6—8, 6—4, 6—2. Greene conquered Quinn Connelly, of Texas, 6—3, 6—3.

Red Sox Pound Ball To Beat Chisox, 13 to 4

Boston, July 23 (A.P.).—The Red Sox collected sixteen hits off two Chicago pitchers today to defeat the White Sox, 13 to 4, in the third game of the series. Jack Russell, Boston hurler, was hit freely, but held an early lead.

Bill Sullivan, new third baseman for the White Sox, made a triple play in the sixth inning, with the assistance of Lou Blue. With three on bases, he caught Earl Webb's liner, touched third to retire Warsler and threw across the diamond to Blue at first before Rothrock could return to the bag.

President William Harridge, of the American League, paying his first visit to Boston since he became head of the league, watched the game.

YANKS BEAT TIGERS IN 13TH, 7-6

Ruth and Gehrig Hit Homers; Byrd's Fly Brings Victory.

NEW YORK, July 23 (A.P.).—The Yankees scored their first extra inning victory of the season today, defeating the Detroit Tigers, 7 to 6, in a 13-inning struggle.

Home runs by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, Nos. 26 and 30 respectively, gave the Yanks an early lead but the Tigers drove Herb Pennock from the mound in the ninth, scoring three runs to take the lead. Tony Lazzeri tied the count with another homer in the ninth. Earl Whitehill pitched twelve good innings for Detroit but gave way in the thirteenth to Art Herring, who filled the bases. Sam Byrd then hit a fly that scored Dusty Cooke with the winning run. George Pipgras got credit for the victory, the two Yankee hurlers fanned eleven men.

Braves, Outhit, Beat Cubs, 6-3; Even Series

Chicago, July 23 (A.P.).—Outhit over 2 to 1, the Boston Braves took advantage of Baecht's wildness and Chicago errors to give the Cubs a 6-to-3 beating today and even the series. The Braves got but five hits to Chicago's twelve, but in the fourth counted four runs on one blow, a home run by Berger with Urbanski on base. The others came home on errors.

Ed Brandt went the route for Boston, and after being hit freely in the early frames, tightened up and won his twelfth victory of the season. Baecht started for the Bruins, but walked five and hit two in a little over three innings and was removed for Teachout, who allowed Berger's homer. Warneke and Bush hurled hitless ball in the last three frames. Hornsby, English and Grimm led the Chicago attack, while Sheely was the only Boston player to get two hits.

Szabo Wins Over Romano As 2,500 See Mat Show

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

SOME 2,500 customers turned out to witness Joe Turner's weekly wrestling show staged at the Auditorium last night.

The main attraction, featuring Sandor (Jazzbow) Szabo and the "Chicago Gentleman," Mike Romano, was a great bout while it lasted, but Szabo, a newcomer to the ranks of the torso twisters, faces the loss of his union card for tossing the aged Romano in 29 minutes, many minutes under the standard working time, with a series of body slams, followed by a double arm lock.

Romano, puffing and wheezing like a cross between a peanut roaster and a freight locomotive, started to work on his young and handsome opponent as if he meant business. A few patented Romano elbow punches and some swell butting gave the self-styled "Chicago Gent" an early lead which Szabo wiped out with his last-minute rush.

The high spot in Mike's attack came when he half elbowed and half butted "Jazzbow" out of the ring. Szabo retaliated by leaping gracefully over the ropes and then spilling Romano's frame all over the ring with a series of body slams. The crowd howled with glee at the antics of the old warrior.

Son Jennings and John Maxos opened the show with 30 minutes of pulling and tugging that rather bored the fans. Jennings, the more favored of the two, had his opponent on edge during the greater part of the struggle, but he could not squeeze Maxos into position to put him down.

The second match drew the biggest laugh of the evening. In this event Kola Kwariana, the bald wonder, tried conclusions with Frank Bronowicz. Kola simply toyed with his opponent, breaking holds when he deemed it advisable and otherwise providing unpleasant company for Frankie. The latter made several attempts to ensnare Kola's bald head in a headlock, but Kwariana's egg-shaped knob, cupled with some helpful sweat, kept Bronowicz's arms on the slide all night. Kola gained the decision.

Poor old Nick Nestor, subbing for Milo Steinborn, who got lost on his way to the scene of the battle, lost a good fight to Bennie Ginsberg, of New York. Bennie gave Nick more than he bargained for in the way of rough stuff and pinned him in eleven minutes with a double-bar arm lock.

Dick Shikat's protege, Richard Stahl, lost a decision to the popular Karl Pozello in 22 minutes with a headstand, followed by a body slam. Karl, although outweighed, was by far the better of the two, and his greater experience overcame his weight handicap.

MACKS DOWN TRIBE; 10TH STRAIGHT

Homers by Simmons, Cochrane Decide; Score, 5-2.

PHILADELPHIA, July 23 (A.P.).—Capturing their second straight victory from Cleveland, 5 to 2, today, the Philadelphia Athletics ran their winning streak to ten games in a row. Three runs in the first inning cinched the game for the Mackmen.

Mickey Cochrane and Al Simmons hit Hudlin for circuit drives in clubbing George Earnshaw to his sixteenth victory of the season. Cochrane's homer came in the first inning with one on base. Simmons' drive was in the seventh with the bags empty.

Thompson Near K. O. In Nontitle Match

Boston, July 23 (U.P.).—Lou Brouillard, of Worcester was given the judges' decision tonight over Jack Thompson, of Chicago, World's Welterweight Champion, in a ten-round bout at Boston Garden.

The New England fighter had the best of each round and several times had the Western Negro on the verge of a knockout. The title was not at stake.

Thompson, a lanky youth with an unusual reach, was a slight favorite but was unable to lower Brouillard's guard and was himself badly punished by body blows.

Kimsey Puts Brakes on Nats' Rallies After Hebert Fails.

Browns Stage 4-Run Attack in 3d to Clinch Victory.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

INABILITY to bunch hits cost the Nationals a second straight loss to the St. Louis Browns yesterday and sent them a game farther behind the leading Athletics, who are now breezing along out in front by the healthy margin of ten full games.

With Manager Johnson unable to get his pitchers to pitch, his fielders to field and his batters to bat at one and the same time, something must be done about it or the Nats will have their troubles even finishing in the runner-up hole. Their 6-to-4 loss yesterday let the winning Yankees pull up to within 3½ strides of them.

As was the case in Wednesday's fracas, the Nats were the first up score. They did the last scoring, too, for that matter, but it was what the Browns did in between that beat them. In the third, a four-hit attack, with a three-base error by Heinie Manush figuring most prominently, let the aliens come from behind to take a three-run lead and they were never headed thereafter.

Harris Slams Homer.

At that, there were moments when it looked as though the Nats might rally and finally win, especially in the sixth. "Sheriff" Dave Harris opened this round with a lusty homer into the stands in left center and when a sensational catch by Fred Schulte robbed Kuhel of at least a double and the Nats of another run, Killefer sent Chad Kimsey to the bull-pen.

Wally (Preacher) Hebert, the rookie southpaw starter, disposed of Hargrave, but when Hayes hit, he was relieved. Kimsey then walked Pinch-hitter Bill Cronin, filling the bases. It was here that Washington hopes were at their highest peak, but Buddy Myer could do nothing to help and this great chance was passed up.

"Sad Sam" Jones drew the starting assignment against his former mates, his first of the current season. He was far from effective, but there is no telling how he would have fared but for Manush's costly "boot," which seemed to temporarily throw the veteran flinger off his balance. Five of the alien runs and ten of their hits were gleaned from his slants, with Irving Hadley being knicked for a run in the eighth when the two hits he granted preceded a fly deep enough to permit an advance from third after the catch.

Myer Back in Line-Up.

Myer, back in the line-up after quite a lay-off, due to Shortstop Joe Cronin being given time out to rest a slight injury, opened with a single off Hebert's glove and Bluege's single and West's long fly scored him. In the third, the Browns staged their big inning. With one dead, Schulte walked, Melillo beat out an infield hit, and Goslin hit into a force play. Kress' single scored the tying run and when Manush let the drive skid through his legs, Goslin and Kress both had time to hustle around the bases. Storti's single and Burns' triple molded another run before Jones could get the third out.

Both teams scored in the fifth in the same manner—on two singles and a long fly. The St. Louis hits were credited Melillo and Goslin, while those put to good use by the Nats bounded off of the bats of Jones and Myer.

Harris pried the top off of the home half of the sixth with his four-bagger and West walked. It was here that Schulte probably saved the day for the Browns with his brilliant catch, the center fielder racing almost to the scoreboard to grab Kuhel's looper as it was sailing over his head. He went down in a heap, but came up with the ball in his mitt. Hayes singled to deep short and Hebert then retired. When Cronin, up for Jones, walked, the Nats had the tying and winning runs on the bases, but Myer lofted to Goslin for the third out.

The Browns got this run back in the seventh on Kress' double and Burns' single, and the Nats showed their next and final kick in the ninth. Joe Judge, hitting for Hadley, made it two hits in four chances as utility hitter, by opening with a single. He advanced on Manush's out and tallied on Bluege's one-shot. Harris then ended the game by hoisting to Goslin.

Myer and Bluege, with two hits each, led the home attack, while Melillo, Kress and Burns were tied for St. Louis high gun honors. Schulte's catch in the sixth at Kuhel's expense was easily the fielding highlight of the game.

CRONIN BACK IN LINE-UP TOMORROW

Nats to Idle Today; Marberry Hurls Third Game.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

MANAGER WALTER JOHNSON made some line-up shifts yesterday, temporarily withdrawing Shortstop Joe Cronin because of mild groin injury, turning over the shortstop job to Jack Hayes, putting Buddy Myer back at second and Heinie Manush in the left garden. The last two named had been benched because of light hitting. Yesterday was the first game Cronin had missed since the seventh game of the 1928 season.

Johnson expects Cronin to be back on the job tomorrow, as the Nationals schedule this afternoon, giving Joe two scheule this afternoon, giving Joe two days' rest with only one day's loss of services. Catcher Roy Spencer also likely will be back on the job tomorrow, meaning that the Nats will line-up as they did at the start of the season.

"After several experiments," said Johnson, "I'm convincied that my best bet is to stick to my original starting line-up, and Manush will continue in left and work his way out of his hitting slump. Sam Rice and Dave Harris will alternate in right field, with Harris playing against southpaw pitching."

LUCKY TOM WINNER IN EMPIRE FEATURE BY ONE LENGTH

Uluniu Wins Arlington Sprint

Allenfern Winner in Feature Race at Latonia.

By ORLO ROBERTSON,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, July 23 (A.P.).—Master Charlie, one of the turf's greatest seven years ago, again occupied the spotlight as he sent out three of his sons to run, one, two, three in the Sprightful Stakes at Empire City today.

The performance of the offspring of the famous sire headlined America's racing program, which featured the triumph of Mrs. R. N. Pollard's Uluniu in the Mississippi Purse at Arlington Park and the victory of E. P. Sanford's smart 2-year-old gelding, Allenfern, in the Miami Valley Purse at Latonia.

Lucky Tom, from the barns of J. J. Robinson, was the first of the Master Charlie 2-year-old sons to cross the line in the 6-furlong feature at Empire City. J. H. Louchheim's Uncanny finished second, a length back, while third went to Renaissance, a stablemate of Lucky Tom.

The Robinson entry was made the 11-to-10 favorite to win the purse of $4,040, but it too kone of Tony Pascuma's best rides to get Lucky Tom past the judges' stand in front of Uncanny. Renaissance was five lengths back, but an easy third.

Uluniu Wins at Arlington.

Uluniu, veteran of four years of racing, stepped the seven furlongs in 1.25 to win the Arlington Park feature. A half length back trailed the speedy Martis from D. A. Bentham's barn, while Sister Zoe from the Four Oaks Stock Farm finished a close third.

The illness of C. E. Allen, one of Chicago's leading riders, did not last long as the popular little jockey was in the saddle in the first race and booted Unencumbered home, the winner for his employer, H. M. Woolf. Allen cancelled his mounts yesterday because of illness.

Allenfern was forced to run one of his best races to take the Latonia feature. Then, too, he had Jockey R. Morrison in the saddle and that spelled victory as Morrison gave the filly the advantage of one of his top-notch rides to beat the Dixiana stud's highly regarded Band Time, the favorite. Band Time could do no better than third, R. W. Collins' Lejoy splitting him and the winner. The victory marked Allenfern's fifth in nine starts. He has been out of the money only twice.

Thistledown in Ohio was a haven for longshot players, the outsiders winning five of the seven races. The list of longshot winners were topped by Wind Flower, which won the second race and paid $156 for a $2 ticket.

—Arlington Park Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

ARLINGTON PARK, July 23.—The usual eight-race program will be decided at the Arlington Park course tomorrow, with an allowance affair for 3-year-olds and upward, a test over the 1-mile route, as the headline attraction. Supporting the feature will be the 2-mile steeplechase, which has received a list of six jumpers to contest the $2,000 purse. The remainder of the program will be decided by the cheaper grade of platers, but with well-filled events, the finishes should be keenly contested.

In the mile of the feature, sixth on the card, CALF ROPER, a much improved High Time colt in the Peconic Stable, demonstrated his ability to negotiate this distance last start, Off his splendid victory, the Peconic colorbearer figures to show the way to his six rivals. Chief opposition may be furnished by WHO WIN. This clever performer from the J. J. Coughlin string has shown consistent form in recent efforts and should last to gain the place, with CHIEF JOHN favored over the others for the minor award.

Mrs. M. Holden's LUCKITE fenced faultlessly in his initial start at this track to score easily, and the son of Stefan the Great is selected to duplicate that effort in the 2-mile steeplechase, secondary feature. ICICLE has raced well over this course and is the one to fear. GRACIE appears best of the others.

FIRST RACE—The opening dash received a limit list of maiden fillies, twenty 2-year-old contestants, to battle it out over the 5½-furlong ground. DARTER has trained well after a brief rest and figures to graduate. RECEDE, another speedy workout juvenile, is suited by the conditions and rates the place call, with ZINA favored to take down the show.

THIRD RACE—Nine high-class claimers will match strides in the 3½-furlong dash of the third event. HOT SHOT appears to have a slight edge over his rivals at this distance. In his last, the Tryster gelding beat a good field in 1:11 flat. He has only to repeat that effort to be returned the winner. FLAG TIME has been training well and under the conditions is preferred for the place. FRENCH LASS has reached her speed and may prove troublesome.

FOURTH RACE—MORFAIR has displayed remarkable speed in recent trials and is reported ready to lead his nine rivals to the wire in the 5½ furlongs of the fourth, which is fashioned for juvenile colts and geldings BRAVE AND BOLD should hold the others safe, with NEWGRO, a promising youngster, favored for the short end of the purse.

FIFTH RACE—The recently acquired EGYPT which Remm and Tensor claimed from Mrs. J. D. Hertz, scored a brilliant victory for his new owners at the first asking and figures to make it two straight in the mile of the fifth number. SUNEROS may furnish the opposition. WATER PORT has turned in some clever performances over a route, but nevertheless figures to finish in the money.

SEVENTH RACE—J. W. May's clever plater, BLACK BELT, has been freshened up since his last winning effort at Washington Park and rates the call in the mile of the seventh which brings together a list of twenty platers. EIGHTY TWENTY will favor the slow track and may finish in the runner-up position. BUBOLA would appreciate a longer route, but appears best of the others.

EIGHTH RACE—In the final test over the mile and an eighth route, ED LARK, a recent winner at this track, should repeat with the same conditions prevailing. MACEDON, a consistent performer in the Wild Rose Farm Stable, will battle it out with the top one. DABSTER should offer stern opposition and rates the show call.

OWLS CLUB IN TOURNEY.

The Owls Club will hold a golf tournament at the White Flint Country Club within the next two weeks. Captains of the club's four teams are: H. G. Pitt, Crows; M. A. Shipley, Hawks; W. P. Dieste, Buzzards, and R. C. McKimmie, Sparrows.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—UNENCUMBERED, $15.46, $6.98, $5.06; SHARP THOUGHTS, $4.88, $3.44; GOLDEN STATE, $37.96.

UNENCUMBERED broke quickly and, after being headed by SHARP THOUGHTS, continued well to catch the latter weakening in the stretch and win handily. SHARP THOUGHTS took a good lead in the early running, but could not last. GOLDEN STATE was prominent from the start and finished fairly well. ALTMARK was in some trouble early and showed a fair effort. The others never threatened seriously.

SECOND RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute). Purse, $1,500. Special weights. For maiden 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:51. Off at 2:54½. Winner, J. Lowe's b. f. (3), by Thunderer—Wingold. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48, 1:13 4-5, 1:41.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—THUNVIN, $4.68, $3.20, $2.54; DUSKY BOY, $4.94, $3.92; ANNIMESSIC, $5.16.

THUNVIN, taking back after the start, moved up strongly on the outside after going an eighth and, although racing wide around the turn, was good enough to get to the front and displayed courage in outfinishing DUSKY BOY. Latter challenged determinedly in the stretch and drew up on even terms with the winner a sixteenth out, but was beaten by a better animal. ANNIMESSIC displayed early speed and held on fairly well. ATLIL made up much ground. BASILICA and BACHELOR'S TOY tired after showing early speed.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:21. Off at 3:22. Winner, Nevada Stock Farm's b. f. (3), by Volta—Shamrock Green. Trained by R. F. Carman, jr. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:47 3-5, 1:12 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—VOLTA GREEN, $7.16, $3.80, $3.12; BLACK COMET, $3.80, $3.52; DUNLIN'S LAD, $4.06.

VOLTA GREEN, always close up, took command after going half the distance and drew out to win as he pleased. BLACK COMET had the most early speed and, although tiring in the last quarter, had enough left to hold the others. DUNLIN'S LAD closed some ground. OUTBOUND broke well, but quickly after going a quarter and never was a dangerous thereafter and showed a dull effort. The others were outclassed.

FOURTH RACE—Seven furlongs (out of chute). Purse, $1,800; allowances. Mississippi Purse. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:52. Off at 3:52. Winner, Mrs. R. Pollard's b. g. (5), by Rodgers—Assagnis Christine. Trained by R. Pollard. Value to winner, $1,300; second, $300; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:47, 1:12 2-5, 1:25.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ULUNIU, $14.08, $6.80, $4.82; MARTIS, $7.06, $5.38; SISTER ZOE, $5.54.

ULUNIU, always within striking distance of the leaders, came fast approaching the far turn and, taking command around the outside at the stretch turn, held MARTIS safe for the finish. MARTIS showed early speed and, continuing gamely after being in close quarters on back stretch and again around the final turn, was going gamely at the end. SISTER ZOE and GOLDEN PRINCE finished fast and close up. CHEERS tired after making the pace. SUN MEMORY was blocked around the stretch turn and dropped far back thereafter.

FIFTH RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute). Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:22. Off at 4:24. Winner, M. J. Two-dollar mutuels paid—JIM ORMONT, $10.14, $5.52, $3.94; GUIDE RIGHT, $25.18, $14.72; DOCTOR PARRISH, $3.86.

JIM ORMONT raced into contention after going a quarter and, taking a good lead in the last half, lasted to hold GUIDE RIGHT. Latter raced strongly throughout and was gaining on the winner at the finish. DOCTOR PARRISH was shuffled back after the start and was in close quarters at far turn, but came gamely when clear and was running well at the end. DACITE made up ground. KULAMANN tired badly. OUR BILLY was shut off at stretch turn.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:51. Off at 4:54. Winner, H. C. Hatch's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MONTANARO, $16.00, $7.32, $2.92; GONE AWAY, $5.00, $2.64; JEM, $2.26.

MONTANARO came fast after leaving the back stretch and, taking a short lead in the run home, held GONE AWAY. The latter was beat, but was in close quarters around the first turn and, blocked when making his move at the stretch turn, was forced to take to the outside. He finished fast and was gaining rapidly at the end. JEM took a short lead around the far turn, was then given a breathing spell, but did not respond when called upon. PLEASE set the pace and held on fairly well.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:24. Off at 5:25. Winner, H. Weis' b. m. Two-dollar mutuels paid—EVERGREEN QUEEN, $19.28, $8.62, $5.54; MADCAP MARVIN, $8.02, $4.92; CHANCELLOR, $4.94.

EVERGREEN QUEEN moved into a contending position after going half the trip and, taking command in the stretch, led to the finish to score handily. MADCAP MARVIN raced strongly through the final quarter and was gaining at the end. CHANCELLOR raced forwardly and obtained a short lead after leaving the back stretch, but could not last. TRAUMEL raced into contention early and, although meeting with some interference, finished well. PELLIGRINO was used up making the early pace. LADY BIENVILLE tired, REPRODUCE, FERN F. and LANSQUENET were in close quarters after the start.

BURROWS SHOOTS 74 TO RETAIN D. C. PUBLIC LINKS CROWN

Steady Game Wins From Connelly

8 on 17th Hole Ends Hopes of Boy Who Shoots 86.

AFTER leading his opponent for the first nine holes of play in their match for the District public links crown on the East Potomac Park yesterday, Jimmy Connelly, 15-year-old caddy, blew up completely on the incoming nine, enabling Ted Burrows to retain the championship.

The match was a play-off of a tie which resulted after the pair had shot 315 in the regular 72 holes of play. Both players are members of the District public links team which will compete in the national tournament. Burrows is captain of the team.

Connelly Leads by 2 Strokes.

Connelly led his older and more experienced opponent by two strokes at the turn, after having a four-stroke lead cut by the defending champ's steady play. Going into the final nine Burrows cut his rival's advantage another stroke by getting a par 4 to Connelly's 5 on the tenth hole. Scoring par on the twelfth and fifteenth greens, Burrows drew alongside the youngster.

Connelly, trailing by two strokes at the sixteenth hole, lost all control on the seventeenth, taking an 8 to Burrows' birdie 3. The five strokes gained by the winner at this point completely ruined whatever chance the youngster had of finishing on top. They halved the final hole with 4s.

Burrows had a card of 74 to Connelly's 86.

Brings New Stroke Into Play.

Every one of the great Helen's many strokes, including her new backhand cut, was called into play to force openings by chasing Dorothy about the court. Many times Miss Weisel thrilled the gallery with sensational gets, but none of them ever made her relentless and methodical rival take the defensive.

The day's doubles competition brought the teams into the semifinal bracket, which was gained by the three remaining seeded pairs. Mrs. George W. Wightman, Brookline, and Miss Morrill promoted to the top of the list when Sarah and Mianne Palfrey, of Brookline, defaulted, met Charlotte Miller, New York, and Mary Greef, Kansas City, defeating them, 6—1, 9—7.

Virginia Hilleary, Philadelphia, and Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, eliminated Miss Weisel and Mrs. B. E. Cole, North Andover, 6—1, 7—5, and the other favored pair, Mrs. John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, and Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, Calif., defeated Mrs. William Endicott, Boston, and Mrs. J. D. Corbiere, Southboro, 6—1, 6—1.

The only unseeded players remaining in the tourney are Clara Zinke, Cincinnati, and Virginia Rice, Boston, who survived today's action by beating Ruby Bishop, Pasadena, and Doroance Chase, Boston, 7—5, 6—4. This West-East combination moved into the quarter finals on the Palfrey sisters' default, forced by Sarah's strained back, an injury that is expected to keep her idle for the next two weeks.

Patent Office Netmen Win in League Play

The Patent Office tennis team defeated Veterans Bureau, 4 to 1, yesterday in the Departmental League. The results follow:

Goldsmith and Rivards (P. O.) defeated Silva and Johnson, 6—1, 6—1; Evans and Weiss (V. B.) defeated Riordan and Tomelden, 6—3, 6—4; Gardes and Moncure (P. O.) defeated Boone and Johnston, 6—3, 6—4; Parker and Krauser (P. O.) defeated Keiser and Litschti, 6—3, 6—4; Carney and Resnick (P. O.) defeated Pratt and McDonald, 7—5, 6—8, 6—0.

FAST BOATS IN TRI-CITY REGATTA

Herald Harbor Ready for Races Tomorrow, Sunday.

INTEREST in the Tri-City Regatta on the Severn tomorrow and Sunday is intensified because of the entries of the fastest and favorite racing drivers of the three cooperating cities—Washington, Baltimore, and Annapolis.

Baltimore is particularly interested because of the annual cruiser race from that port to the regatta course at Herald Harbor. This is the third consecutive year that this race has been staged and this year it promises to be greater than ever from the standpoint of entries, there being 45 owners who have signified their intentions of competing.

Trophies have been donated for every one of the events, ranging from the 3-foot high Curtis Cup to pieces of silverware for sideboard and dining table use. Several of the awards will be cash, as $300 has been donated by the Chesapeake and Potomac Power Boat Association, which is sponsoring the event for this purpose.

Entry Lists Please Officials.

Commodore of the association, E. C. Baltz, and the chairman of the racing committee, Commodore Edmund F. Jewell, have both expressed themselves as highly gratified at the manner in which the entries have poured in. New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, West Virginia and North Carolina will be represented and they feel certain that the opportunity for new records in some of the outboard events will not be overlooked by the drivers.

Plans for the entertainment and care of visitors and drivers have been fully completed by a special committee under W. C. Shelton and special facilities have been made for the parking of automobiles.

DUNDEE VS. HOOD.

London, July 23 (U.P.).—Vince Dundee, of Newark, N. J., and Jack Hood, a leading British middleweight boxer, will meet in a ten-round bout at White City next Monay night, Jeff Dickson, promoter, announced today. Hood was substituted for Len Harvey, British middleweight champion, who withdrew because of a septic throat cold.

Markey-Yeomans Retain Public Parks Doubles Title

BUD MARKEY and Ed Yeomans defeated Allen Staubly and Fred Sendel, 6—8, 6—3, 2—6, 9—7, 6—3, on the Rock Creek Park courts yesterday to retain their Public Parks doubles title, which came into their possession for the first time last year. The match, witnessed by several hundred fans, was delayed half an hour by rain.

To Bud Markey must go the major portion of credit for the victory, for Yeomans refused to take his opponents seriously until the fourth set, and when it finally dawned upon his august person that Staubly and Sendel were not only putting up a splendid battle but were on the verge of winning the match, Yeomans was unable to find himself. Not until the final set did he hit his stride. In the meantime, his hard-working partner was keeping the pair in the running with a terrific drive and some fancy backcourt work. Staubley and Sendel's powerful overhand smashes forced Yeomans into the back court and he was very erratic.

Staubly and Sendel Win First Set.

The ultimate losers started off with a rush and, after a stubborn battle, won the opening set by an 8—6 score. Stinging forehand drives kept Markey and Yeomans off balance throughout the greater period of the set. The latter retaliated by winning the second, 6—3, but Staubley and Sendel came back with a rush to capture the third.

With Yeomans dropping his service in almost every game, his opponents surprised by battling on even terms game for game right through the fourth set. Markey and Yeomans had an advantage of 6—5 in games when Staubly served a love game to even it at six all. Staubly and Sendel broke through Yeomans' serve to gain a 7—6 lead on their rivals on eight straight points. At this juncture Markey opened up with a cannon-ball service that the losers were unable to effectively meet, and, with Yeomans finally hitting his stride, the champions raced through the next two games to clinch the set.

Take Final Set Handily.

Staubly and Sendel were played off their feet in the final set, which ended a 6—2 Markey-Yeomans victory.

By virtue of their victory Markey and Yeomans become eligible for participation in the national public parks tournament to be held August 17 at Detroit. They were runners-up in the national tournament last season.

Hines Reaches Semifinals In South Atlantic Play

Sedgefield Country Club, Greensboro, N. C., July 23 (A.P.).—Wilmer Hines, of Columbia, S. C., the tournament favorite, moved into the semifinals of the South Atlantic tennis tournament today in the only match played in the men's singles.

The tall, dark-haired South Carolinian, seeded number one, turned back Jimmy Poole, Greensboro, seeded six, in their quarter final match by the score of 6—2, 6—3.

Tomorrow he will meet Jack Mooney, the Atlanta veteran and former Southern champion, who reached the semifinals yesterday. Robert (Lefty) Bryan, of Chattanooga, Tenn., played Lenoir Wright, of Charlotte, in the other semifinal match.

Bryan and Wright, who are teamed in the doubles, advanced to the finals today with a straight set victory over Melvin Tarpley, of Tampa, Fla., and Arthur Hendrix, Lakeland, Fla.

Before meeting Tarpley and Hendrix, they beat Settle Dockery and Cliff Flowers, both of Rockingham, N. C., in a morning match 6—0, 6—0.

Tarpley and Hendrix in the morning matches beat Mooney and Harvey Harris, of Raleigh, 7—9, 6—2, 6—4.

SCRIBES SAW SHARKEY AS WINNER

3. That even if Sharkey did earn an advantage on points over Walker—and this is questioned by many writers—he deserved to lose the bout because of his unimpressive showing against an opponent he outclassed in every physical respect.

Opinions regarding the result varied as widely as the official ballots which included every possible decision. Judge Charles F. Mathison voted for a draw; Referee Arthur Donovan gave his vote to Walker and Judge George Kelly named Sharkey as winner.

Newspaper men, who were almost unanimous in predicting that Sharkey would win by a knockout, showed a wide divergence of opinion.

Only 2 Voted Bout A Draw.

Of the fight writers polled by the United Press, fifteen agreed that Walker had won, two said it was a draw, and seventy-three believed Sharkey was entitled to the decision. Opinions on the round-by-round scoring were even more diversified, some writers crediting Walker with as many rounds as others gave to Sharkey. Jack Farrell of the New York Daily News and Harry Grayson of the New York World-Telegram were the Walker adherents, giving Mickey eleven and ten rounds, respectively, while James F. Dawson of the Times and Dan Parker of the Mirror led the Sharkey supporters, giving the Bostonian ten and nine rounds, respectively. Referee Donovan is credited with giving Walker an advantage in eleven of the fifteen rounds.

The United Press score showed Sharkey leading in seven rounds and Walker in three with the five even rounds so close that they could have been given to either fighter without robbing the other. Several rounds in which Sharkey had a clear advantage, and was given the United Press vote, would be credited to Walker under the New York Commission rules which penalize low blows, regardless of their effect, by loss of the round.

Writers agreed Sharkey was far from impressive and had forfeited ranking as a title contender. Bill Corum of the Journal expressed the opinion that Sharkey "did not try a lick."

Grayson of the World-Telegram and Hype Igoe of the Journal expressed the opinion that Walker would have carried the decision but for the cut over the eye which handicapped him in the later rounds, but even Walker's most enthusiastic supporters did not believe his showing was enough to qualify him for a title bout with Schmeling.

Court's Order Attaches Walker's Fight Share

New York, July 23 (A.P.).—Mickey Walker's share in his fight last night with Jack Sharkey was attached today by order of Supreme Court Justice Byrne.

The sheriff's warrant of attachment was served on the request of Mrs. Maude Walker, Walker's former wife, who claims $27,800.12 as reimbursement due her for funds she expended in supporting the Walker children, Michael, 7, and Patricia, 18 months.

The former Mrs. Walker said her pugilistic husband had not seen their children since he ordered her out of their home in June, 1929, five months before Patricia was born. She asserted her troubles with Walker started following his return from Paris in 1927.

"Over my objection," her papers said, "he permitted our house to be used as a rendezvous, where married men and women engaged in love affairs with men and women other than their respective wives and husbands."

Walker himself "became involved in various love affairs," she added.

Suburban Net Teams To Play Two Matches

CHEVY CHASE NINE SEEKS 2D PLACE

Plays Bethesda Club in Double-Header on Sunday.

CHEVY CHASE and Bethesda nines will tangle Sunday at 1:30 p. m. in a double-header that will decide the runner-up to the champion Takoma Tigers. The Grays need but one game to clinch second place, while a twin victory for their opponents will mean only a tie for the position.

Had Chevy Chase won only one of its two games from the Tigers last Sunday the games scheduled with the Firemen would involve the championship. As things turned out Sunday's games will be just a couple of ball games with a big portion of the fight and color eliminated.

Notwithstanding, both teams will put forth their best efforts in an attempt to bolster their ratings. Bethesda dropped its first meeting with Chevy Chase and will be out for revenge in a big way, and they may obtain it.

Pirates Swamp Robins, 17 to 6, With 21 Hits

Pittsburgh, July 23 (A.P.).—The Pirates handed the Brooklyn Robins one of their worst defeats of the season today, pounding Dazzy Vance and three successors for 21 hits and a 17-to-6 triumph.

Vance lasted only until the fourth inning when a five-run rally brought the count up to 8-3. Thurston, Moore and Day were no more effective as the Pirates had two more big innings. George

STOCKS UNCHANGED IN LIGHTER TRADING

The turnover on the stock market totaled 760,000 shares, not much more than the Monday volume, and it could hardly be said that the failure of the London conference to adopt aggressive or spectacular measures for the aid of Germany had much effect on sentiment. It had been apparent for several days that the renewal of short-term credits and the laying of a groundwork for more permanent credits would be about as far as the powers would decide to go at this time; hence the actual accomplishments seemed to have been discounted.

The other headlined event of the day in the financial world was the raising of the Bank of England's discount rate to 3½ per cent from 2½. This step had been expected a week ago, but the announcement this morning came somewhat as a surprise since it had been thought the bank might hold off a while longer. However, the steady gold withdrawals doubtless necessitated immediate action. Sterling firmed against the dollar and the French franc, although more gold moved from London to Paris.

Break in Easy Money.

Bankers pointed out that the increase was the first important break in the easy money policy informally agreed upon by the important central banks some time ago as a means of helping the world out of the depression. However, it was obvious conditions had changed radically since that program was first adopted, and that the London banking authorities, faced with a loss of about $75,000,000 in gold in a week, felt obliged to do something.

There is, of course, no expectation that the Federal Reserve Bank here will lift its rate, since such action would tend to nullify the efforts of the British to extricate themselves from an uncomfortable position.

Domestic developments were mostly in the nature of earnings reports. Both Montgomery Ward and National Cash Register, which had had deficits in the first quarter, returned net profits in the second. Chrysler's earnings of 73 cents a share exactly equaled those of the same period a year ago and contrasted with a first-quarter loss equal to 22 cents a share.

Net Changes Fractional.

Net changes in principal stocks were largely fractional. U. S. Steel dropped about a point and a half early, more than recovered during the painfully slow rally that ensued and then dipped three-eighths lower at the close. There were equally narrow net losses in American Can, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, General Electric, American Telephone, New York Central and Consolidated Gas. Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Anaconda, Kennecott, Case, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak, Union Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio closed one-half to a point higher.

Safeway Stores, Butterick and American Safety Razor were stronger. Chrysler finished unchanged; so did National Biscuit and Bethlehem Steel.

Losses in wheat were less than half a cent. Crop reports from Kansas and Iowa were bearish and beneficial rain was forecast for the Southwest. Corn's variations amounted to minor fractions on either side of the previous close. An erratic cotton market finished 6 to 14 points higher.

The rally in sterling carried cables to 4.84½, a net gain of seven-sixteenths. The Reichsmark rallied in a nominal market. Francs were off eleven-sixteenths here.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, July 23 (A.P.).—Cotton was feverish today and after showing early declines of 9 to 15 points, prices rallied and closed at about the best of the session.

The October position declined easily to 9.18, a loss of 13 points, rallied to 9.40 and closed at 9.38, an advance of 10 points, while the general market closed steady at 6 to 14 points net higher.

The opening was steady to 6 points lower in response to rather disappointing Liverpool cables and owing to some disappointment in financial and commercial circles over the outcome of the London conference which apparently had not met with the expectations of many traders although it was described in Washington reports as satisfactory. More favorable weather conditions, with an absence of rainfall except at numerous places in the Gulf States, were given rather bearish interpretations in the trade, although partly offset by a forecast of renewed showery conditions.

Crop accounts in general were favorable and the crop prospects were believed to contain little in the way of buying encouragement. There was, however, enough of a weevil menace in the weather conditions and private advices to check aggressive selling, especially as the technical position of the market was looked upon as firmer following the recent liquidation and the decline in value. Consequently, the selling was not active and toward the close of the day contracts became scarce and when shorts attempted to cover the market advanced rather easily and experienced gains of $1 to $1.25 per bale from the early low levels.

The South was credited with selling some cotton here early, but there was little to indicate any increased hedge selling against the new crop which caused experienced traders to hesitate about taking chances on the selling side at this season of the year when contracts often become scarce. The action of the stock market was a depressing factor at times and served to discourage new buying, but the trade continued to absorb contracts on declines with orders from both domestic and foreign spinners.

Liverpool cabled that the market there was lower under liquidation and on the higher bank rate in London and reported Manchester unsettled with business unimportant.

Exports today, 9,324, making 6,867,021 so far this season; port receipts 1,874; U. S. ports, 2,832,207.

INCOME INCREASED BY POTOMAC POWER

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Potomac Electric Power Co. and Washington Railway & Electric Co. filed their June statements of operation with the Public Utilities Commission yesterday. That of the former shows net income for June totaling $373,864.23, an increase of $35,235.45 over the month last year. For the six months of this year it aggregates $2,325,295.87, a recession of $12,263.64 from the corresponding period a year ago.

The report for rail operations of Washington Railway & Electric Co. listed last month's net income as $54,203.21, as compared with $36,-094.39 for the month in 1930. For the first six months of 1931, net income amounted to $1,082,084.60, as contrasted with $988,170.59 for the comparative period in 1930.

In the report on bus operations, a deficit of $188.93 is shown in the item of net income for June. The deficit in this item June a year ago was $2,388.88. For the six months of the present year a surplus of $8,726.80 is revealed against a deficit of $2,722.78 for the first six months of 1930.

Phone Operating Income.

Telephone operating revenues of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. for June were $773,452, the report of operations just filed with the Public Utilities Commission shows. Total operating income after deducting taxes and uncollectible, was $192,164.

Telephone operating revenues for the six months ended June 30 were $4,610,136, as compared with $4,339,-876 for the period last year. Total operating income after deducting taxes and uncollectible for the first six months of this year, was $1,134,-676, as against $885,709 for the first six months of 1930.

Balance net income in June was $147,709, and that for the six months amounted to $889,809, as compared with $647,219 for the same period last year. Taxes in June were $55,535, as contrasted with $48,247 for the same month last year. Taxes for the first six months of this year were $333,-944, an increase of $47,719 over a similar period in 1930.

Capital Expenditures.

Capital expenditures for new plant and equipment added to the company's system in the District of Columbia for the six months totaled $1,050,895. Gross retirements during this period were $616,341, making net additions $434,554. Net additions to plant for the twelve months ended June 30 were $902,669.

At close of business June 30, Washington was served by 172,487 telephones, 4,007 having been added to the system during the first six months of the year. In June, telephone users in the District made 18,-453,600 calls, which was an increase of 10.7 per cent over the calls made in June of last year.

Headquarters of Seaboard Public Service Co. at Alexandria, Va., announced yesterday that subsidiaries of the company, operating in seven States along the Southeastern coast line, showed an increase of 20.6 per cent in kilowatt hour output for the month of June and a 11.5 per cent increase for the first six months of the year.

Output for June.

The total output for June, 1931, was 33,448,015 kilowatt hours as against 27,727,361 in June a year ago, a gain of 5,720,654 kilowatt hours.

For the first six months of the year, the Seaboard group showed a total output of 191,361,462 kilowatt hours, compared to 171,666,435 for the same period last year, an increase of 11.5 per cent.

A special engineering department to develop and handle business in the growing field of air conditioning and cooling of public and private buildings, has been formed by American Ice Co., which also announces that it will set up model conditioning plants for various types of buildings in the larger cities in which it operates, so that engineers can make observations of cost and other operating details.

INDUSTRIAL TREND STILL DOWNWARD

(Associated Press.)

Continuation of the downward trend in industrial production, factory employment and pay rolls was reported yesterday in the Federal Reserve Board's June review of business conditions.

The board said the further slump in activity was "most marked" in the iron and steel industry. Activity in the woolen industry maintained an unusually high level.

A considerable growth in foreign deposits with reserve banks was reported, accompanied by a large influx of gold that aggregated $77,000,000 in the month ended July 18. Reserve Bank credit outstanding was not decreased, however, and the board said the gold inflow provided member banks with funds to meet added demands for currency and increase their Reserve Bank balances.

Industrial Output Drops.

Industrial output dropped to 86 per cent in June from 89 per cent in May, but the second quarter of the year as a whole showed that production averaged 4 per cent above the low level of the last three months of 1930.

"The reduction of activity in June was most marked in the iron and steel industry, with steel plants operating at 38 per cent of capacity," the board said. "Automobile output declined further, and there was some recession in production of lumber, meat products and flour. Petroleum output, however, was not reduced.

Activity of textile mills and shoe factories continued in relatively large volume. In the woolen industry activity was sustained at the unusually high level of May and the decline in consumption of cotton was not in excess of the usual seasonal amount. During the first half of July there were further reductions, partly seasonal in nature, in the output of steel, automobiles and lumber.

"Factory employment was further reduced by nearly 3 per cent and pay rolls declined by 6 per cent between the middle of May and the middle of June. The largest decreases were in the steel, machinery and woman's clothing industries, while reductions at automobile plants and cotton mills were partly seasonal in character and employment at woolen and hosiery mills increased."

Building Contracts Off.

Building contracts, the board said, were awarded in somewhat larger volume in June than in May, but declined again the first half of July. Since early spring, it continued, awards have not increased at the usual seasonal rate. Little change was shown in residential building for the last eighteen months. Public works and utilities have recorded the chief declines.

Japanese Business Group Entertained

Tokyo Ambassador Host to Delegation Visiting Here on Good-Will Tour.

A group of Japanese business men who are making a tour of the United States were entertained at dinner last night by the Japanese Ambassador. The party reached Washington late yesterday afternoon from New York. They were sent to this country by the Japan Trade Promotion Association to promote international relations through business connections.

The party will spend today in sightseeing, visiting the Government Printing Office and other points of interest. Tonight they will leave again for New York, where they will sail tomorrow for England.

Bride Back in City From Trip Abroad

Will Assume His Active Duties Monday; Faces Phone Stock Case.

Corporation Counsel William W. Bride went to the District Building yesterday for a short while following his return the day before from a north European tour. He said he would probably not resume his duties actively until Monday.

One of the first problems facing Mr. Bride is the stock issue of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., although the suit probably will not be prepared until the return, near the end of the month, of William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, now at a training camp.

The District Commissioners and the Public Utilities Commission have already instructed the corporation counsel's office to prepare a suit under the La Follette antimerger law in an effort to invalidate the recent sale of $5,000,000 worth of stock by the local concern to its parent company, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Petition to Tax W., B. & A. Shelved

Maryland State Secretary Says Effort Failed by 200 Names.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., July 23—Movement to obtain a referendum on the bill passed at the last session of the Maryland General Assembly exempting the Washington, Baltimore & Annapolis Electric Railroad from taxation for a two-year period, appears to have failed, according to information here today.

A careful check of signatures on the referendum petition filed in the office of the Secretary of State here several weeks ago reveals only 9,800 names, whereas the law requires 10,000. Attorney General W. Preston Lane, to whom the petition was referred for formal action, has advised petitioners the number is insufficient.

The railroad company sought the tax exemption because of a big loss of business, and maintained that it would be compelled to suspend operations unless such relief was forthcoming.

Knights of Pythias Plan Cruise.

Bostonian Reaches France 12 Minutes Late After Three-Year Trip; Accepted Sultan's Money to Cement Relations With U. S.

Villefranche, France, July 23 (A.P.).—Pirates, headhunters and a sultan were among the hosts of William Albert Robinson, of Boston, Mass., on a world tour in his 32-foot ketch, Svaap, which sailed into Villefranche Harbor today.

His grandmother, Mrs. Ida Kniffler, of Milwaukee, was waiting for him with a basket of sandwiches when he arrived at 4:22 p. m., just twelve minutes behind his schedule, after having left New London, Conn., in June, 1928.

"Albert," his grandmother said, "I've never known you to be so late. where have you been?"

And this, while on the way to a bath, was the story Robinson told:

Fifteen days out from India, the mariner landed at Makalla at the end of the Mohammedan Feast of Ramadan. There he saw charging mobs with silver scimitars being stopped by the sultan's guards just before death blows were about to be struck.

The sultan gave the Boston boy 150 rupees "in order to cement cordial relations with the United States."

Robinson twice was captured by pirates in Arabian ports.

He sailed up the Sepik River in New Guinea 300 miles in order to see cannibals and friendly tribes of headhunters who were forced to get a head a day in order to retain their tribal status.

"These people," he said, "only twice before were visited by whites. They sleep in air-tight baskets along with the family pigs and chickens. They believe that a special magic enables them to breathe.

"From there we went to Komodo Island, where 14-foot dragon lizards eat pigs for breakfast.

Arlington County Leads in Families

Homes Also Head List of Radio Owners in Virginia.

Arlington County, according to a bulletin issued by the United States Department of Commerce, leads all of the 100 counties and the cities of the State in increase in the number of families during the last ten years. The bulletin further shows that Arlington County has a larger percentage of families owning radio sets.

During the past ten years the number of families in Arlington County has increased from 3,417 to 6,500. In Alexandria, the increase was from 3,890 to 5,876; Prince William County, 2,693 to 2,903; Fairfax County, 4,590 to 5,621, and Loudoun County from 4,451 to 4,621. The report shows that 57.3 per cent of the families residing in Arlington County have radio sets.

The total number of families in Arlington County owning radio sets is 3,721; Fairfax County, 1,971; Prince William County, 655; Loudoun County, 890, and Alexandria City, 2,736. The City of Richmond, showing a total of 44,929 families, the largest number in the State, has but a total of 15,168, or 33.8 per cent, who own a radio set.

Convention Delegates Named by Legion Post

Delegates and alternates to the annual convention of the District of Columbia Department of the American Legion were elected by the Cooley-McCullough Post, No. 22, at a meeting held last night in the quarters of the Board of Trade.

Official delegates are John B. Keller, post commander, and Norman B. Landreau, post finance officer, and the alternates are James Pierce and James E. Chinn, post adjutant. The annual convention of the local legion department is to be held next week at the Buchanan School, on D street between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets southeast.

Robbery Series Believed Solved

Three Youths Are Arrested and Charged With Housebreaking.

Numerous robberies which have occurred since last March and resulted in the loss of $271 in cash and merchandise were believed solved last night when charges of housebreaking, petty larceny and grand larceny were placed against three colored boys. The ringleader, according to police, is 12 years old. His two subordinates are 10.

The prisoners, all sent to the Receiving Home, are John Holbrook and Lawrence Cowan, the 10-year-olds, and John Gordon, their alleged leader. All live in Defrees street northwest.

Young Cowan was arrested first and gave information which led to the apprehension of the other two. The case was investigated by Detectives W. L. Grooms and W. R. Laflin and Private J. F. Gowan.

Board May Hear Virginia Rail Plea

Nearby Counties Forming Drive for Retention of Tracks.

Earl V. Fisher, executive secretary of the Public Utilities Commission, yesterday wrote to J. William May, vice president of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, that the commission would be glad to hear a committee of nearby Virginia representatives on a plea to provide a new terminal for the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway.

A joint committee from Alexandria and Arlington and Fairfax Counties is being formed, the commission was informed, to make another fight for retention of the line. Negotiations are still under way between the Treasury Department and R. L. May, owner of the railway, for abandonment of the tracks in the District.

Police Help Is Asked To Find Missing Man

The assistance of police was asked last night in the hunt for Charles Roger Bennett, Danville, Va., tobacco expert, who came to Washington early in July on business. The report was made by George P. Grove, Capital real estate man and cousin of Mr. Bennett, after learning that the Virginian's family had had no word from him.

Mr. Bennett was described as being 36 years old, medium in height and build, with blue eyes and light hair. He is a graduate of Washington and Lee University and the University of Richmond. His father is said to be a prosperous Danville farmer. The missing man was employed by a Newport News company and it is believed he came to Washington to confer with the Farm Board. Mr. Grove lives at 120 Kennedy street northwest.

MINE BOMB WRECKS BUNKHOUSE; 6 HURT

Fresh Riot Threat Quelled When Senator Davis Starts Address.

Pittsburgh, July 23 (U.P.).—A bunkhouse at the Butler Coal Co.'s Wildwood Mine was wrecked by a bomb today while six men were asleep inside.

One miner, John Sinoch, 40, was seriously hurt and the others were slightly injured. All six of the men had been on strike but returned to work two weeks ago.

Scranton, Pa., July 23 (U.P.).—The biennial convention of District No. 1, United Mine Workers of America, which has been adjourned three times because of free-for-all fighting among the delegates, threatened again today to burst into a riot.

The disturbance, which arose as Senator James J. Davis was preparing, to deliver an address, was quelled by State police, who stopped a mad rush of some twenty fist-shaking men toward the platform.

Up to the time of the senator's address today's session had been moderately peaceful, but just before he was scheduled to take the platform another argument developed on the question of seating delegates.

Immediately more than a hundred delegates leaped from their seats. Many of them took off their coats and prepared to rush the platform.

President Boylan seized his gavel, the weapon he used on the heads of dissenters who tried to attack him several days ago, but the charge did not reach him. Policemen crowded into the aisles and hustled the disgruntled miners back to their seats.

Petition Asks Sale Of Bryan Holdings

Step Is Taken to Convert Remaining Assets Into Cash.

Miami, Fla., July 23 (A.P.).—A petition for authority to sell real estate holdings of the late William Jennings Bryan in order to convert remaining assets into cash was filed in Probate Court here today by attorneys for W. J. Bryan, jr., Beverly Hills, Calif., and Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, Miami, executors of the estate.

Judge W. F. Blanton issued a citation to all heirs returnable September 7 to show cause why the petition should not be granted.

W. E. Walsh, attorney who filed the petition, said that while it apparently was the desire of Mr. Bryan that the property be sold there was no authority in the will for his executors to sell and they, therefore, were unable to transfer title.

Business Folk Take Hop In Private Dirigible

Washington officials of the Hecht and Enna Jettick companies took a flight yesterday in the dirigible Enna Jettick, which reached Washington Hoover Airport yesterday on a Nation-wide tour. The ship is the first privately owned commercial lighter-than-air craft.

C. B. Dulcan, vice president of the Hecht Co.; Harry Ulman, divisional merchandise manager; James Rotto, sales and publicity director, and Jack Rosenberg, shoe buyer, were guests on the flight yesterday.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

It's delightfully becoming and slimming too, including a new skirt cut that diminishes hip bulk.

And don't you love the softened effect of the cowl draped bodice? Quite deeply cut, completed with a vestee, it detracts from breadth. The flounced trimmed sleeves are interesting.

Style No. 308 may be had in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust. The 36-inch size requires 3½ yards of 39-inch material with ¾ yard of 39-inch contrasting and ¼ yard of 15-inch lace.

Crepe silk, voile prints, chiffon prints and batiste prints also suitable.

Price of pattern 15 cents. Address Fashion Department, The Washington Post, Fifth avenue and Twenty-ninth street, New York City.

2 CAB FIRMS DROP RATE TO 15 CENTS WHILE WAR RAGES

City Cab and Broadmoor Taxi Have Lowest Fares in Capital.

THREE OTHER COMPANIES AFFIX TOLL OF 20 CENTS

Public Utilities Body Does Not Give Indication of Its Action.

Riding in taxicabs, once considered an extravagance available only to millionaires, honeymoon couples and salesmen on expense accounts, will take its place alongside the milk and morning paper on the Washington family budget this morning, a convenience within the reach of almost every one who earns a salary.

Two taxicab companies have reduced their rates for the city proper to 15 cents; three to 20 cents, the third having joined the ranks last night and one to 25 cents, leaving a few "free lance" companies debating what step to take next and the Black and White and Yellow Cab Co. the only one operating on a meter system.

Right-Away Acts.

The last company to announce a reduction yesterday was the Right-Away Cab Co. J. W. Whitten, its manager, said the new rates would be 20 cents for the downtown zone and 40 and 60 cents for the zones outside of the downtown taxicab boundary. This company, he said, has 50 machines operating, driven by colored drivers.

The two companies, whose 15-cent minimum rate went into effect at midnight last night, are the City Cab Co., operating 275 cabs and the Broadmoor Taxi Co., with a fleet of 52 cabs. Rates of these two companies outside the city proper will be 35 cents for the first zone and 55 cents for the second, which includes the suburban area.

Others Charge 20 Cents.

The two other companies which will operate on a 20-cent minimum rate are the Diamond and Pro-Tex-U companies. Rates for the first and second zones will be 40 and 60 cents.

The Bell Cab Co., instigator of the taxicab price-cutting war, is the only one in the 25-cent field. Rates for second and third zones are 50 and 75 cents. The Bell company made the first cut last week from the standard 35-cent charge.

Through the reduction, the street car companies are expected to suffer severe competition, as persons residing in the city proper boundary, which covers a huge area of apartment house territory, will be able to ride to work for 3 cents, five persons riding in one cab for 15 cents, thus saving 14 cents a day for the round trip to and from work by street car.

No Indication of Move.

The Public Utilities Commission received notice of the new rates yesterday afternoon. No indication was given by the commission of what action it contemplated, if any, but the opinion prevailed among other District authorities that the commission favors a return of the meter cabs and is merely awaiting an opportunity to restore this system throughout the city.

An official of the Pro-Tex-U Co. viewed the cut-rate war as a great boon to unemployment relief. The reductions, he said, have resulted in greatly stimulated business; his company, he added, found it necessary yesterday to buy 20 new cabs. He said that where drivers were formerly making $5 a day they are now accumulating between $9 and $11.

RAEDY'S PROMOTION GIVEN APPROVAL BY HEADS OF DISTRICT

Will Succeed Dent as Police Captain When Former Is Retired August 1.

TO ASSUME COMMAND AT 13TH PRECINCT

Other Shifts Likely; Miller to Become Lieutenant and Umbaugh Sergeant.

Lieut. Michael L. Raedy will be promoted to captain to take the place of Capt. Frank M. Dent, of the Eleventh Precinct, who retires August 1 because of the new ruling in the department which makes retirement compulsory at the age of 64.

The recommendation of Maj. Henry G. Pratt that he be elevated has been approved by the District Commissioners. The promotion of Lieut. Raedy to a captaincy will likely result in a shifting of at least three captains in the various precincts. Instead of going to the Eleventh Precinct, where the vacancy will exist, Capt. Raedy will probably be sent to the Thirteenth Precinct.

Sergt. A. E. Miller, of the Second Precinct, will be promoted to lieutenant and will be assigned to duty at police headquarters as aid to Capt. L. I. H. Edwards, head of the bureau of statistics. He will take the place of Lieut. J. M. Roper, who is slated for a shift to the Twelfth Precinct. Patrolman I. H. Umbaugh will be promoted to a sergeancy.

Was Appointed in 1896.

Lieut. Raedy was appointed to the department on July 4, 1898, and was assigned to duty at the Third Precinct. In the next fifteen years he served at the Second, Ninth, Fifth and Eleventh Precincts and was elevated to sergeant in 1909.

In September, 1920, he was made a lieutenant and assigned to the Eleventh Precinct. Later he was transferred to the Second Precinct. After serving seven years there he was shifted last year to the Thirteenth Precinct. He will retire next year, when he will have reached the age of 64.

Capt. Dent was appointed to the department in 1897 and served for 26 years as a mounted policeman. In 1917 he was made a sergeant and in 1923 he was dismounted. Five years later he was made a night inspector. In 1929 he was made a lieutenant and was transferred from the Eleventh Precinct to the Fourth Precinct.

Made Captain This Month.

Less than a year later he was shifted back to the Eleventh Precinct, where most of his police career was spent. On July 1 of this year he was made a captain. Capt. Dent has served as a precinct commander less than a month.

In his service with the department he has been commended 17 times for meritorious work, the most recent of which was a commendation for his aid in the solution of the holdup and murder of James H. Lane, a street car conductor, and the arrest of the perpetrators.

Sergt. Miller was appointed to the department in 1919.

WARRANTLESS RAID QUARTET CLEARED

Practice Judicially Approved, but Jury Finds Men Not Guilty.

Despite three judicial indorsements of the legality of warrantless raids, Police Court juries refused yesterday to convict four men arrested in gambling raids without warrants.

Two juries in one day returned verdicts exonerating gambling suspects arrested in this manner. These blows, dealt in rapid succession, made it problematical whether charges against a dozen more persons taken in warrantless raids of two months ago will be pushed.

Yesterday's verdicts of "not guilty" followed a formal opinion by Judge John P. McMahon Wednesday that police are justified in entering places equipped with reinforced doors with peep-holes in them, provided they have made a legal approach.

After Judge Ralph Given had directed a verdict of "not guilty" for Louis Palumbo, charged jointly with William Baroni, taken in a raid on 408 Ninth street northwest, a Police Court jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" for Baroni as well.

Meanwhile a jury in Judge McMahon's court cleared Steve J. Nichols and Thomas Simon, both arrested in a warrantless raid at 915 Ninth street northwest in May. Simon yesterday admitted he had operated a gaming establishment. The decision came in the face of Judge McMahon's ruling of the day before.

In directing a verdict of "not guilty" for Palumbo, Judge Given pointed out that police had shown insufficient proof that Palumbo had anything to do with the establishment at 408 Ninth street.

On the theory that it would be a hopeless task to attempt to secure convictions in the other cases, in view of today's verdicts, Assistant United States Attorney Wilbert McInerney and Frank Adams were reported in conference with United States Attorney Leo Rover. There is the possibility that all other cases of similar character may be nolle-prossed.

Mother and Daughter Hurt as Auto Hits Car

A Richmond, Va., woman and her 13-year-old daughter were injured, the latter seriously, yesterday afternoon when the auto in which they were riding collided with a street car at Fourteenth and G streets northwest. Mrs. Josie Rainey, 43, was driving the machine, accompanied by her daughter, Alberta.

Both were removed to Emergency Hospital, the mother with minor lacerations and Alberta with a possible skull fracture and lacerations of the scalp. While in Washington they had been stopping at 2924 Twelfth street northeast. Police reported that Fred W. Ricketts, 1317 East Capitol street, was motorman of the street car.

Incendiary Sought In I Street Fire

Newspapers Are Found in Flames in Vacant Dwelling.

Fire and police authorities are investigating a fire of incendiary origin which yesterday broke out on two floors of a vacant house at 911 I street northwest.

Newspapers were found on fire on the second and third floors of the building. The blaze was extinguished before serious damage was done. A colored man was seen to leave the house shortly before the fire was discovered.

Salt-Water Pool To Open Tomorrow

Swimming for 3,000 Will Be Provided at Highway Bridge.

With adequate accommodations for 3,000 persons Washington's only salt-water swimming pool, and one of the largest of its kind in the country, will open to the public at the south end of Highway Bridge tomorrow afternoon at 2:45 o'clock.

To be known as the Airport Swimming Pool, the huge tank has a capacity of 800,000 gallons of water. Through a series of filtration machines, fresh water will be pumped into the pool every six hours. For those who wish a coat of sunburn without getting wet, a white sand beach, covering 20,000 square feet, is available. By a special salting process, local bathers may now enjoy the equivalent of ocean water only a short distance from their homes.

A chartered Ludington Line airplane will leave Washington Airport Saturday morning, and flying over nearby Virginia towns, will drop several hundred tickets entitling each finder to a free swim on the opening day. A group of dancers appearing at a local theater, will be one of the feature attractions when the pool opens.

Liquor Charge Alleges Five Quarts of Whisky

Joseph Andrews, 21, 505 F street northeast, was booked at the Thirteenth Precinct police station last night on a charge of illegal possession of 5 quarts of whisky. He was arrested by F. J. Nay, of the prohibition unit, and R. J. Felber, policeman attached to the district attorney's office.

The prisoner was released under $500 bond less than an hour after being charged. He was taken in custody at 620 L street southeast.

Escaped Prisoner Trio From Hospital Sought

Police are on the lookout for three prisoners who escaped last night from the guardhouse at Walter Reed Hospital. Their absence was discovered at 9:30 o'clock and reported immediately to the Thirteenth Precinct station. The men are said to have been seen afterward walking toward Silver Spring, Md.

George Washington's Role In Pageant Awaits Double

Advertisement Will Call for Man Not Only Physically, But in Every Way Like First President, to Aid Bicentennial.

Take a look in the mirror.

Do you think you resemble George Washington? You think so? Fine. You may! But—

Have you a knowledge of surveying? Do you understand farming? Could you take a hand in directing a revolution? Can you chop down the cherry tree next door with a little hatchet and then, when the indignant neighbor appears with a policeman, readily admit that you did it? Can you throw a silver dollar across the Potomac?

Remember that the Father of Your Country was accomplished in all these things—and more—and if you want to play the role of the First President in a great pageant being planned for next June by the District of Columbia George Washington Bicentennial Commission you must be a duplicate of Washington in every way.

This is the desire of the bicentennial commission. If a man is found who comes up to every qualification, except being able to throw the silver dollar across the Potomac, the commission may overlook the shortcoming and accept him. But it is stipulated in advertisements, to be distributed by the commission throughout the country, that the applicant must have a knowledge of surveying, understand farming and, in case of emergency, be able to take a hand in a revolution.

Do you think you can fit the bill? It is The Post's prediction that the commission will be stormed not with mere hundreds of applications but hundreds of thousands. Who wouldn't want to play the part of George Washington? Can you remember when you said you'd give anything to be President, leave alone the first President?

50 Indictments Returned By District Grand Jurymen

Fifty indictments were returned yesterday by the District grand jury in one of the heaviest dockets reported this season. It was the first report made by the body in two weeks.

The indictments included one for first-degree murder, another for manslaughter, 25 for violation of the national prohibition act, 10 for housebreaking and larceny, 8 for joyriding, 6 for robbery, 5 for assault with a dangerous weapon, 2 for assault with intent to kill and 4 for grand larceny.

Indictments for assault with intent to kill were returned against Leonard Checcia and Walter Jones, and for assault with a dangerous weapon against Checcia, Jones, Perry Duckett, John Patterson, Mildred Duckett, John Peterson, Mildred Davis, David Leroy Russell and Hazel M. Chinn were indicted on charges of performing a criminal operation.

Indictments for housebreaking and larceny were returned against Ernest Howard Barefoot, Edward Haley, William Reed, Grace Moragne, Harry Clay Exum, Dolly Strothers, Eugene Humphries and Samuel Ross.

Joyriding was charged to Cree B. Johnson, Ernest Nelson, John Harris, John T. Beeaks, Albert H. Withers, Robert T. Withers, James E. Brown, Henry Robins, George Sheffey, James C. Ellis, George Smith, Clement Jackson, Morris Samuel Valentine and Ralph H. Kirby. Smith, Kirby and Jackson were also charged with grand larceny, as were Cree B. Johnson and William L. Joynes.

Indicted for robbery were Corliss E. Bowen, Charles Wood, Lee Robinson, Lawrence C. Newman, James Henry Pleasant, Joseph Jackson and Isiah Hood. Max Miller, in an indictment, was charged with false pretenses; Ralph E. MacMichael, with embezzlement, and Walter Franklin, with embezzlement and larceny after trust.

Sightseeing Driver Indicted in Attack

Harry C. Robertson Accused of Assaulting Girl Hunting Job.

Harry C. Robertson, driver of a sightseeing car, yesterday was indicted by the grand jury on charges of criminally assaulting an 18-year-old Pennsylvania girl, who came here last week to look for a job.

The girl, whose only local relative is a soldier stationed at an Army post near Washington, said on the night of the alleged attack she was accosted by a cab driver, who asked her if she wanted to take a tour. She said she told him she could not afford it.

He engaged her in conversation afterward, she said, and when he had promised to help her find a job she agreed to go to a theater with him. Leaving the theater, instead of driving her to her hotel, he drove to a thicket, where the alleged attack occurred, she testified. Police later arrested Robertson, and the girl identified him.

Engineer Is Stricken Ill.

Reginald M. Bowman, 40 years old, of Baltimore, employed as an extra engineer at the Pullman yards at Fifth and T streets northeast, was stricken ill yesterday at his place of employment. Taken to Casualty Hospital, his condition is undetermined.

90-Foot Dive Into Potomac Made by Instructor Woods

Falling two feet for each year that has elapsed since Steve Brodie put a new word into circulation with his jump off Brooklyn Bridge, Ray Woods, 25-year-old physical training instructor, yesterday stepped off Key Bridge for a 90-foot back jackknife dive into the Potomac.

That was his way of commemorating that day in 1886 when the picturesque Brodie deserted Brooklyn Bridge for the distant waters of the East River, via the perpendicular. Or did he? There are those skeptics who maintain it was a dummy that took the plunge.

Getting back to Mr. Woods, ardent disciple of the New Yorker, he eluded police and jumped in on a given signal by his wife who stood below on the sidewalk to make sure the road, or water, was clear.

His experience threw his right thumb out of joint and knocked the wind out of his chest, Mr. Woods said. This, however, is the usual thing in such dives, added the instructor, who claims to have made a 175-foot dive, the longest on record.

INDICTMENT NAMES 23 IN LIQUOR PLOT

2 Women Called Members of Alleged Ring Raided by Sergt. Little.

Members of an alleged liquor ring, comprising 23 operatives, two of them women, were indicted by the District grand jury yesterday for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law.

The accused persons, a number of them already arrested and at liberty under bonds, are charged with conspiring to commit 300 offenses against the Government between June 1, 1930, and July 1, 1931, through manufacture, sale, transporting and possession of alleged liquor.

The women indicted were Helen Zimberg and Antenetta Pellicano. The following men were accused: Harry Zimberg, Abraham Zimberg, Joseph Zimberg, Adolph R. Moder, Frederick Sparaso, Charles E. Mills, John Giovinazzo, Maurice Chitiwalt, Thomas M. Crane, Nick Macchiarella, Rocco Pellicano, Frank Maida, Michael Spinell, Angello Schiottoriggio, Malcolm S. McGehee, Arthur D. Daniel, jr., Bruno Cristarello, Domenic J. Musolino, Joseph Amato, James Caparotto and James Richard Posey.

The indictment set forth seventeen alleged overt acts alleged to have been committed by the accused persons in carrying out the conspiracy. The first was said to have taken place December of last year, when 30 gallons of liquor were alleged to have been transported to the home of the Zimbergs, 1616 East Capitol street. It was charged that the last overt act took place July 1, 1931, when, it is alleged, James R. Posey had 525 bottles of alleged liquor in his possession at 620 L street southeast.

A separate indictment was returned against Adolph R. Moder and Arthur D. Daniel, jr., who, it was charged, had a quantity of sugar, dried peaches, fruit jars, liquor testers and other equipment in their possession on June 16. Sale and possession of alleged intoxicants is charged in two other counts.

Frederick Sparaso and Bruno Cristarello, two of the alleged conspirators, were separately indicted for alleged manufacture and possession of liquor May 30.

An indictment against Leon Lynn charges he transported a quantity of corn liquor July 3, and had it in his possession when arrested. Transportation and possession of intoxicants was also charged against William E. Terrell, Leonard Winston and Samuel Sullivan, all colored.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

AS IT SEEMS TO EVERY GOLFER THIS YEAR.

ONCE I drove straight and plenty
—Never a hook or slice;
Often I got two-twenty;
Sweet was my game, and nice.
Straight down the fairway, ever
Swift with a bullet's force;
All that I did was clever—
With the Old Ball, of course!

Distance and speed I boasted—
Always the ball went true;
Playing a match I coasted
Just as the champeens do.
Trouble? I never knew it
Nowhere from tee to green;
Par? Why, I always slew it—
With the Old Ball, I mean!

Great was my brassie shooting,
Wizard was I with spoon;
Mashie? Ah, now you're tooting—
It was my joy and boon;
Iron clubs did my bidding,
Slaves to my beck and call;
I was the goods, no kidding—
Playing the OTHER BALL.

Niblick? Say, boy, you're shouting—
It was my magic club;
Dead to the pin my clouting
Awed and dismayed the dub;
"Birdies"—I found quite boresome,
"Eagles" I oft saw fail;
I was a one-man foursome—
Playing the old-time ball!

Then, when it came to putting,
I was the golf club's pride:
When my score needed cutting,
I sank 'em far and wide;
I had a touch uncanny—
Gee, but my game was stout!
Few were my faults, if any—
Till the Old Ball went out!

I was a bear on timing;
Rhythm I had to spare;
Seldom my score went climbing
When I was feeling fair.
Getting a hole in one was Never a treat to me;
Bettering par my fun was—
With the Old Ball, you see!

Four to a hole was all I
Took in my summer form,
Hitting a perfect ball I
Took every match by storm;
Fine were my shots and clever
Summer and spring and fall;
Those days are gone forever—
NOW THAT THEY'VE CHANGED THE BALL!

THE Cartoon of the Month—G. B. Inwood's picture in Life, with mountainer wife, getting her husband reluctantly dressed for a social event, exclaiming, "I don't see why you're so sot again formal parties—you're a knockout with your shoes on!"

THREE SAYINGS.
I DO NOT LIKE,
NO, NOT A BIT,
THOSE FOLK THAT SAY
"I'M HARD TO FIT."

OH, MAY THE RICKETS
ALL THOSE SEIZE WHO SAY, "I FEEL A LITTLE BREEZE."

AND SHIELD ME WEDNESDAY,
TUESDAY AND MONDAY,
FROM OAFS WHO SAYS
"IT SEEMS LIKE SUNDAY."
—OPHASIA.

MR. JOHN McGRAW, of the Giants, has been suspended for using abusive language to an umpire, and baseball seems like baseball once again.

AMBITION.
I love you more than the gilder his gilding,
And more than the dove his dove,
And more than all the people in the Woolworth Building
Love all the people they love.
—Peggy Bacon, in "Animosities."

* * * *

Such love I consider the coolest of capers—
It leaves me quite chilly and blue—
I wanna be loved like all the people in the Empire State and Chrysler skayscrapers
Love all the people they do.

Shooting in Auto Held Accidental

Nelson Harrison Exonerated of Manslaughter After Visit to Speakeasies.

The shooting of Charles T. Brandenburg on July 10, while he was riding in an automobile with two companions on an alleged "round of speakeasies" was accidental, the District grand jury found yesterday.

Nelson Harrison, 35 years old, was exonerated of manslaughter charges in connection with the death. He was said to have told police he had a pistol in his possession while driving with Brandenburg and a third party.

The gun, which he is said to have taken from a cab driver who befriended him, was in Harrison's hands, and he was examining it, when it accidentally exploded.

ONE-YEAR SENTENCE GIVEN FOR PERJURY

Former Washington Man Pleads Guilty to Having Made False Affidavit.

One year in the penitentiary was the sentence imposed yesterday upon Walter C. Gardner, formerly of Washington, who pleaded guilty in Alexandria Corporation Court to an indictment charging perjury in an affidavit given by him last fall in connection with divorce proceedings instituted by him.

Gardner admitted that he perjured himself in his declarations that he had lived in Alexandria for the legal period of one year, that his wife had deserted him and that she was a resident of the Annapolis Hotel in this city.

Judge William P. Woolls gave him the minimum sentence because Gardner waived extradition from Florida, where he was staying, and came to Alexandria voluntarily to stand trial.

Relatives of Gardner's wife, who live in Pennsylvania, came to Alexandria last month and testified to a grand jury that Gardner's affidavits were false.

$20 Slogan Prize Waits Claimant at Job Bureau

Twenty dollars in gold is lying idle at headquarters of the District Committee on Employment because H. C. Martin has not yet discovered he was winner of a recent slogan contest.

If the prize is not claimed within a few days, George J. Adams, jr., executive secretary, donor, will turn it over to the Faith Fund, for use of unemployed.

Although Mr. Martin's slogan, "Work for Prosperity," was selected from several score of contributions, he failed to give his address.

Cab Driver Is Indicted In Death of Motorist

Indictment for manslaughter was returned against Leonard Gray, colored taxicab driver, by the District grand jury yesterday. Gray was charged with the death of James Suddarth, who died July 6, the day after he was allegedly struck by Gray's cab.

Two Colored Bandits Rob Store, Hold Up Man

Two colored youths held up and robbed Samuel Pinkelstein of $30 in his grocery store at 803 Fourth street southeast last night.

Herbert Ashton Clinedinst, of 419 B street northeast, early this morning told police that he was held up at the point of a gun by two colored men, who, after searching his pockets, robbed him of $32.

BOAT MAN, SLAYER OF GIRL, INDICTED

Suitor, 70, Is Charged With Murder of Child, 14, Two Weeks Ago.

An indictment for first degree murder was returned by the grand jury yesterday against William Owens, 70-year-old tugboat captain, who fatally shot 14-year-old Elsie Louise Bryant after she was reported to have rejected his attentions at the home of her sister two weeks ago.

The sister, Mrs. Viola Gertrude Campbell, was shot three times by Owens, but recovered from her wounds. The 14-year-old girl, Elsie, succumbed at Emergency Hospital a few days later. Five shots took effect in her body.

Owens' wife accompanied the tugboat captain to the Campbell home, at 456 M street southwest, on July 8, the day of he shooting. Some time prior he had engaged the Bryant girl to drive his automobile for him, and ostensibly he went there to persuade her again to enter his employ.

Witnesses said that Owens offered the girl money, but when she rejected his request for a last kiss, saying he was "too old for her," drew a gun and opened fire.

Police said Owens shot the Bryant girl twice, turned the gun on her sister when she came to her aid, then reloaded and fired three more shots into the body of Elsie. The jury was told that Owens' wife had warned the girl against going with her husband.

Woman Absolved On Assault Count

Exonerated After Shooting of Escort With Gun of Policeman.

Mrs. Tillie Belle Wilson, 23, of 500 Third street northwest, yesterday was exonerated by the grand jury of assault charges growing out of the shooting of her escort, Leonard Hoffman, with the pistol of Policeman Charles B. Kimball, of the Twelfth Precinct, during a scuffle, May 29.

Testimony alleged that Hoffman's car, being operated by Mrs. Wilson, was stopped on speeding charges by Policeman Kimball and a companion. There was an argument as to whether Mrs. Wilson should be given a ticket. Then Kimball's companion drove off after another machine.

Mrs. Wilson, alleged to have been drinking, is said to have grabbed the policeman's pistol after it fell to the ground during the dispute. The gun was fired, the shot hitting Hoffman. Removed to a hospital, he was found not seriously injured, and afterward absolved Mrs. Wilson from blame in the affair.

Lost 3-Year-Old Is Quickly Located

An appeal was received at police headquarters last night from the police of North Beach to locate the parents of a 3-year-old girl named Mary Booth, who was found wandering at the resort late yesterday.

Police located the girl's father, Homer T. Booth, of 104 Underwood street west, Chevy Chase, Md., who had just been informed that the girl's mother had found the child in the North Beach police station.

Baby Badly Scalded By Upset Coffeepot

With the right side of her face and body badly scalded, 1-year-old Gloria Roberts lay in Casualty Hospital last night in a serious condition. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Flournoy C. Roberts, who live at 818 C street northeast.

Man Lodged in Workhouse Wants Natty Attire, Cane

Early in May a nattily clad young man, jauntily twirling a malacca walking stick, was haled into police headquarters by detectives of the check squad and booked on charges of passing fraudulent checks laid by several F street merchants.

Yesterday a letter was received at the Detective Bureau from the young man, who is now serving a 90-day sentence at Occoquan workhouse. He indicated that he is looking forward to that rosy day in early August when he may exchange the denim prison garb for that of the well-dressed man of affairs.

His communication ended with a request that his malacca cane, which he inadvertently left behind in the Detective Bureau offices, be sent to him against the day when it may again form a fitting part of his sartorial ensemble.

The request was made by Jesse Cunningham Stilly, 28, listed as from Denver, Colo. He was arrested on May 7, his sentence following a few days afterward in Police Court.
